New Dealers Praise His Messages.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 10.—[Special.]—The atmosphere of official Washington is surcharged this week-end with the exultation of the New Dealers over President Roosevelt's two messages to congress last week.

Everywhere you go you hear the President extolled for two master strokes in ushering in the second quadrennium of the New Deal. There have been several little celebrations at the White House to which there is an endless procession of the New Deal higher ups to congratulate Mr. Roosevelt on his political astuteness.

Point to Shrewdness.

They marvel at the shrewdness with which the President seized the political initiative in his annual message admonishing the Supreme court to construe the constitution more favorably to New Deal legislation. The receipt of several hundred laudatory telegrams at the White House confirm their belief that the President, in striking boldly at the court for its invalidation of New Deal institution, reflects the views and desires of the overwhelming majority of the American people that returned him to power.

They foresee a great popular triumph for the President in his war with the court; for, even if the tribunal should prove recalcitrant, they are confident that in view of the advanced age of several justices natural causes will produce vacancies in the next four years the filling of which with New Dealers will reverse the attitude of the body.

Assume Congress Support.

Moreover, the New Dealers believe that if the President should desire to force immediate relief from the Supreme court's veto he would have the overwhelming support of congress and the country in putting through legislation depriving the judicial branch of the power to invalidate acts of congress as was done in the case of certain reconstruction legislation in the late '60s.

The real showdown between the President and the court will not occur until the decision of the case involving the Wagner labor disputes act which will be argued next month. If the court validates this New Deal for the regulation of relations between capital and labor the President will be acclaimed the victor and the way will be opened to a vast extension of federal power over industry, agriculture, commerce, and labor. If the court holds the act unconstitutional the issue between the executive and the court will be definitly joined and the next move will be up to Mr. Roosevelt.

Close Watch on Decisions.

In the meantime every decision of the court will be scanned for hints of reaction to the President's challenge.

There is no end of discussion of the implications of the President's plea for the same "coöperation" with the executive by the judiciary as has been accorded by the congress he dominates by political power. Critics of the President have been quick to assert that he contends for the unfettered will of congress, the recognition of which by the judiciary would be tantamount to the scrapping of the written constitution and the substitution of a parliamentary form of government such as obtains in Great Britain.

AAA Decision Example.

The issue between the President and the court, it is pointed out, was defined a year ago by the majority of the tribunal in the decision invalidating the AAA.

"It is sometimes said that the court assumes a power to overrule or control the actions of the people's representatives," said the opinion.

"This is a misconception. The constitution is the supreme law of the land ordained and established by the people. All legislation must conform to the principles it lays down. When an act of congress is appropriately challenged in the courts as not conforming to the constitutional mandate the judicial branch of the government has only one duty—to lay the article of the constitution which is invoked beside the statute which is challenged and to decide whether the latter squares with the former."

MURPHY WALKS OUT OF DETROIT STRIKE PICTURE

Leaves Mediation Up to U. S.

BY WILLIAM O'NEIL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 10.—[Special.]—Gov. Frank Murphy apparently washed his hands today of all efforts to settle the strike which has tied up the huge General Motors corporation. The governor announced that he would return to Lansing in the morning, after a week spent in attempting to arrange a conference between company and union representatives.

James Dewey, federal conciliation commissioner from Washington, abandoned plans to leave for New York tonight after lunching with the governor. Murphy asked Dewey to remain here.

Immediately after the luncheon, Dewey went to his room in a downtown hotel and talked by telephone to Washington. His conversation with an unidentified official in the capitol gave rise to the belief that Murphy had thrown the whole problem in the lap of the national government.

Neither Murphy nor Dewey would comment.

Only Function Is Mediator.

"I never have attempted to enter into decisions in regard to the settlement of the strike," Murphy said. "My only function has been an attempt to bring the two sides together for discussion of the issues involved."

It is believed here that Murphy will hold himself in readiness to answer a call from either side, but that he will not take an active hand again until called. The possibility exists, however, that he may exercise his official position to make demands upon one or both sides for a settlement.

A third "side" served notice on the governor this afternoon that they wished to be considered a party to any negotiations looking to reopening of the plants. Committees which claimed to represent a majority of the workers in the Chevrolet gear and axle factory here, and in the Detroit Chevrolet forge plant, told the governor that a minority of the workers were keeping them from their jobs and that the majority wanted to go back to work immediately.

Asks Labor Plebiscite.

The committees asked the governor to hold a state-conducted plebiscite of workers in all General Motors plants to find out whether a majority of the men favored the United Automobile Workers of America as their labor representative in dealing with the corporation.

The request for state conduct of a plebiscite was made, the committees said, to nullify coercion on the part of either the corporation or the union.

Gov. Murphy revealed today that he had instructed Dr. William S. Haber, head of the state emergency relief bureau, "to give relief on the basis of need," regardless of the strike.

May Be Turning Point.

With Homer Martin, president of the U. A. W., refusing to reveal the financial ability of the union to carry on relief work among the strikers, Murphy's order may be the turning point that will give the union new strength.

Orders were issued to pickets to report for duty at the Meldrum avenue plant of the Briggs Manufacturing company at 6 o'clock tomorrow morning. The shut-down of the Briggs plant by sit-down strikers last Thursday forced the closing of the Lincoln plant for lack of bodies the next day.

No efforts to reopen the Briggs plant have been made since the sit-downers were ejected on the evening of the strike, but union officials said their action was designed to insure the continued shut-down of the plant.

"Sit-Downers" Hold Key.

Peace negotiations were stalled tonight, temporarily at least, on the issue of plant evacuation by union members.

Only the conditions upon which the United Automobile Workers of America would withdraw its "sit down strikers in five General Motors plants apparently stood in the way of a joint conference between the two sides to the controversy. The union expressed willingness to withdraw the men, but stipulated guarantees "in writing" which General Motors declined as placing it in the position of condon-

Dislikes Piano Music; Shoots Player Dead

The pianist played on. No one would guess that he used to earn $15,000 a year. He was glad, now, to have an all night job in the Monte Carlo café at 2370 Clybourn avenue, glad that the customer offered to buy him a drink as closing time approached yesterday morning.

But no smile went with the offer.

"Listen, Buddy." The customer was speaking earnestly, deliberately. "I dont like you—or your music."

And snatching a revolver from the pocket of another man at the bar he shot and killed Francis Parker, who earned $15,000 a year until he was fired as sales manager of a fountain pen company, and was reduced to playing a piano at bars.

Calmly Finishes His Drink.

Calmly the gunman finished his drink. Then he walked slowly out, still carrying the revolver. Others in the café told police later that he was Harold Rambert, 47 years old, of 2465 Clybourn avenue.

The police had not yet arrived when Rambert returned. He walked over to the spot where Parker lay, killed instantly by a bullet through his head, and asked:

"What's happened here?" When some one told him he exclaimed: "Well, ain't that terrible—kill a man when he's having fun."

Detectives Thomas Kelly and Thurman Stearns of the Hudson avenue police seized Rambert when the half dozen men still at the bar told the story of what happened. Rambert, a chauffeur employed by the city bureau of streets, denied the shooting. The weapon could not be found.

Bar Partner Breaks Denial.

For twelve hours Rambert persisted in his denial, until confronted by Walter Spasjavich of 925 Washington street, Gary, who had been drinking at the bar with him. Spasjavich, who fled but was found later, asked:

"Don't you remember that you took the revolver from my pocket and that I warned you it was loaded?"

Police said Rambert looked up as if from a daze and faltered:

"I remember now. I did grab the revolver. But I don't know why I shot him. He wasn't such a bad piano player at that."

Rambert was still in a cell last night.

Brother Tells Story.

Parker, who was 40 years old, lived at 1641 Fullerton avenue. His story was told by a brother, Murray Parker. Five years ago, the brother said, Parker lost his $15,000 a year job because of his drinking. Since then, the brother said, Parker had been working in taverns as a pianist, and as an expert piano tuner, working at that trade, too, when he could find a job.

The tune he was playing when he was shot to death was "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life."

PRESIDENT TO URGE WHOLESALE CHANGES IN EXECUTIVE BUREAUS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 10.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt this week will send to the new congress one of its hardest and, many believe, most disagreeable tasks when he submits recommendations for a wholesale reorganization of the executive branch of the government.

For more than an hour tonight, the President discussed with congressional leaders his ideas of reorganization, but none would comment.

Persistent reports have it that the President may suggest the creation by congress of one or two new cabinet posts, abolition or consolidation of certain existing agencies, permanizing of some of the emergency units and authority for him to carry out a commissions.

What Betty Jean Randolph, 11 years old, wanted most for Christmas was a nice, new doll buggy, and that was exactly what Santa Claus brought her. Betty was pleased. The buggy was a roomy one. She promptly decided that it was not only large enough for her biggest doll, but maybe large enough even for a real live baby.

Thereupon Betty began casting experimental glances at Donald Allen. Donald Allen is her brother. He's only 13 months old.

Yesterday Betty decided that the time for action had come. She carried Donald Allen, who was smiling happily at the slightest prospect of adventure, outside the house, and tucked him neatly into her toy doll buggy. Then she called to her brother, Charles Jr. It was noontime.

Take Baby for a Ride.

Together they started out, each taking turns wheeling Donald Allen. The Randolph home is at 2514 North Monticello avenue. Inside, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Randolph were reading the Sunday papers, blissfully unaware of the departure of their offspring. Mr. Randolph is a painting contractor.

Betty and Charles proceeded south. Then they turned east. Then they turned south again, then east. They kept up this zig-zag course block after block, hour after hour. The sun went down, but still they plodded, south by east, then east by south.

Somewhere along the way Charles detoured or was lost, but Betty kept on. In the buggy, Donald Allen slept peacefully.

Finally Reach Loop.

It was a few minutes of midnight last night when Trafic Policeman Frank A. Monahan, on duty at Randolph and State streets, spied a tired little girl wearily pushing a little buggy. The girl, of course, was Betty. She had trudged nearly eight miles—nearly 12 hours. Policeman Monahan looked inside the buggy.

"Whew!" he exclaimed, "a real live baby."

Betty nodded sharply. Then with arms akimbo, she complained:

"Yes, a real live baby. He's sleeping. He's got a place to sleep. But how about me? I'm sleepy, too."

Monahan put Betty, Donald Allen, and buggy into a taxicab, took them all to the Central station, pausing en route to buy some milk, a nursing bottle, and a nipple. Mr. Randolph was notified. He called for his children this morning. Charles Jr. was, however, still missing.

40 Terrorized After Game by 5 Desperadoes

Five gunmen made a daring raid on the Chicago Stadium, 1800 West Madison street, early today, took possession of the basement and after terrorizing nearly forty employés, escaped with between $3,500 and $4,000.

The money belonged to the Illinois Sportservice, Inc., a refreshments concession concern. The money represented refreshments receipts from the Perry-Vines tennis match Saturday night and the Blackhawk-Toronto Maples hocky match last night. The gate receipts were not imperiled, having been collected by Brinks expressmen from the Stadium office on the first floor some time earlier.

Push Past Watchman.

The holdup was carefully planned and executed with almost faultless precision. However, it was partly made possible by a guileless watchman who later redeemed himself by disregarding his own safety and shouting for the police.

The watchman, Edward Miller, 40 years old, 1924 Roscoe street, was on guard at Gate 6, on the Warren boulevard side. The doors were locked, and only employés of the Stadium or the concessionnaire were within the huge sports building. Shortly after midnight a young man, presentably dressed, rapped at the locked door and asked to be let in. Miller opened the door without demanding credentials. As he did so the man pushed through, drew a revolver, and announced, "This is a stickup."

Four other men, masked, two carrying shotguns and two revolvers, dashed in after their leader. Despite the guns Miller shouted "robbers" at the top of his voice. However, the outlaws ran past him without shooting.

Girls Scream in Terror.

Miller dashed away for help and one of the bandits remained near the door. The others ran down the steps to the basement, and turned to the right, coming to the concessionnaire offices. Inside ten girls and several men were checking book accounts. Joseph G. Grouzarc, manager of service for the concession concern, which is owned by the Jacobs brothers, was in an inner office to the rear.

Two of the gunmen stepped inside. At sight of their guns several of the girls screamed. One fainted. She was Mrs. Mildred Adams, 25 years old, 1745 Warren boulevard. The robbers herded all the employés into Mr. Grouzarc's office, where one remained on guard.

Two other robbers continued down the corridor until they came to the large service room, which is partly wired off and which contains the food distribution counters and the cashier's cage. In the cage, counting handsful of money, was Herbert Herman, 24 years old, 5445 University avenue, the cashier. About twenty other employés were in the room.

The Cashier's Story.

"The first thing I knew," said Herman, "two men, carrying long barreled guns, confronted me, and ordered me to 'stick 'em up.' I tried to duck behind the cage counter, but was ordered out by the men. Just then a third robber [one of the two who had been in Mr. Grouzarc's office] came in, went into the cage, and scooped up the money which he put into what looked like a lady's handbag."

While this was going on one of the three bandits discovered Miss Sara Averitt, 21 years old, 1745 Warren boulevard, an employé, hiding in a linen closet. "Get out there with the men," he ordered, grabbing her by the collar. Meantime the watchman, Miller, who had outwitted them a few minutes earlier, was upstairs calling police. The bandits, thinking they heard a "police siren," got fidgety and fled. They picked up the guard in Mr. Gouzarc's office and another upstairs and escaped in a new Ford sedan.

FEW IN CHURCH, MINISTER SETS FIRE TO BIBLE

New York, Jan. 10.—(AP)—Chagrined, he said, at the paucity of worshippers, the Rev. S. Benney Benson of the Kent Street Reformed church in Brooklyn set fire to a Bible in the pulpit in the middle of tonight's services.

Commenting as he scanned the congregation—about fifty persons—"We apparently have tipped our hats and bowed God out of the door," the Rev. Mr. Benson touched a match to the Bible and dropped the flaming book into a bucket of water which he suddenly produced from under the pulpit. He also ignited a copy of his autobiography, explaining, "My life is bound up with the Bible."

The Rev. Mr. Benson once tramped from Niagara Falls to New York City handing out Bibles to mayors en route.

Report Japs in Spain

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GIBRALTAR, Jan. 10.—British citizens who arrived here today from Cadiz and Jerez de la Frontera, Spain, said that, according to reliable information, 3,000 Japanese volunteers are expected to land there soon to join Italians and Germans under Gen. Francisco Franco, Spanish Fascist leader, for the final offensive on Madrid.

[In Tokio, officials described the Gibraltar report as fantastic and denied any Japanese had gone to Spain.]

Another report said that many Italian air experts are assembling planes and spare parts of Italian origin at Cadiz and Jerez.

The British battleship Queen Elizabeth and the cruiser Sussex arrived at Gibraltar today from Malta. The Queen Elizabeth flew the flag of Admiral Sir Dudley Pound, commander-in-chief of the Mediterranean fleet. The battle cruisers Hood and the Repulse also are here.

PARIS, Jan. 10.—(AP)—France has mapped plans for occupation of Spanish Morocco, circles close to the army general staf declared tonight, if Fascist insurgents refuse to oust quickly Germans reported in the territory.

Full British military support has been promised, these sources asserted, and the British fleet would coöperate in the Strait of Gibraltar.

France's Moroccan armies, 100,000 strong, could occupy most of the Spanish zone within thirty-six hours, it was stated, and British troops might be expected to fill any gaps left in France by departure of additional French soldiers for Morocco.

Plan New Protest.

Any action, it was stressed, would be preceded by a second protest to Gen. Francisco Franco, commander-in-chief of Spain's rebel forces, and a direct representation to Berlin, which has denied a Nazi troop invasion of the Moroccan territory. The Nazis, however, did not mention "volunteers" in their denial.

In a protest last week, France warned Gen. Franco it would not permit incursion of any foreign force which might menace French African possessions.

The new protest, with subsequent military action possible, would be made if the Spanish rebels fail to expel German soldiers now reported in Morocco, authoritative sources said.

Would Act for Sultan.

Any military action, authoritative spokesmen said, would be made by armies as an instrument of the Sultan of French Morocco rather than as French forces.

The sultan would issue a dahir, or decree, calling on the French to act for him in meeting a threat to the integrity of his empire—which France is pledged to protect by treaty.

Such an action by the sultan would necessitate calling up special reserve forces in France, reënforcement of fortifications on the Franco-German frontier, and manning of antiaircraft defenses as a "precautionary" measure while North African operations continued, army sources said. There is, it was emphasized, no question of general mobilization.

Official Circles Pessimistic.

Official circles were pessimistic regarding the chances of favorable action by Gen. Franco. They pointed out he cannot very well tell any Germans to get out of Morocco, because they are believed to have provided essential aid in the drive against Madrid.

"The reich may expect a powerful, energetic thrust from Britain and France if Germany continues madly to play this dangerous game," the Petit Parisien declared.

Reports were that 8,000 German soldiers supposedly en route to Ceuta, Spanish Morocco, had been sent to Rio de Oro, Spanish West African possession, because of French alarm. The newspaper Figaro reported "a group of suspicious looking ships were sighted off the Riff coast."

Undersecretary for Foreign Affairs

François de Tessan, speaking for the government at a Radical Socialist congress in Belfort, issued the new warning of French determination to act against any invasion of the African territory.

Even an indirect attack against French interests would be met with "firm measures," De Tessan said.

"It should be understood abroad any use of force or any imprudent act violating existing conventions, or any indirect attempt against established rights, France will meet with firm measures," he asserted. "France will permit no attempt against its communications or against the interests which it protects."

These interests were declared by De Tessan to include "the integrity of territories protected by our signature." The treaty of 1912 between France and the sultan of Morocco gave France a protectorate over the whole Riffian empire.

Foreign Chief Hurries to Paris.

Foreign Minister Yvon Delbos broke his vacation at Perigueux and rushed to Paris this morning for a conference with foreign office officials. After the meeting he returned to Perigueux.

Answering a British note, the foreign office agreed to introduce legislation in parliament this week to bar French volunteers from Spain—the measure to become effective as soon as a common date is fixed by other nations.

Naval Minister Alphonse Gasnier-du Parc and Vice Admiral Jean Darlan, chief of the navy general staf, arrived at Algiers aboard the cruiser Colbert to inspect coastal defenses, and the French Atlantic fleet was in Moroccan waters for any action deemed necessary—although ostensibly engaging in routine maneuvers.

Meanwhile, France stepped up her military forces in Morocco. Gen. August Nogues, resident general of French Morocco, took over command of 100,000 troops, compared to the normal 40,000, and fortifications bordering on Spanish Morocco were strengthened.

Says Treaty Is Violated.

France has contended presence of foreign soldiers in Morocco violates the Franco-Spanish treaty of 1912, by which the nations pledged themselves to consult with each other but to permit no military activity by a third power.

There was protest today also over the reported presence of Spanish rebel warships in French waters. The border municipality of Cerbere petitioned Premier Leon Blum to make representations to the Spanish insurgents, charging that Fascist craft have steamed into French territorial zones several times while operating along the Mediterranean coastline.

Denies Nazi Troop Invasion.

CASABLANCA, French Zone, Morocco, Jan. 10.—(AP)—High Commissioner Beigbeder of Spanish Morocco declared flatly in a telephone interview today there were no foreign troops in his territory. Speaking from Tetuna, he denounced reports of German troop arrivals as "an odious Marxist maneuver—both Spanish and Russian—intended to poison the international situation."

High Commissioner Beigbeder, former Spanish military attaché in Berlin, continued:

"You can declare no soldier, German, Italian, or even Japanese—for they will soon invent news of Japanese landing—has crossed our frontiers."

ANTI-FASCIST PARADE MARKS VALENCIA FETE

VALENCIA, Spain, Jan. 10.—(AP)—Valencia celebrated the closing of New Year festivities today with a huge anti-Fascist parade.

Dozens of floats, designed principally for the edification of children, purported to portray the rôles the various European nations are playing in the Spanish civil war. The Russian float, with a score of youngsters dressed in white and carrying sickles, was cheered, while grotesque figures representing Italy and Germany, sympathetic to the Fascist insurgents, were booed.

Planes circles overhead as the two hour procession wound through principal streets of the city.

SPANISH REBELS MASS ARMY AT CITY'S 'IRON GATE'

WITH FASCISTS OUTSIDE MADRID, Jan. 10.—(AP)—Spanish Fascist insurgents drove to the gates of Madrid today in a new attempt to force their way into the capital.

From Partride hill troops were massed for an attack against the "steel gate" entrance to the city—Puerta de Hierro.

Other troops occupied the railroad and San Fernando bridgeheads over the Manzanares river, ready for the signal to attack.

[The New York Times correspondent in Madrid reported insurgents have moved beyond the Escorial highway and also menace Madrid from the north.]

To Use Deserted Trenches.

The Fascist left flank, officers said, had driven off the international column aiding Madrid defenders during the last week of battle.

The insurgents hoped to use fortifications dug by government troops and abandoned by them as the main point of their defenses. Hundreds of government dead were removed from the rows of concrete trenches.

Madrid now is hemmed in, insurgents said, by troops all along the southern and western edges and on the north and northwest.

The one means of exodus from the city, along the Valencia highway, was bombarded steadily today by Fascist artillery.

Claims Germans Among Dead.

MADRID, Jan. 10.—(AP)—Madrid counted heavy casualties of the week long battle today, and tension increased in the city as artillery fire continued.

Gen. José Miaja, defense commandant, issued a pronouncement urging the militia to hold fast and assured them Fascist radio broadcasts admitted "such sharp resistance had not been expected."

Gen. Miaja announced the casualties for the week's fighting likely would reach 4,000, declaring they were especially heavy among German troops fighting with the Fascist insurgents.

The death toll, he said, was heavy largely because of the German practice of advancing in closed ranks instead of the usual Spanish guerrilla fashion.

Government machine gunners during the fighting around suburban Aravaca, he said, mowed down wave after wave of insurgents, mainly Germans.

Drive to Trap Spies.

A new attorney general, Eduardo Ortega y Gassets, was appointed and officials ordered a police drive to ferret out spies and Fascist sympathizers.

Reports of German fortifications in Spanish Morocco were given widespread newspaper display, with editorial comment speculating on "how much more would be needed to provoke Britain and France to protect their interests."

"What are European democracies waiting for to decide on a common action against Fascists?" the newspaper Ahora, organ of the United Socialist youth, asked.

"Perhaps they are waiting for the moment when peaceful citizens in London and Paris see Hitler and Mussolini's bombers in their skies dropping shrapnel on women and children," the paper said.

Planes Bomb Malaga.

Reports from Valencia said two boys were killed and many wounded in Malaga and two persons were wounded seriously in Almeria during Fascist air raids on the two Mediterranean coast cities.

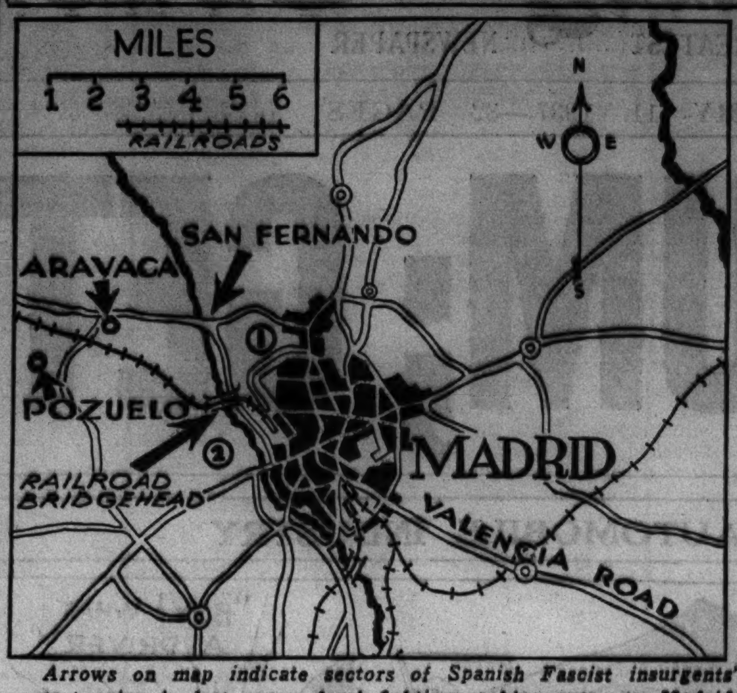
Two insurgent airplanes were reported to have dropped a large quantity of bombs on Almeria while other Fascist aircraft poured machine gun bullets onto houses and balconies. During the raid on Malaga, the reports said, the center of the city and its suburbs were bombed heavily.

Hide in Railway Tunnel.

PERPIGNAN, France, Jan. 10.—(AP)—Terror stricken inhabitants of the Spanish town of Portbou took refuge in the international railway tunnel during the night while Fascist warships cruised off the coast.

Fearing a repetition of Friday's bombardment, in which forty shells were dropped into the town, the citizens carried their blankets into the tunnel, which connects with France, and tried to sleep. Others fled inland. The Fascist ships did not fire against the town.

REBELS PUSH TO MADRID BRIDGE



Arrows on map indicate sectors of Spanish Fascist insurgents' greatest gains in last seven days' fighting seeking entry to Madrid. Rebels claim to have connected their line between Pozuelo de Alarcon and Aravaca and that some of their troops have occupied the San Fernando and railroad bridgeheads over the Manzanares. (1) Indicates University City and (2) Casa de Campo, the former royal hunting grounds, where the rebels gained footholds some time ago, but the government claims to have blocked the advance. The rebels now have blocked all main roads and railroads serving Madrid except the Valencia road.

HITLER RETURNS TO BERLIN; FINDS NEW BRITISH NOTE ON SPAIN

BERLIN, Jan. 10.—(AP)—Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler returned from his Berchtesgaden estate today for a belated New Year's diplomatic reception to find another British note urging him to take immediately steps to halt the flow of volunteers to Spain.

The British embassy received instructions from British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden today and said the new note will be in Hitler's hands tomorrow before the diplomatic corps assembles at noon at the presidential palace.

Authoritative quarters predicted a cool reception for the new note, which announced Britain already has declared a ban on volunteers, because Hitler's answer to last week's Franco-British note laid down specific conditions to acceptance—that all other nations coöperate, and that effective means be devised to enforce a volunteer ban.

American Medical Unit to Sail for Spain This Week

New York, Jan. 10.—[Special.]—A medical relief expedition with sufficient surgical, medical and wardroom equipment to set up a fifty bed hospital in Madrid will sail Saturday aboard the French liner Paris, according to an announcement today by Saul Carson, executive director of the medical bureau of the American friends of Spanish democracy. The expedition will include a group of fifteen surgeons, physicians, nurses, technicians, and ambulance drivers.

BRITAIN FORBIDS HER CITIZENS TO ENLIST IN SPAIN

Law of 1870 Revived to Stop "Volunteers."

BY SAM BREWER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 10.—Great Britain issued a new plea tonight to the governments of France, Italy, Germany, Portugal, and Russia to end the flow of volunteers and aid of any sort to either side in the Spanish civil war in the hope of ending the danger of a general conflict.

Simultaneously the government published a warning that Britons will be prosecuted under the foreign enlistments act of 1870 if they volunteer for service with either side.

The British note asked that "immediate measures" be taken simultaneously by all six powers and "the whole problem of dealing with indirect forms of intervention in Spain be also actively pursued forthwith and there be established an efficient and effective system of control.

Urges Others to Act.

The note calls on other governments to follow the example of Britain in setting out to take action immediately within its own territory to halt the flow of aid to Spain while awaiting action by the committee.

The warning against foreign enlistment calls attention to the fact "it is an offense for any British subject to accept or agree to accept any commission or engagement in the military, naval or air service of either party to the present conflict in Spain or for any person within the United Kingdom to induce any other person to take such action."

Further, the warning states, "Any person contravening the provisions of the act are liable on conviction to imprisonment up to two years or a fine or both."

25 Volunteers Slip Away.

The nonintervention subcommittee meets Tuesday. The report here is that it will be asked to devote its energies to the new British idea of each country agreeing to halt intervention from its own subjects.

Almost coincident with the warning tonight a batch of 25 Independent Labor party recruits left London to join the Spanish government forces.

A Socialist official commenting on the situation stated "our contingent presumably is in France now and will not be affected by the ban, but we are wondering whether they will get through to Spain before a similar decree is made by the French government."

Portugal Replies to Plea.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LISBON, Portugal, Jan. 10.—The Portuguese government today published its reply to the Franco-British appeal for banning enlistment of volunteers in the Spanish civil war. Portugal offered conditional acceptance of the proposal.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

When a service to the public attains such success that just the name of the institution alone is of great advertising value it must be most excellent.

About $50,000 expended by MR. WELLINGTON during the past thirteen years has made his office widely known as the WELLINGTON HAIR & SCALP INSTITUTE. It should not be confused with any other resembling it.

The WELLINGTON scalp treatment of today is the product of seven years study and research by MR. WELLINGTON, and over thirteen years of practice at this city address.

Keenly appreciative and grateful for public confidence Wellington has adopted every scientific aid to hair growth, which in his judgment has proved its worth.

Wellington was the first in this city to advertise a scientific hair treatment. Before that "new discoveries" were the rule.

Wellington treatment is given by operators, with years of experience in his employ, skilled in handling the disorders of hair and scalp. It is not a machine treatment.

When science can demonstrate a safe time proven advancement he will gladly and gratefully add it to his own.

The name of his single office and its reputation has been built by his own work during the past thirteen years.

GERMANS ELUDE CENSOR; BOOTLEG NEWS OUT OF AIR

Rely on Radio Stations in Foreign Lands.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Jan. 10.—The German government today continued its campaign against foreign press and radio reports concerning German activity in Spain and Spanish Morocco. These reports are alarming the people.

The Nazi press again used strong expressions to denounce Paris reports of Germany military activities in Spanish Morocco, charging they are "machinations of the bolshevik and Jewish press to prepare for a spectacular French coup."

It was asserted that French charges Germany had sent troops to the Spanish colony followed the visit to Paris of "Moses Rosenberg," meaning Marcel Rosenberg, the soviet ambassador to Spain. The Nazis alleged that the accusations were promulgated by "Rosenberg's two French journalistic accomplices, who have long worked with him to disturb the positive efforts of Adolf Hitler for the peace of Europe."

Nazi Radio "Gag" Fails.

Despite strict control of the Nazi press, reports of foreign affairs reach the German people by radio. German speaking announcers are heard from Moscow, Strasbourg, France; Luxembourg, Vienna, Prague, and Spanish stations. The eagerness with which Germans listen for every word from beyond the borders has reached a feverish pitch.

The propaganda ministry once believed it could restrict the influence of foreign broadcasting stations by organizing the sale of comparatively cheap radio sets incapable of tuning in Moscow and other foreign stations. The plan failed.

Unable to hear the stations in which they are interested, persons began clubbing together to buy more expensive sets. Since listening to Moscow stations by large groups is punishable, radio fans organized a new system. Together they would buy a radio under an assumed name. The partners then would instal the set in their homes for a few days or a week at a time, depending on the terms of their arrangement.

Object to Censorship.

It must not be assumed that most persons who try to bootleg news out of the air are communists. On the contrary, they usually are conservatives who object to being "kept in the dark about world events like so many children." Communists realize they are under strict surveillance. If any of their neighbors discovered that they were listening to Moscow they would be arrested.

Realizing that foreign press reports are spreading like lightning, Nazi authorities decided to change their tactics. They now combat foreign reports by printing the most unreliable and sensational news, hoping thus to discredit the radio listeners in the eyes of loyal Germans.

Hail Treaty with Portugal.

Moreover, the Nazi press is at the moment diverting attention from foreign radio by featuring the announcement of a treaty with Portugal. This piece of news is spurring hopes for recovery of colonies. The pact was signed last June and became effective Dec. 18.

Under the treaty Portugal agrees to turn back certain German properties taken over during the world war both in Portugal and in Portuguese colonies. German quarters hail the treaty as possibly forecasting cooperation with Portugal in the exploitation of Angola [Portuguese West Africa].

Battle for $100,000,000 Citrus Crop

100 Million Dollar Crop Periled by Cold.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 10.—(AP)—Low temperatures that threatened southern California's $100,000,000 citrus crop for the third successive night kept growers busy firing orchard heaters tonight.

The storm that drove southern California temperatures to record lows in some instances, brought freezing weather to northern California and snow depths to western mountains that marooned numerous persons.

Carry Food to 8 Snowbound.

In the San Bernardino mountains, five deputy sherifs braved snowdrifts to carry food to eight persons snowbound in the Onyx mine, four days.

Lee Prettyman, operator of a mine in the Nevada gold range area 150 miles north of Las Vegas, sought from an airplane for traces of nine persons snowbound in mines there, including his wife and two other women.

Provisions were dropped from airplanes to four families snowbound in the Greenhorn mountains near Bakersfield, Cal., and to 35 men reported short of food at a sulphur mine in Inyo county.

Cold Kills 3 in Utah.

In Utah, where three persons died from cold, drifts still blocked the Los Angeles-Salt Lake City highway between Cedar City and St. George. Homes and hotels were thronged with stranded motorists.

In the Sacramento valley of northern California, snow blocked highways and caused a heavy loss in lambs, estimated by G. W. Houghland, Colusa sheep raiser, at 30 per cent or more. Ten inches of snow blocked the Redwood highway.

The government weather bureau cheered orchardists with a prediction that by tomorrow rain with a break in temperature would end the coldest weather this region has experienced since 1922.

The low temperature in Los Angeles today was 35, but in surrounding towns the mercury dipped below the freezing point. Residents awoke to such phenomena as ice-incrusted goldfish ponds, the family washing hanging stic and brittle on clothes lines, and frozen water pipes.

Sleet Lashes Texas.

Freezing temperatures struck California's Imperial valley, ordinarily one of the nation's hot spots. Up to last night, county agricultural commissioners estimated, the cold caused $500,000 damage to crops.

Wind driven sleet swept across south and east Texas, snapping communication lines, isolating many communities, and bringing low temperatures which nipped at the rich citrus groves of the Rio Grande valley.

FLORIDA SUN SO HOT IT FIRES CURTAIN IN JACKSONVILLE HOUSE

Jacksonville, Fla., Jan. 10.—(AP)—Blizzards hit parts of the country today, but this afternoon's sun set fire to a window curtain here, and did it a second time just to prove the first time was not a fake.

Firemen were called to a home on Riverside avenue. A window curtain was afire. The small blaze was extinguished with little damage, then Assistant Chief A. Dopson began investigating the cause.

He noticed the hot sun was shining through the window, then through a glass bowl at a table and then onto the curtain which had been thrown behind the bowl. He decided the sun caused the fire, but he wanted to be sure so he replaced the bowl and the curtain.

A few minutes later the assistant chief and his men had to put out the fire in the curtain again. The temperature was 74 degrees.

ART TREASURES SAVED, MADRID JUNTA REPORTS

[Copyright: 1937: By the New York Times.]

MADRID, Jan. 10.—It is now possible to assure art lovers throughout the world that literally all the masterpieces in Madrid and many other treasures in surrounding villages have been collected and saved by government authorities. Thus, whatever happens before the Spanish civil war ends, posterity will not be deprived of the precious heritage of art that has made Madrid a mecca of students and artists for many years.

No one who has talked to the men who are sacrificing themselves in this work can doubt the love of art, pride in Spanish possession and determination to preserve these treasures for the people of Spain, which has animated them. Neither can any one doubt that but for their work not much would be remaining today of these great treasures for there is hardly a cultural center of Madrid that has not been shelled or bombed by the insurgent Gen. Francisco Franco's artillery and airplanes.

Bombs Miss Museum.

The attempt to bombard the Prado Museum, which houses one of the greatest collections of art in the world, was typical of what happened. On the night of Nov. 16 bombers came over and dropped flare to delineate the building clearly, then unloaded three or four explosive and many incendiary bombs upon it. Fortunately the explosive bombs landed just outside the museum and the incendiaries caused no fires which could not immediately be extinguished.

The next night the bombers had better luck with the palace belonging to the Duke of Alba, which was one of the show places of Spain and it is now a shambles. Disdaining danger communist militiamen in charge of the palace managed to save the greater part of its priceless treasures. Paintings from it are now on exhibition at Valencia. Other things were moved to places of safety in Madrid, but the valuable library is still buried and excavations are now going on to dig it out.

All this vast complicated work is being done under the auspices of a government body called the junta of requisition and protection of artistic patrimony, set up by decree Aug. 1. Most of the members of the junta went to Valencia, but they left behind a small group known as the "delegated junta."

At first the junta concentrated on museums, churches, and public libraries. The Prado art works were rushed first into the basement, then into the vaults of the Bank of Spain, and now they have been removed to a place of safety in another part of the country.

Ten days ago one of Velasquez's greatest pictures, "The Surrender of Breda," packed in an elaborate wooden, water proofed case that cost 7,000 pesetas [about $900] to construct, was loaded on a truck for transportation to the coast.

All the paintings, sculptures, books, and documents in San Lorenzo monastery at El Escorial were first rushed to Madrid, and now they are deposited far from the capital.

One El Greco Lost.

Five great El Grecos from the church of Illescas, south of Madrid, also were saved. Another of El Greco's greatest pictures, however, has been lost to proletarian Spain. It was "The Entombment of Count Orgaz," in the church of Santo Tome, Toledo, which is now in Gen. Franco's hands.

As partial compensation the junta has discovered a hitherto unknown El Greco, which students can now add to the list of his paintings. This is "St. Francis and St. Bartholomew, which was found in the church of the Encarnacion in Madrid. The Encarnacion church has been under fire for two months off and on, and is now virtually destroyed.

The junta, incidentally, also recovered El Greco's only female nude, "The Assumption of Magdalen," which is now being restored by Prado experts. It came from the Titulacia church in Madrid province.

All the Velasquez paintings in Madrid were saved without difficulty or adventure, but the Goyas had a more interesting time. Those in museums were easily protected, but having finished with museums the junta went after churches and private collections [from private owners they collected no less than thirty Goyas]. One of the best, "Portrait of the Countess of Chinchon," was in a private collection in a house in Barquilla street. It was requisitioned in August. Two weeks ago a high explosive shell hit that very house, destroying the room in which the picture hung.

Goya Frescoes Damaged.

There is one great work of Goya which is already damaged and which only a miracle will preserve for posterity. It is his famous frescoes on the vaults of the church of St. Anthony of Florida, which is on the outskirts of Madrid and constantly under fire.

At considerable risk the militiamen saved the movable art work in the church, including a seventeenth century ivory crucifixion. But there was nothing to be done with the frescoes. Shells have often penetrated the church.

Among the unexpected things which happened was the finding of the codex of Gonzalo Berceo, a fourteenth century Spanish poet, which had been stolen from the National library a few years ago.

SMOKES IN BED; DIES OF BURNS.

Lasar Margulis, 77 years old, 3925 Division street, died yesterday in the Lutheran Memorial Hospital of burns suffered Saturday night when his bed caught afire, supposedly from a cigar or cigaret.

EXPECT ENGLAND TO DROP EX-KING FROM PAY ROLL

BY SAM BREWER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 10.—The duke of Windsor's enemies in England continue to take every opportunity to carry on their campaign against him despite his abdication as King Edward VIII. and his retirement to Austria. The latest report circulated in London is that parliament will refuse to grant him an income.

Instead, King George VI. will get an additional grant, it is said, and pay his self-exiled brother about $125,000 a year taken from the revenues of the duchy of Cornwall—formerly held by Edward.

It is presumed this arrangement is an effort to make the ex-king's position and grant of income as unofficial as possible.

On every side hints are heard of the undercurrent of enmity toward Edward for daring to defy convention and the wishes of the old guard.

Plan to "Purge" Court Society.

Already steps have been taken to "purge" court society of persons whom the reactionary old guard frowns upon, according to the newspaper, The People. A general housecleaning to restore the court to Victornian primness is under way, the paper said.

Just after Edward gave up his throne for the love of Mrs. Wallis Simpson, the archbishop of Canterbury, who led the attack, broadcast an address in which he bitterly criticized the younger and smarter faction of court society favored by Edward and which includes many Americans.

Now it is reported palace officials are checking all invitation lists of leading society functions with which royalty is connected and are striking out many of the ex-king's friends.

Ban Guilty Parties in Divorces.

All guilty parties in divorce cases are to be barred from such functions as the royal enclosure at Ascot races, Buckingham palace banquets, garden parties and court presentations, according to The People. The ban is expected to extend even to debutantes whose social life is considered too gay and to hostesses whose choice of guests is not approved.

While the "clean-up" campaign is being carried out, conservative circles continue to take digs at Mrs. Simpson.

"Atticus" writing in the Sunday Times on the wedding of Crown Princess Juliana of the Netherlands remarks that the princess is not thin like modern girls.

"Thirty years ago a girl was ashamed of being thin, and rightly so," the article says. "A woman with the contours of a lead pencil might upset a throne, but could never keep it. Thin queens rule over unhappy countries."

A COUGH IN TIME SAVES TEN WHO THANK GRANDMA

Cough drops? Grandmother Jennie Bacon, who is 73 years old, doesn't care for any, thank you. She's glad she can cough, for firemen told her last night that her cough may have saved the lives of all the ten persons in the Bacon household at 4720 Dover street.

Grandmother Bacon was upstairs with her husband, Fred, 77 years old. Downstairs were their son, Raymond, 35, and his family, and their daughter, Miss Bessie Bacon, 30, and some guests. Miss Bacon heard her mother cough, and went upstairs to see if she needed cough medicine.

She found her parents had been overcome by coal gas. And then Miss Bacon realized that she was losing consciousness. She managed to telephone for firemen, who got there just in time to save every one in the house from the fumes, which came from a broken furnace pipe.

FIXER'S SLAYER

CARL A. C. JOHNSON.

The Starke county grand jury will meet at Knox, Ind., today to consider a possible murder indictment against Carl A. C. Johnson, 34 years old, a farmer living near Toto, who on Saturday confessed the slaying of Morris Siegel, elderly Chicago racketeer.

Siegel, who was 76 years old, was beaten to death with an oak plank in a farmhouse near Knox. Because of his alleged connections with a Chicago ring of ambulance chasers, now being investigated by the state's attorney here, police for a time tried to link his murder with that ring.

Johnson's confession ended that effort. He said he had sold Siegel 80 acres of farm land for $2,000, but that Siegel had paid only $40, and had refused to pay the rest. Siegel's excuse was that the soil was sandy. Johnson believed Siegel meant to cheat him. He saw him Thursday. They quarreled and he hit Siegel with the plank. Friends of Johnson, who comes of a good family in Starke county, said yesterday they would aid him.

YOUNG WIDOW OF ZIONCHECK ENTERS COLLEGE

Seattle, Wash., Jan. 10.—(AP)—Mrs. Rubye Louise Nix Zioncheck, 21, widow of the late United States Representative Marion A. Zioncheck, today became a freshman at the University of Washington.

Mrs. Zioncheck, who said she was determined to make her own way in life, enrolled in the home economics college with courses in psychology, economics, political science, and physical euucation.

"I am naturally interested in economics and political science, since I have been so closely associated with politics," she said.

Mrs. Zioncheck, a former WPA stenographer in Washington, married the Seattle representative after a whirlwind courtship last spring.

Blaze in Apartment Closet Halts Trafic; Loss $1,000

Clanging fire trucks halted trafic last night at the busy corner of Sheridan road and Pratt boulevard. Fire had started in the linen closet of David Storms' third floor apartment at 1104 Pratt boulevard while the family was away. Led by Chief Gus Hopp, firemen extinguished the blaze. Damage was estimated at $1,000.

FIND LONELY HUT BELIEVED RECENT LAIR OF KIDNAPER

Tacoma, Wash., Jan. 10.—(AP)—A "freshly" abandoned shack was reported discovered late today in a lonely cove on Squaxin island in southern Puget Sound by police hunting Charles Mattson's kidnaper.

Officials would not comment, but a reliable source said the shack had been deserted "not longer than an hour before the officers arrived."

Acting on information from J. A. Houseman of Munson Point, near Shelton, Wash., scene of last week's manhunt for the Mattson kidnaper, the officers cruised into the cove where they found a motor launch.

Houseman reported that last Tuesday he had seen two men rowing west of the point and that they vanished around it. Presently a launch came from the same direction and two men and a third persons apparently a small boy, were in it, he said.

Squaxin island lies about 15 miles due north of Olympia and a similar distance due east of Shelton. The island has a dense cover of Douglas fir and underbrush.

Professor's Wife Shoots Daughter, Kills Herself

Columbia, Mo., Jan. 10.—[Special.]—A mother's love for her mentally deficient daughter caused the socially prominent wife of a University of Missouri professor to kill herself here this morning after attempting to take the daughter's life. The mother, wife of Prof. Albert E. Trombly, entered the bedroom of her daughter, Jeanne, 9 years old, and fired a pistol bullet into the girl's head. Mrs. Trombly then shot herself in the head and died at the foot of the child's bed. The child is near death at a hospital.

MATE JOBLESS, NO BABIES, WIFE SHOOTS HERSELF

Mrs. Darlene Lee Jacobsen, 23 years old, wanted to have babies "like other women," but her husband was out of work, and so she shot herself. She so told police last night.

She fired a bullet into her left side shortly after her husband, George Jocobsen, a former city fireman, took her to a tavern at 1215 South Wabash avenue, where she is employed as a waitress. She was taken to the County hospital where her condition was pronounced serious last night.

Jacobsen, who is 28 years old, said he and his wife quarreled Saturday because she did not return to her hotel room at 830 South Michigan avenue all Friday night. The couple had been living together at the hotel until Tuesday when, for economy's sake, Jacobsen went to the home of his parents, 9859 Avenue J.

FIREMEN REVIVE FIVE OVERCOME BY GAS FUMES

An inhalator squad of the fire department yesterday revived a family of five that had been overcome by the fumes of a gas water heater. Those revived are Joseph Frano, 33 years old, a laborer, 2327 Rice street; his wife, Louise, and their three children.

A SELLING EXPRESSLY FOR SHORT WOMEN

SEMI-SIZE DRESSES

SIZES 16½ TO 26½

With 60% of the women in America under five-feet-five—including such prominent women as Mary Pickford, Helen Hayes, Mrs. Charles Lindbergh, Anita Loos, Virginia Hicks and many others—it is no wonder that Field's has always taken a vital interest in designing dresses especially for short women. This season our fashion creators have more than doubled their efforts to give you a stunning collection at impressively modest prices. They have selected the smartest and most becoming fabrics, the most flattering colors and details—and painstakingly adapted them, in original designs, to small woman proportions. Sketched are but six of the many, many styles from which you may choose.

SEVEN REASONS FOR THE SUCCESS OF OUR SEMI-SIZE DRESSES

1. From top to toe, lines give impression of height.
2. Prints are small and geometrically spaced.
3. Necklines are flattering to throat and shoulders.
4. Waists raised to meet shorter waistlines—no pinning up needed.
5. Sleeves are shorter with breadth through shoulders and arms.
6. Skirt lengths are right to begin with.
7. Finishing touches give that "expensive look."

POSTPONE PLAN OF MOVING POPE TO WHEEL CHAIR

Pius Sleeping Better and Suffering Less.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VATICAN CITY, Jan. 10.—Although Pope Pius XI. was sleeping better and suffering less than at any time since he took to bed nearly six weeks ago, it was still impossible for him to be moved into his new wheel chair today. It also was too early to say when even this modest step toward convalescence can be taken.

Informed Vatican circles declared that even if the pontiff continued to improve it only would be at the end of the month that any conclusions could be drawn as to future development of his malady. Many persons continue to doubt that the pope will live to the end of the month despite reassuring reports during the last week.

Less Danger of Complications.

This pessimism may be justified, but there now seems less danger of complications which might hasten his end. Barring such complications, Vatican circles believe that the pope's sickness will take the form of a gradual weakening of the heart function with attenuation of other symptoms. This would prolong his illness and might even allow for a protracted period of improvement before the final decline sets in.

Improvement in the pontiffs condition to date is attributed to the steady decrease of pain in his legs. The pope still suffers from time to time acute attacks of pain, but the attacks are becoming less frequent and the intensity is diminishing.

Cardinal Dennis Dougherty of Philadelphia left Rome for Manila this morning. He received an impressive official farewell as papal legate to the Eucharistic congress to be held in Manila, Feb. 3 to 7.

A host of dignitaries, headed by the Italian ambassador to the Vatican, Conte Bonifacio Morano di Custoza, and high Vatican prelates bade the cardinal farewell at the railway station. Among them were Msgr. Giuseppe Pizzardo, secretary of the congregation for extraordinary ecclesiastical affairs, and Msgr. Domenico Tardini, undersecretary of the same congregation.

Cardinal Dougherty, wearing the ceremonial purple, reviewed a detachment of the royal carbinieri while papal and royal hymns and the Fascist anthem, Giovanezza, were played. Cardinal Dougherty returned the honors by raising his right arm in the Fascist salute and repeated the gesture standing in his coach as the train pulled out for Naples. The cardinal sailed on the "Eucharistic ship," Conte Rosso.

GERMANY LIFTS CARNIVAL BAN FOR 'HITLER DAY'

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Jan. 10.—Authorities today requested the German press to publish a notice in "fat type" that carnival festivities will be permissible Jan. 30, the fourth anniversary of Reichsfuehrer Adolph Hitler's accession to power.

The order explains that an officer of the Nazi party propaganda bureau had issued a proclamation requesting Germans to "respect the dignity of the anniversary and abstain from carnival celebrations that day."

Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels, minister of propaganda, rescinded the order because of the financial losses it would have entailed for organizers of festivities.

"Big daytime political demonstrations will do justice to the dignity and importance of the anniversary," Goebbels said.

Dorothy Lamour of Movies Here on Way to Meet Mate

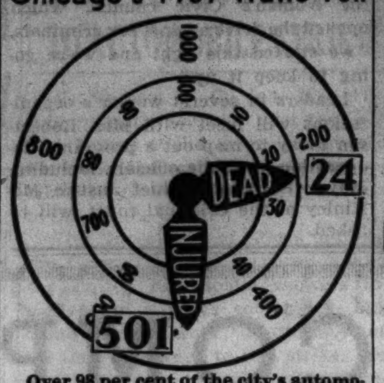
THE MASSACRE

Chicago's 1937 Trafic Toll



Over 98 per cent of the city's automobile fatalities are of a nature physically impossible on an elevated highway.

3 SEIZED AS CAR CRASHES AFTER CHASE BY POLICE

Sergt. George Melican and Policemen Edward Healy and Edward Sigmund gave chase in their squad car early yesterday to three men they saw acting suspiciously in an automobile at North avenue and Clark street. When the fugitives refused to stop the policemen opened fire with their pistols.

For nearly two miles the policemen followed the fleeing machine as it dodged through west side streets and alleys. The car, riddled by bullets, finally skidded around a corner at Division and Sedgwick streets, sidewiped a trolley pole and crashed against the side of the Lane Technical High school building.

None of the occupants was injured. They identified themselves as Peter Novak, 27 years old, 1659 West 21st street; George Marton, 25 years old, 2745 South Spaulding avenue, and Roger Palmquist, 2154 Lincoln avenue. They were held for a police showup.

IL DUCE'S ELDEST SON WILL MARRY PENNILESS GIRL

[Copyright: 1937: By the New York Times.]

ROME, Jan. 10.—Premier Mussolini's eldest son, Vittorio, will be married in Rome on Feb. 6 to a penniless young Milanese girl, Orsola Buvoli, to whom he became secretly engaged shortly before his departure for the East African campaign. The wedding will be simple and will be held in the Church of St. Joseph, the parish church of the district in which Mussolini's residence is situated.

LEAPS TO DEATH FROM ROOF.

1 KILLED, 5 HURT AS STREET CAR AND AUTO CRASH

Motorists from De Kalb County Are Victims.

One man was killed and five other persons were injured last night when a street car and an automobile collided at Van Buren and Wood streets.

The man killed was Clyde Wrigley, 39 years old, of Lee, in De Kalb county. He was in the automobile, as were four of the injured: his brother, Deputy Sherif Harold Wrigley of Lee; Stewart Brown, 27 years old, of Lee; George Hobbs, 37, of Hinckley, Ill., and Paul Hardy, 29 years old, of Steward, Ill. The injured men, who had attended a hockey game here, were all taken to the County hospital.

The fifth injured person was Mrs. Josephine Hogan, 62 years old, of 1533 West Jackson boulevard, who was riding on the street car. She was able to go to her home. None of the other half dozen passengers on the street car was injured.

Killed by Hit-Run Driver.

Glancing out her window, a housewife of the neighborhood saw a man struck down last night by a hit and run driver in an alley behind 4960 North Kilbourn avenue. She telephoned police, who found Robert Mitchell of 5027 Kennison avenue, a WPA employé, dying. He was dead before he could be taken to a hospital.

Mitchell was 50 years old, and married. The alley in which he was killed is used by residents of the vicinity as a short cut to Elston avenue. The car that ran him down was a gray or blue roadster with a canvas top.

Another Hit-Run Victim.

Another hit and run driver's victim died in the County hospital yesterday. He was Charles Kuhlman, 50 years old, 2449 Arthington street, who was struck Saturday night in front of 3506 Ogden avenue.

Struck by a mail truck at Harrison and Franklin streets, Celco Martinez, 40 years old, 658 South Dearborn street, died a few hours later in the county hospital. The driver, Miller E. Ellis, 4522 Evans avenue, was ordered to attend the inquest.

Wilbert Allen, 72 years old, 1723 North Rockwell street, died in St. Elizabeth's hospital from injuries incurred last Wednesday when he was struck by the car of David Berliant, 43 years old, 1101 North Sacramento avenue. Berliant was ordered to attend the inquest.

The automobile of Robert Costello, 53 years old, 14832 South Page avenue, Harvey, a barber, stalled on the grade crossing at South Ashland avenue, near 89th street, yesterday morning. Costello ordered his wife from the car and continued trying to start it as a westbound Rock Island train approached. He started the motor, but in his excitement he put the car in forward gear. It shot into the path of the train and was demolished. Costello suffered only a fractured leg.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 27 persons had been killed in automobile accidents in Cook county since Jan. 1, 24 of them in Chicago. During the same period 501 persons were injured in trafic accidents in the city.

TWO TRAWLERS SINK, DROWNING 11 FISHERMEN

LONDON, Jan. 10.—(AP)—Eleven fishermen drowned today in the sinking of two trawlers. The trawler San Sebastian struck a rock and sank off the Island of Islay, Scotland, with the loss of four men. Richard Wilfred Pook, skipper of the trawler, clung to rocks for ten hours before he was rescued. Eight others were saved.

BELGIUM SEEKS INDEMNITY FOR SLAIN DIPLOMAT

[Copyright: 1937: By the New York Times.]

BRUSSELS, Jan. 10.—The Belgian government today awaited a reply to its demand for the payment of 1,000,000 francs [$168,000] for the death of Baron de Borchgrave, an employé at the Belgian embassy in Madrid, who is believed to have been executed in Spain.

According to a communique issued by the Belgian foreign office an inquiry shows that the body of Baron Borchgrave was exhumed Friday morning at Fuencarrel, north of Madrid, in the presence of Spanish authorities and Viscount Berryer, the Belgian chargé d'affaires. Baron Borchgrave was wounded thrice by revolver bullets in his hip, shoulder and behind his ear, the latter wound indicating he was shot in the manner used in executions in Spain.

Belgian newspapers are making a great outcry over the Borchgrave case. In official circles, it is stated, he was not a diplomat, but an embassy employé, thereby enjoying diplomatic immunity. There seems a possibility he was visiting Belgian recruits to the Spanish army when shot.

U. OF WISCONSIN DOMINATION BY LA FOLLETTE HIT

Move Planned to Change Regent Selection.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 10.—[Special.]—The bitter controversy over Dr. Glenn Frank's removal from the presidency of the University of Wisconsin by a board of regents dominated by appointees of Gov. Phil La Follette will be carried into the state legislature shortly after it convenes next Wednesday for the 1937 session.

A bill proposing complete reconstruction of the system by which the university's governing body is selected will be introduced, it was disclosed, by Senator Edward J. Roethe [Rep. Fennimore], who returns to the upper house after an absence of four years. Roethe last November defeated Mrs. Anna C. Blaine, widow of former United States Senator John J. Blaine, governor of Wisconsin when Frank came to the campus in 1925.

Wants Senate Approval.

Under the plan which Roethe will propose, members of the board of regents would be appointed by the governor, as at present, but subject to senate confirmation. A bill incorporating that check on the governor's appointive power to a central state board of education to administer all educational institutions in Wisconsin, including the state university, was passed by the senate in 1931, but went down to defeat in the house, then dominated by Progressives. Roethe said he was convinced, after sitting in last week on the ouster proceedings against Frank, that the board of regents as now constituted "has ceased to function as a non-partisan body and seems to have ended its usefulness."

The presence at Frank's "trial" of other prominent members of the 1937 legislature, including Senators Conrad Shearer [Rep. Kenosha], and John E. Cashman, [Prog., Denmark], and Representative Palmer F. Daugs [Dem., Fort Atkinson], all key members of their respective parties, gave further support to the belief that the showdown battle between Frank and Gov. La Follette was headed toward legislative debate. Senator Shearer said that an inquiry into the Frank affair "seems almost inevitable."

Students Demand Change.

Demand for an overhauling of the board of regents to remove the "political stigma" also came today in an editorial in the Daily Cardinal, university student publication. The editorial urged a setup whereby the governor would appoint five members to the board, with the other ten divided equally between the faculty and the alumni association.

Meantime, principals in the heated controversy—Frank and La Follette—were separated by hundreds of miles as a temporary quiet fell over the campus and city. Frank was secluded in the beautiful presidential residence which he and Mrs. Frank may occupy until July 1, end of the fiscal year, busy in the preparation of his formal statement replying to the charges lodged against him by Gov. La Follette. The governor is in Washington, where he will confer tomorrow with President Roosevelt relative to what the states may expect in the way of new federal employment and relief measures.

ONE MAN GANG GIVES BATTLE TO A BROTHER, THEN TAKES ON POLICE

Three squads of Burnside police, responding to half a dozen emergency calls, found a one man gang doing riotous deeds in Tom Sullivan's tavern at 7900 Stony Island avenue early today. Just to make everything crazier, police added to the disturbance, too.

The one man gang was Michael Sullivan, 24 years old, 9034 South Ada street, a sanitary district engineer. Michael, police later said, had "too much," and Michael began fighting. His foe of the moment was his own brother, Jack Sullivan, 28 years old, 8018 Laflin street. Somebody called police, and Policeman Frank Carey dashed in. Michael, or maybe somebody else, cracked him on the head and knocked him out—and Michael took his gun.

Michael still felt like fighting. This time James Martin, 7120 Yates avenue, a patron, got in the way. He went down under a blow from the gun wielded by Michael. At this moment three squads of police arrived. Michael barricaded the door. Here brother Jack sought to subdue him, and in the struggle, the revolver was fired harmlessly four times.

Outside, Detective Robert Walsh broke in the door glass with the butt of a shotgun. The gun went off, the charge tearing away part of Walsh's coat but not hurting him. It scattered some 200 spectators outside. Police broke in then and seized Michael who by this time was just about holding his own with his original foe, Brother Jack. Both were arrested.

FREIGHT WRECK BLOCKS LINE.

Bloomington, Ill., Jan. 10.—[Special.]—Fourteen cars of a westbound Alton freight piled up in a scrambled mass near Stanford yesterday, tearing up 150 feet of track and blocking the Jacksonville line for nearly nine hours.

MRS. HOCKMAN TO SERVE FOR SLAIN MATE IN ETHIOPIA

Mrs. Winifred Hockman, widow of Dr. Robert W. Hockman, American missionary who was killed in Ethiopia by an Italian bomb in December, 1935, has received a call to return to Ethiopia as a missionary, it was learned yesterday.

Mrs. Hockman's appointment came from the United Presbyterian missionary society. She will not leave until late fall, according to her husband's father, Dr. W. H. Hockman of Wheaton. In the meantime she will continue studies at Wheaton college toward a master's degree in religious education.

With her will go her 15 month old daughter, Winifred Ruth, who was born six weeks before the death of her father. Mrs. Hockman probably will be stationed in Addis Ababa, her former home.

Old Time Printers Honor Ben Franklin on Birthdate

The Old Time Printers Association of Chicago, true to its traditions of fifty-two years, will honor the 201st anniversary of the birth of the patron saint of printing, Benjamin Franklin, at its annual dinner dance and reunion Saturday night at the Stevens hotel. A delegation from the association will place a wreath on the statue of Franklin in Lincoln park.

WOMEN TO SEE JUSTICE DONE IN MORON CASES

To insure justice in the fight of Chicago women against sex morons, women will be placed in the courts to observe the conduct of cases involving women and children.

Mrs. Clifton Timmons, chairman of the law enforcement committee of the Illinois Federation of Women's clubs, will serve as head of the group of watchers. "Because," explained Mrs. Harriet Robertson, president of the Women's Civic council, which opened the drive against sex criminals, "we started this fight and we're going to keep it up."

Leaders in several women's organizations will meet with Mrs. Robertson today to map out a program. Co-operation of public officials, including Mayor Kelly and Chief Justice McKinley of the Criminal court, will be asked.

HORNER MESSAGE IN SPOTLIGHT AT INAUGURAL TODAY

Throngs Jam Springfield for State Ceremonies.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Interest in the state inauguration ceremonies in Springfield this noon centers almost entirely around Gov. Horner's message to the general assembly.

Since the whole list of state offices has been in Democratic hands for the last four years and since there is not a newcomer among those being inducted into office, politicians and taxpayers alike are most keenly waiting to see what the governor will say on taxation, economy, paroles and similar subjects scheduled for legislative action between now and July 1.

Copies of the governor's message—15,000 words long—were intrusted to the newspapers last Saturday with their agreement not to disclose it until this afternono.

6,000 Guests Expected.

The address, part of an elaborate program, will be delivered before the legislature and an estimated 6,000 guests in the almost completed new Springfield armory.

The information coming from Springfield was that Chicago will not be alone in sending a big delegation to the ceremonies. All trains on the Chicago-Springfield routes were crowded yesterday and last night and the highways in this section of the state showed a heavy southbound trafic. But messages from the capital said thousands were pouring in from all directions and that Springfield's hotel capacity had been exhausted early in the evening.

Mayor Kelly and a number of his close associates left on an early evening train, but the midnight trains on the Alton system and the Illinois Central also were loaded to the limit.

Jam Like 4 Years Ago?

Some observers predicted that the jam in the capital will be almost as large as it was four years ago when the cause for celebration was considered greater because then the Democrats were replacing Republicans.

Arrangements for the program, announced by Adjt. Gen. Carlos E. Black, showed that plans cover the smallest detail, even to the selection of appropriate music to be played by the University of Illinois concert band. When the women of the inaugural party enter the armory "Fairest of the Fair" will be heard. The Supreme court justices will enter to the strains of "The Jurists March," and "Hail to the Chief" will greet the governor.

Other festivities will include a reception in the executive mansion after the inaugural and a dance in the state house tonight.

M'GRADY DROPS TRIP WEST TO DEVOTE TIME TO AUTOMOBILE STRIKE

Washington, D. C., Jan. 10.—(AP)—Administration concern over the General Motors strike today led Edward F. McGrady, assistant secretary of labor, to give up plans for returning to the Pacific coast.

With the collapse of efforts to bring the General Motors corporation and the United Automobile workers together for a peace conference, McGrady said he would devote most of his time this week to this strike. He had planned to go back to San Francisco this week-end to continue his efforts toward settling the west coast maritime strike. He said he was so encouraged by reports on the ship strike situation, however, he felt he need not return.

With Secretary Perkins, McGrady kept in close touch with the General Motors strike last week. Both received almost hourly reports from James F. Dewey and other federal conciliators in Detroit.

McGrady gave no indication that he intended to go to Detroit, despite rumors that he would.

APACHE INDIAN KEEPS HILLBILLY FIDDLING TITLE

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 10.—(AP)—Natchee, 23 year old Apache Indian of San Carlos, Ariz., who declares he has lived off contest earnings since he won his first national title seven years ago, tonight repeated as winner of the national hillbilly fiddling contest held here under sponsorship of the National Fiddlers' association. Curley Fox, Louisville, Ky., was second, and Wade Ray of St. Louis, third.

National honors in the hillbilly band contest went to a popular group of St. Louis radio entertainers, "Pappy Cheshire's Gang." Second was won by "Natchee's Indians of Arizona," and third by the "Curley Fox band," Louisville, Ky.

15 SKIERS KILLED IN SWISS SLIDES; THREE MISSING

BERNE, Switzerland, Jan. 10.—(AP)—Fifteen skiers were killed and three others were feared dead in two mountain snowslides today in Switzerland.

Ten soldiers, members of the Swiss ski corps on leave, were buried alive under an avalanche in Uri canton.

Five persons were killed and three others were lost in a snowslide in Unterwalden canton. Bodies of the five were recovered.

SEIZED AS AUTO THIEVES.

Bert Castro, 922 Center street, and Roger Palmquist, 2154 Lincoln avenue, both 19 years old, were arrested yesterday as they drove an automobile away from the home of its owner, Lee Carroll, 1832 Lincoln avenue.

Maid Quizzed on Disposal of $50,000 in Stolen Goods

Police were trying last night to wring from Miss Myrtle Barnes, 38 years old, a mulatto house maid, the story of what she did with the $50,000 in jewelry and furs they say she stole from her employers in the last six years. Police said Miss Barnes has admitted she might be able to restore part of the loot.

WASHINGTON'S LAST ILLNESS PUT IN CHART FORM

Doctor Gets Facts from Diary of Patient's Aid.

New Haven, Conn., Jan. 10.—(AP)—A case history, presenting a terse though detailed record of all symptoms of the last illness of George Washington, has been prepared by Dr. Creighton Baker, a member of the clinical staf of the Yale Medical school.

In compiling the history in the form of a present-day clinical record, Dr. Baker said he gained most of his facts from the diary of Tobias Lear, Washington's secretary.

This example of how modern physicians would describe Washington's death was made public tonight by the Yale Journal of Biology and Medicine:

"G. W., white, male, farmer, married, no children, aged 67 years 10 months. First seen at 4 a. m. Dec. 14, complaining of difficulty in breathing and swallowing, aphonia [loss of voice], soreness and pain in the neck.

Family History Vague.

"Family history:

"Father dead, age 49, pneumonia. Mother dead. Remainder of family history vague and irrelevant.

"Past history:

"Patient had led a vigorous and rugged outdoor life, had had smallpox, dysentery, malaria and pneumonia. After the age of 50, had carious [decayed] teeth that necessitated complete removal. Eyesight failed early.

"Present illness:

"The present illness dates from Dec. 12, when the patient, as was his custom, rode about his farm from 10:30 a. m. to 3 p. m. The day was inclement with rain, snow and sleet. When he came in it was noticed that his clothing was wet and snow was hanging from his hair. It being late he went to dinner without changing his clothes. Retired early, rested well.

Awakes with Sore Throat.

"The next morning, Dec. 13, he complained of a sore throat, but went out of doors, marking trees. When he came in he was quite hoarse but otherwise normal, and read aloud for some time to his family.

"At 3 a. m. Dec. 14, he awoke in a chill and informed his wife that he had the ague. He could hardly speak and breathed with difficulty. While attempting to swallow a mixture of molasses, vinegar and butter, he was 'convulsive and almost suffocated.' A pint of blood was let.

"Shortly after 4 a. m. the patient was sitting up bathing his feet in hot water. Breathing with difficulty, face flushed, pulse rapid, mentally alert. Chest examination negative.

"Dr. Craik applied a blister of cantharides to the neck, took more blood and prescribed a gargle of vinegar and sage tea. Inhalation of vinegar and hot water was given, more blood was let, swallowing more difficult.

"Consultation was sought and Dr. Gustavus R. Brown of Port Tobacco and Dr. Olisha Dick of Alexandria visited the patient, advising further bleeding, and it was noted that 'the blood came slow and thick. Late in the afternoon a full dose of calomel and tartar emetic was given.

Conscious to the End.

"At 8 o'clock p. m. another blister was applied to the throat and hot wheat plasters to the legs and feet. The patient sat up for a time and in full realization of his approaching end, gave his attention to correcting his will.

"The patient died between 11 and 12 p. m. Dec. 14. He was conscious until a few minutes before the end and one of his last acts was to take his own pulse."

INJURIES IN FALL ARE FATAL.

Injured when he fell Dec. 29 in his home at 4637 Malden street, John Gault, 48 years old, a civil engineer, died yesterday in the County hospital.

MEMPHIS AMBULANCE RUNS BY A RED LIGHT; GETS POLICE 'ESCORT'

Memphis, Tenn., Jan. 10.—(AP)—Drivers for a Memphis ambulance service chuckled from the security of their warm cabs tonight while cold policemen followed them on "practice trips" in near zero weather.

Police Commissioner Clifford Davis assigned two officers to trail all of Frank Thompson's ambulances. The commissioner asserted he had received "a number of complaints" of speeding and running red lights.

Chuckling, Thompson advertised in a newspaper "the only police escorted ambulance in America."

"We are furnishing motorcycle police escort with all ambulance calls," the advertisement read. "No additional cost to our patrons. [Only at the expense of taxpayers.]"

SAN LUIS POTOSI, Mexico, Jan. 10.—(AP)—Leon Trotzky, exiled former Russian leader, arrived here today en route to Mexico city. The exile and his wife, who arrived in Tampico yesterday from Norway, were aboard a special car attached to local train due to arrive in Mexico city tomorrow morning. The train carried a guard of 30 soldiers.

WALLY SEEKING A GUARD; MAY HIRE EX-MARINE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Jan. 10.—Mrs. Wallis Warfield Simpson, guest in the villa of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Livingston Rogers of New York at Cannes, is declared on good authority to be planning to hire a private detective to guard her when the Scotland Yard men leave.

Thomas Goode, 43 years old, an ex-sergeant of the United States marines and former prize fight participant and baseball player, has applied for the job and it is said his chances are good. He has lived at Nice ever since the world war. He married a French woman and is reported to be drawing a pension from the United States government.

To the suggestion that a French detective would be more useful in France—the Surete Generale continues to watch over her—a source close to the Rogers household explains that Mrs. Simpson speaks little French and prefers somebody she can talk with directly.

MURPHY WALKS OUT OF DETROIT STRIKE PICTURE

ing "illegal occupation of our plants."

The union stipulation was that no effort be made to operate the plants or remove equipment while negotiations were in progress.

Agree on Other Points.

On all other differences developed in the controversy that to date has made 93,849 General Motors' employés idle, both sides apparently were ready to negotiate. The statement on behalf of General Motors was issued by William S. Knudsen, its executive vice president, while that for the union was given out by Martin.

General Motors planned to resume scheduled activities in its Buick, Pontiac, and Oldsmobile divisions tomorrow morning in keeping with Knudsen's statement that "we will keep going as long as a car can be made," but C. L. McCuen, president of Oldsmobile, said his plant and Fisher body unit at Lansing might be forced to close Tuesday night or Wednesday because of a shortage of supplies. The two plants employ approximately 12,000 workers. None of them are on strike.

States Union's Position.

In stating the position of the union on the question of plant evacuation, Homer Martin said:

"We are willing to agree to withdrawal if negotiations are opened immediately with an agreement that all plants remain closed, without movement of eqquipment or resumption of activities until a national settlement is effected, and with a further agreement that all activities such as circulation of petitions, organizing of vigilante activities, threatening or coercing of employés, be immediately stopped."

General Motors' position on this stipulation stated:

"General Motors corporation representatives immediately upon evacuation of its plants by employés engaged in sit down strikes will meet with representatives of the union, but added "to accept the union's conditions would have placed General Motors in the position of condoning their illegal actions. We cannot condone illegal occupation of our plants."

Interunion Strife Flares.

Some talk was heard over night of the possibility that John L. Lewis, sponsor of the committee on industrial organization, of which the U. A. W. A. is an affiliate, might come to Detroit to take a direct hand in the strike situation. His associates at Washington have said he had no such plans unless his presence were needed here to insure a "Successful outcome" to the strike.

Differences between the C. I. O. and the American Federation of Labor were quickly revived by the strike. General Motors corporation has announced receipt of telegrams from eight A. F. of L. units urging no recognition of the U. A. W. A. as sole bargaining agency for the motor car factory workers.

Assurance that it would take no such action was given the metal trades union yesterday in a telegram from the corporation to John P. Frey, an A. F. of L. craft union executive.

MILWAUKEE AUTO FRAME MAKERS HIT BY G. M. PLANT TIEUPS

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 10.—[Special.]—The General Motors corporation strike is beginning to effect local industry and labor.

The A. O. Smith corporation here, makers of automobile frames for virtually every automobile manufacturer except Ford, already has laid off about 200 men. That was learned tonight.

Additional layoffs are likely if the strike continues. The local plant employs about 4,500 men.

"The General Motors situation quite naturally is having its effect on our plant as it has on others in the automobile industry," said Rae F. Bell, vice president of the Smith corporation. "The situation here will get worse if the strike continues."

Identify Librarian Found Dead in Dentist's Office

Los Angeles, Cal. Jan. 10.—[Special.]—Victim of a mysterious death in a Hollywood dentist's office late yesterday an attractive, auburn haired woman was identified today as Elizabeth Coryell, 34 year old, former city librarian. The librarian was found dead with Dr. Melvin A. Billings in the tightly closed dental offices. Both had succumbed to carbon monoxide fumes from a gas stove.

LESS THAN 1,000 MEN HOLD KEY TO AUTO PEACE

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Less than 1,000 men, General Motors estimates, hold the key that would start negotiations for settlement of the automotive srikes which have thrown 93,849 of the corporation's employés out of work.

These men occupied factory buildings in "sit-down" strikes; efforts at conciliation stalled on the issue of their vacating the plants.

Fisher Body No. 1, Flint, Mich., 500.

Fisher Body No. 3, Flint, 200.

Cadillac Motor company, Detroit, Mich., 150.

Guide Lamp, Anderson, Ind., 65.

Chevrolet Transmission plant, Toledo, O., 35.

The five plants closed by these "sit-downs" ordinarily employ 15,708 workers.

Effect of the strikes have been felt by all General Motors automobile assembly lines except Pontiac and Oldsmobile. Several nonassembly departments of Buick continue to operate.

Fights Police and Firemen as Suicide Attempt Fails

Charles Lowenthal, 31 years old, 5036 North Springfield avenue, fought fiercely against policemen and firemen yesterday after they revived him following his attempted suicide by hanging. Lowenthal was cut down from a shower curtain rod by his mother, Bertha, and a neighbor, Rudolph Momler, 5038 North Springfield avenue, who then called for an inhalator squad. After regaining consciousness he fought until strapped into a life bag, a device used in lowering persons from upper floors of buildings. He was taken to the psychopathic hospital.

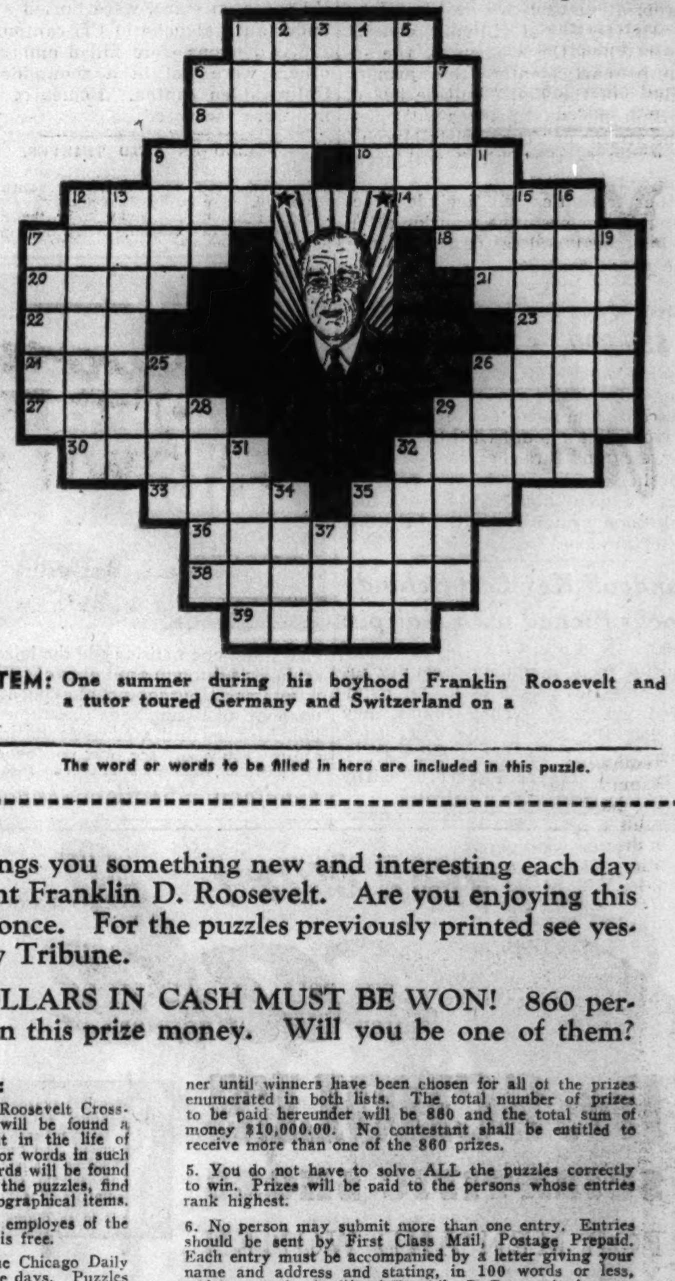
No. 9—"Roosevelt Inaugural Crossword Puzzles"—Chicago Tribune



ITEM: One summer during his boyhood Franklin Roosevelt and a tutor toured Germany and Switzerland on a

The word or words to be filled in here are included in this puzzle.

Solving these puzzles brings you something new and interesting each day about the life of President Franklin D. Roosevelt. Are you enjoying this series? If not, begin at once. For the puzzles previously printed see yesterday's Chicago Sunday Tribune.

TEN THOUSAND DOLLARS IN CASH MUST BE WON! 860 persons are going to share in this prize money. Will you be one of them?

THE RULES:

1. This contest consists of a series of "Roosevelt Crossword Puzzles." Beneath each puzzle will be found a biographical item representing an event in the life of Franklin D. Roosevelt. A certain word or words in such items will be missing. Such word or words will be found in the puzzle. You are invited to solve the puzzles, find the missing words and complete these biographical items.

2. This offer is open to everyone except employes of the Chicago Tribune and their families. It is free.

3. A new puzzle will be published in the Chicago Daily Tribune each week-day for 44 consecutive days. Puzzles are to be submitted only in complete sets. Do not send in each puzzle separately. Hold all until you have the 44. Then send them to: "Roosevelt Crosswords," Chicago Tribune, Postoffice Box 1718, Chicago, Illinois. All entries must be in by midnight 15 days after puzzle No. 44 has been printed.

4. The Chicago Tribune offers TWO sets of cash prizes for the most nearly correctly solved, complete sets of puzzles submitted in accordance with these rules. (See the two prize lists printed here.) In selecting the winners the judges will choose first, the First Prize Winner for Prize List No. 1; next, the First Prize Winner for Prize List No. 2; next, the Second Prize Winner for Prize List No. 1; next, the Second Prize Winner for Prize List No. 2; and continue to alternate in this manner until winners have been chosen for all of the prizes enumerated in both lists. The total number of prizes to be paid hereunder will be 860 and the total sum of money $10,000.00. No contestant shall be entitled to receive more than one of the 860 prizes.

5. You do not have to solve ALL the puzzles correctly to win. Prizes will be paid to the persons whose entries rank highest.

6. No person may submit more than one entry. Entries should be sent by First Class Mail, Postage Prepaid. Each entry must be accompanied by a letter giving your name and address and stating, in 100 words or less, which event in the life of Franklin D. Roosevelt, in your opinion, is the most interesting and why. Letters will be considered only if two or more contestants submit equally correct solutions of the puzzles; in such event, letters will be judged on the basis of human interest and originality. Accuracy in solution of the puzzles will be the first consideration, however, in awarding the prizes.

7. You need not buy the Chicago Tribune. You may copy or trace the puzzles. The Chicago Tribune may be examined free at its offices or at Public Libraries. The judges will be appointed by the Chicago Tribune. A condition of entry is that the judges' decision shall be final. In case of a tie for any prize in Prize List No. 1 or Prize List No. 2, duplicate awards will be paid to tying contestants.

TRYING TO 'TAKE' PUBLIC'S PULSE ON AUTO STRIKE

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Flint, Mich., Jan. 10.—[Special.]—A drive to register opinion of the general public as third interested party in the strikes that have thrown 90,000 automobile workers out of work was chief theme here today. With negotiations for a settlement broken off Saturday night, the General Motors corporation blaming the United Automobile Workers for "frustrating" Gov. Frank Murphy's peace efforts, Flint as the hub of General Motors activities became storm center of the strike.

Union officials came back from Detroit to address a meeting of strikers, declaring the strike would continue "until collective bargaining is gained."

John Brophy, CIO adviser, told the strikers, "the eyes of the nation are upon you. You have the support of union men and many others throughout the country."

City's Economy at Stake.

The Flint Alliance today redoubled its efforts to enroll members in an anti-strike movement among all groups. This city of 165,000 is rated 95 per cent dependent upon the automobile industry. Of its 44,000 automobile workers, 28,000 now are out of employment due to the "sitdown" strike in the Fisher body plants.

How long the remainder will be kept at work depends upon how long the controversy continues and how fast automobile engines and other parts pile up. With a daily pay roll of about $225,000 taken out of circulation in Flint alone, the economic aspects of the strike are causing considerable foreboding.

The alliance is signing up citizens "for the security of our jobs, our homes, and our community." Its activities are based on the stake the general public holds in any large industrial tieup. Heading it is former Mayor George E. Boysen, who for 24 years was Buick paymaster.

Minority Held Responsible.

The main object of the alliance is to demonstrate that the tieup in the city's one industry—which in its effects is sending paralysis into steel mills and other industries elsewhere—has been caused "by the action of a small minority of Flint's workers."

The U. A. W. has not made known the size of its membership, its president, Homer Martin saying it has "enough members to do business with."

At the Chevrolet plant, before it closed two nights ago, anti-strike petitions signed by 11,300 workers, or about 91 per cent of the pay roll, were handed to Arnold G. Lentz, assistant manager. The petition was "opposed to the present organizing movement and its attendant strikes and shutdowns."

12,000 Buick Workers Sign.

At Buick on Friday similar petitions were presented to President Harlow H. Curtice with 12,000 signatures, saying, "We wish to go on record that we are not in sympathy with the present organizing movement and its attendant shutdowns, caused either through strikes or shortage of materials, which bring privation and hardships to employés and their families."

What the alliance is hammering upon is that an estimated 1,200 "sitdowners" in the Fisher Body plants here not only tied up the body plant, but the automobile plants, throwing 28,000 out of employment in Flint, with prospects that if the strike is prolonged, a total of 44,000 workers may be out of jobs.

The question of whether workers belong to the union is not in the picture as presented by the alliance, which asks: "Is it collective bargaining when 1,200 workers, without putting it to a vote in the body plant, can put 44,000 Flint workers out of jobs?"

"This movement," said Mr. Boysen today, "is not aimed at any organization. It simply is a rallying point for those who want to work and who want industrial peace in Flint. Thousands of these men feel any grievances that develop can be adjusted without leaving their jobs.

"The enrollment will show how Flint and its workers stand. We are not picking a quarrel with any one. We only want to crystalize the attitude on the strike in our city. We want to get in black and white the actual attitude of the people in Flint."

Strikers Appeal to Public.

An appeal to the public from the strikers' side was one phase of the meeting at U. A. W. headquarters this afternoon. Brophy, after delivering a message of encouragement from John Lewis, CIO head, said:

"The consuming public is beginning to question what lies back of the motor car. Are they built under conditions justifiable to the workers? The consumer does not have to buy unfair goods. It's up to General Motors, as a matter of good merchandising, to adjust conditions on a real collective bargaining basis."

Martin told the assemblage there is "not an automobile company that pays a sufficient wage to permit its employés to have a home and feed their families properly."

GIRL, 13, KIDNAPED AND RAPED, THEN RETURNED HOME

Harrisburg, Ill., Jan. 10.—(AP)—Dorothy Harper, 13 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Harper of Harrisburg, kidnaped by an unidentified young man a block from police headquarters here late today, was found unconscious on the floor of her home two hours later.

Dr. N. A. Herrman said she had been raped, and the girl later told of the attack which took place after her abductor had driven about two miles north of the city.

The girl's parents were aiding police in the search when she returned home. Police Commissioner Z. T. S. Lietch quoted the girl as having said the man who grabbed her off a sled being pulled by Aline Price, 14, returned her to within one block of her home and warned her to "keep your mouth shut or I'll get you again."

She described the man as being about 26 years old, red haired, and wearing a dark coat and gray hat.

The girl was found by Mrs. W. M. Price and her daughter, Aline, who went to the Harper residence after the latter had reported the kidnaping to police.

COURT TO RULE TODAY ON MOVIE PRIZE INJUNCTION

A ruling on the city's motion to dissolve a temporary injunction restraining the police from interfering with prize drawings at motion picture theaters will be made this afternoon by Judge Grover C. Niemeyer in the Superior court. The city contends that bank night drawings and the screeno game violate a section of the city code which prohibits the giving of gifts in theaters.

The injunction was obtained two weeks ago by the Iris theater, 5747 West Chicago avenue, before Judge Walter T. Stanton, who heard the case in Judge Niemeyer's absence. Last week thirty-three other theaters joined as plaintiffs in the suit to make the injunction permanent.

Meanwhile police have issued court summonses to theater managers who held the prize drawings in violation of a police order issued on Dec. 26.

CONTINGENCIES

By CALEB

AN executive of a great firm of insurance brokers moved into his new home a season or so ago. With considerable contentment he dropped into an easy chair before an open fire. He thought of the various troubles and distresses which can beset the householder. But he could face the future fearlessly. His house was protected.

He had insurance against the demon fire. In case of flood he was safe. Tornadoes might come. If they uprooted his house, he would be compensated by the insurance companies. If great windstorms broke the plate glass in his windows and ripped gutters from his eaves, he would be paid.

A servant in the house might slip in the bathtub and break an arm—or in purposeful pursuit of her duties, develop housemaid's knees. He should worry. An insurance company would pay.

The months passed and these various sorts and types of protection—plus others—permitted this home owner to sleep peacefully at night. Then came Miss Fortune to his home, daughter of the venerable and loved Dame Fortune. This guest entered uninvited and while the family slept she, with no ally but gravity, caused a folding chair to slide from the top of a water heater. Gravity brought the chair down upon a little petcock. The petcock opened. All of the water in the boilers of this man's vapor heating system made its exit and slunk away drain-wise.

Within a short while, sections of his boiler were cracked and worthless.

He has read all his policies minutely, but he is not covered. He was protected against negligence and even against some acts of God, but he had no protection against the law of gravity.

The moral, it seems to us, is that not all contingencies can be covered by men. That seems an excellent argument for going as far as possible in preparing and planning for the unexpected. The insurance man above at least has the satisfaction of knowing that nothing less than the law of gravity can surprise him.

We are sure that in business enough of the unexpected and the uncalculable arises to warrant going the limit with what is calculable. The department store business is not without its surprises and emergencies. Our founder, Marshall Field, met panics, fires, and catastrophes courageously and confidently, largely because he had well provided for all foreseeable contingencies.

GAS STREAMING THROUGH SPACE SCIENCE PUZZLE

How It Got There Proves No. 1 Mystery.

Cambridge, Mass., Jan. 10.—(AP)—Gas streaming through cold, supposedly "empty" interstellar space is number one mystery of 1937 in a preview of this year's astronomical problems obtained today at Harvard observatory.

How the gas got there, its meaning, whether it is an independent force "like the hand of God in creation" or just an emanation from the stars, was the subject of a seminar among Harvard's astronomers only two days ago.

This new interest in gas came from one of the last important discoveries of 1936, by Mount Wilson California astronomers, of the chemical element, titanium, in the form of gas in the vast "empty" spaces among the stars around the constellation Orion—the belted, sword girdled figure not far south of the zenith.

Two Other Gases Discovered.

Previously in the same region two other gases had been discovered, sodium and calcium, one familiar in salt, ,the other in bones. Today finding of other gases is anticipated, not only around Orion but in other parts of the "empty" heavens.

The gases lie in clouds, each one far bigger than all the solar system. They are billions of miles away from any star. They are invisible to the eye, even through telescopes, but have been detected in the spectroscope.

A few years ago astronomers would have guessed that they might be the stuff on which stars were fed. That is not the idea of the 1937 preview.

Radio Static Cited.

They might be "atmospheres" of stars. If that proves true, it was declared the earth probably swims in the sun's "atmosphere." There is support for this idea in the radio, in the static, fading, and fluctuations of the radio roof in the earth's air which has been definitly proven to be partly due to something in the sun's rays.

It was suggested at the Harvard seminar that the gas clouds are "turbulent," and not merely motionless gases in the intense cold. The "turbulent" motion might have come from the stars if they ejected the gases, but if the "turbulence" is independent of the stars' own motions, it is a new principle for astronomers to puzzle over.

The gases are countless billions of miles away from the earth, but are very "close in" among the wonders of 1937 shown in this preview.

Outer Edge of Creation.

Farthest away, at a distance so great that only the 100 inch telescope at Mount Wilson sees it, so far that light takes five hundred million years to come from those regions, is what may be the outer edge of the kind of creation that man knows.

At the close of 1936 Dr. Edwin Hubble of Mount Wilson proposed an explanation of what his great telescope sees out there which differs from previous ideas. Around that outer rim the telescope shows that the nebulae, massive collection of stars which appear only as faint patches of light, appear to thin out.

BAY STATE STUDENT FOUND SEEKING JOB AS 'SLAVE IN SOUTH'

Bridgeport, Conn., Jan. 10.—[Special.]—Headed south in the hope of obtaining employment as a slave, Basil Brown, 13, a white boy, who said he failed in three subjects in a Greenfield, Mass., Junior High school, was picked up here Friday by John Bradley, railroad policeman.

Basil admitted he was running away from home rather than show his report card to his parents. He had $1.13 in his pocket and said he had heard of southern hospitality and the ease of getting a job as a slave. His parents came here and took him back to Greenfield.

SCIENTISTS TALK AT SERVICES FOR REV. NIEUWLAND

Honor Memory of Noted Notre Dame Chemist.

South Bend, Ind., Jan. 10.—[Special.]—Scientists addressed scientists at services held today at the University of Notre Dame to pay tribute to the memory of the Rev. Julius Nieuwland, C. S. C., who died last May.

Father Nieuwland, noted Notre Dame chemist and botanist, made the synthetic rubber industry possible as the result of his researches.

Six outstanding scientists took part in this afternoon's program. They were Dr. Marcus Ward Lyon, former assistant curator of the United States National Museum at Washington, D. C.; William Stanfield Calcott, director of the Jackson laboratories of the E. I. du Pont de Nemours company; Dr. Arthur Haas, professor of physics at Notre Dame and formerly professor of physics at the University of Vienna; Brother Marie Victorin, F. S. C., S. C. D., professor of botany at the University of Montreal; Dr. George David Birkhoff, dean of Harvard university, and David B. Jones, professor of chemistry at Princeton university .

Many Notables Attend.

The services were attended by a capacity audience, composed mostly of scientists, industrial chemists, educators and other notables.

While the gathering was in honor of Father Nieuwland as a chemist and botanist, speakers did not confine their talks to these subjects but discussed theories on which they have been working.

Outstanding was the address of Dr. Haas, who spoke on "The Energy Balance of Star Systems."

"The universe is not expanding, shooting farther and farther out into space all the time," he declared, "but the radiation contained in the universe is continually giving off energy and may thus serve to perpetuate the output of heat by astronomical bodies."

Calculates Nebular Limit.

Dr. Haas said he had calculated the upper limit of the nebular system to be 6 billion light years, or 36 billion trillion miles, from the earth.

The program opened this morning with a pontifical high mass celebrated by the most Rev. Joseph Schrembs, D. D., bishop of Cleveland.

The afternoon program, given over wholly to the six speakers, took more than six hours.

Plans Pushed for WPA Project on Air Pollution

Plans are being completed for a Works Progress administration project that would attack all phases of Chicago's problem of air pollution, including smoke, dust and pollen, according to Frank A. Chambers, head of the city's smoke abatement department. In this investigation of air pollution it is planned, Chambers said, to employ approximately 145 persons and expend over $100,000. Armour institute is willing to lend the city the use of 6,000 square feet of space for headquarters and a laboratory, Chambers said. It also would assemble a technical staf in an advisory capacity.

FREED IN GEMS 'THEFT'; WHOLE FAMILY TO SUE

Better than a "Sweeps" Ticket, Says Suspect.

New York, Jan. 10.—[Special.]—Search was begun today for another jewel cache as dazzling as the $250,000 diamond bonanza uncovered Saturday in a Jersey City safe deposit box rented by Joseph Rose, relief recipient.

A Manhattan bank vault is believed by police to be the hiding place of a hoarded fortune in jewels of greater value than the one already found. Rose will be asked to exhibit the contents of the second safe deposit box tomorrow to detectives.

Louis Gorelick, who was jailed several days ago on grand larceny charges when Rose accused him of stealing diamonds worth a king's ransom, was at liberty again—and very much upset about his arrest.

Paroled to His Attorney.

Gorelick's release in custody of his attorney was ordered by Magistrate James A. Blanchfield in Brooklyn Felony court at the request of District Attorney William F. X. Geoghan.

"I came here this morning to undo what injustice has been done to this man," Geoghan told the magistrate. He explained that the jewelry which Rose insisted Gorelick had stolen had been found.

Gorelick himself told the world that he thought he had suffered about $200,000 worth of injustice and that Rose should pay the bill.

"Will I sue him!" he exulted once he was free. "O, boy, this is better than a sweepstake ticket! I'll sue him for false arrest, humiliation, libel, and housemaid's knee."

"How much did they say those diamonds are worth?"

Wife and Brothers, Too.

Not to be outdone, Gorelick's pretty wife, Ruth, said she guessed she'd sue for about $75,000 more.

Gorelick's three brothers, Benjamin, Isadore, and Joseph, on hand to welcome him back to the family store, also were considering a little suing on their own account, if there was anything left.

In fact, headaches were piling up for the 67 year old relief recipient, Rose. Relief officials were planning an immediate prosecution of Rose for accepting $32 each month from relief funds.

Moreover, District Attorney Geoghan was publicly vowing that the incredible tale of the alleged theft will be probed to the bitter end. What will be done when it is unraveled the district attorney didn't say.

TURKS AND ARABS RIOT AT ANTIOCH; ONE SLAIN, 8 HURT

ANTIOCH, Syria, Jan. 10.—(AP)—One person was killed and eight wounded when Turks and Arabs rioted near here in the presence of league of nations officials investigating reports of Syrian-Turkish clashes around Alexandretta and Antioch. Scores of others injured were reported to have been treated in homes.

[Turkey has demanded that Alexandretta and Antioch be separated from Syria because of their predominantly Turkish population. France has resisted this demand. The league of nations council decided Dec. 16 to send official observers to the district to investigate reports of clashes.]

League observers were forced to take refuge on a balcony when Turks favoring independence for the zone and Arabs who want it to remain a part of Syria battled with rocks, sticks, and pistols. Troops were called to restore order.

U. S. ARMORED TRAINS PREPARING TO MOVE FOUR BILLIONS IN GOLD

Washington, D. C., Jan. 10.—(AP)—A mint bureau report indicated today the treasury will begin moving within a week or so about 4 billion dollars of its vast gold hoard to a new bomb-proof vault at Fort Knox, Ky.

Final arrangements for the transfer from New York and Philadelphia to the fort-like inland structure are being effected in a series of secret conference by army, treasury and postoffice officials. The shipments probably will be made over a period of several months, utilizing heavily guarded and armored trains.

It had been generally assumed that about 6 billion dollars would be placed in the new depository, but the report showed that only $4,504,663,000 now was held at New York and Philadelphia, of which $3,752,979,000 was at New York.

In line with the treasury's policy of storing the yellow metal in protected inland cities, $292,843,000 was sent to the Denver mint during the 1936 fiscal year, bringing its stocks to $3,117,599,000.

MALONE TO FACE COURT TODAY ON U. S. TAX CHARGE

William H. Malone, former chairman of the state tax commission, will appear today before Judge John P. Barnes in Federal court for arraignment on an indictment charging him with evading income tax payments totaling $59,574 for the years 1929 and 1930.

Malone, who had been in Germany since a federal grand jury returned the indictment against him in October, 1933, returned to his family in Park Ridge last Christmas day. He has been at liberty on a $25,000 bond.

United States District Attorney Michael L. Igoe said yesterday that the government would seek an early trial as soon as all preliminary motions in the case have been heard.

The indictment against Malone contains two counts. Each carries a possible punishment on conviction of five years in the penitentiary and a fine of $10,000.

Police Guard Helps Foil Striking Janitors.

DR. L. M. HRUDKA.

Smoke curled from the chimneys of the J. Sterling Morton High school and Junior college in Cicero yesterday after an interruption of 12 hours and served notice that school officials had obtained a fresh supply of coal despite the opposition of striking school janitors.

Twenty-nine maintenance employés of the school walked out a week ago in protest against the dismissal of three of their members. Union drivers refused to deliver coal as long as the school was being picketed. The last of the school's supply was exhausted at 7 p. m. Saturday.

Six Trucks Make Deliveries.

A few hours later two carloads of coal were delivered to a siding of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad at 28th street and 60th court in Cicero. Seven five-ton trucks obtained by school officials were loaded with coal and six of them, protected by a police escort, made deliveries to the building without meeting resistance from pickets. The seventh driver returned to the siding and dumped his load on the ground.

Classes as Usual Today.

With thirty tons of coal in its bins, it was estimated that the school could continue in operation for three or four more days unless severe cold weather sets in. Heat has been shut off in the gymnasium, swimming pool and auditorium since the start of the strike.

Dr. L. M. Hrudka, superintendent, announced that classes would be held as usual today.

If the heat had remained off long enough for the building to cool completely it would have been necessary to remove all valves and drain all pipes in the heating system to forestall damage from freezing. It was estimated that such an operation would cost hundreds of dollars.

The school board last week turned down the demand of the strikers, members of the Suburban and Municipal Employés union, local 39, for recognition of the union and arbitration of the dismissals. The strikers, meanwhile, continued day and night picketing.

'KELLY BRIDGE' URGED AS NAME FOR SPAN IN HONOR OF MAYOR

A suggestion that the new outer drive bridge being constructed over the Chicago river be called "Kelly bridge," in honor of Mayor Edward J. Kelly, was made yesterday by Charles M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor club. The bridge is scheduled to be opened next Aug. 1.

"The mayor, when he was president of the South Park board, took deep interest in the project and without his understanding of the problems of the motorist this work never would have been completed," said Hayes.

Completion of the bridge, he said, will be one of the most important civic improvements in the city's history, because it will route through trafic away from the downtown district and lessen congestion.

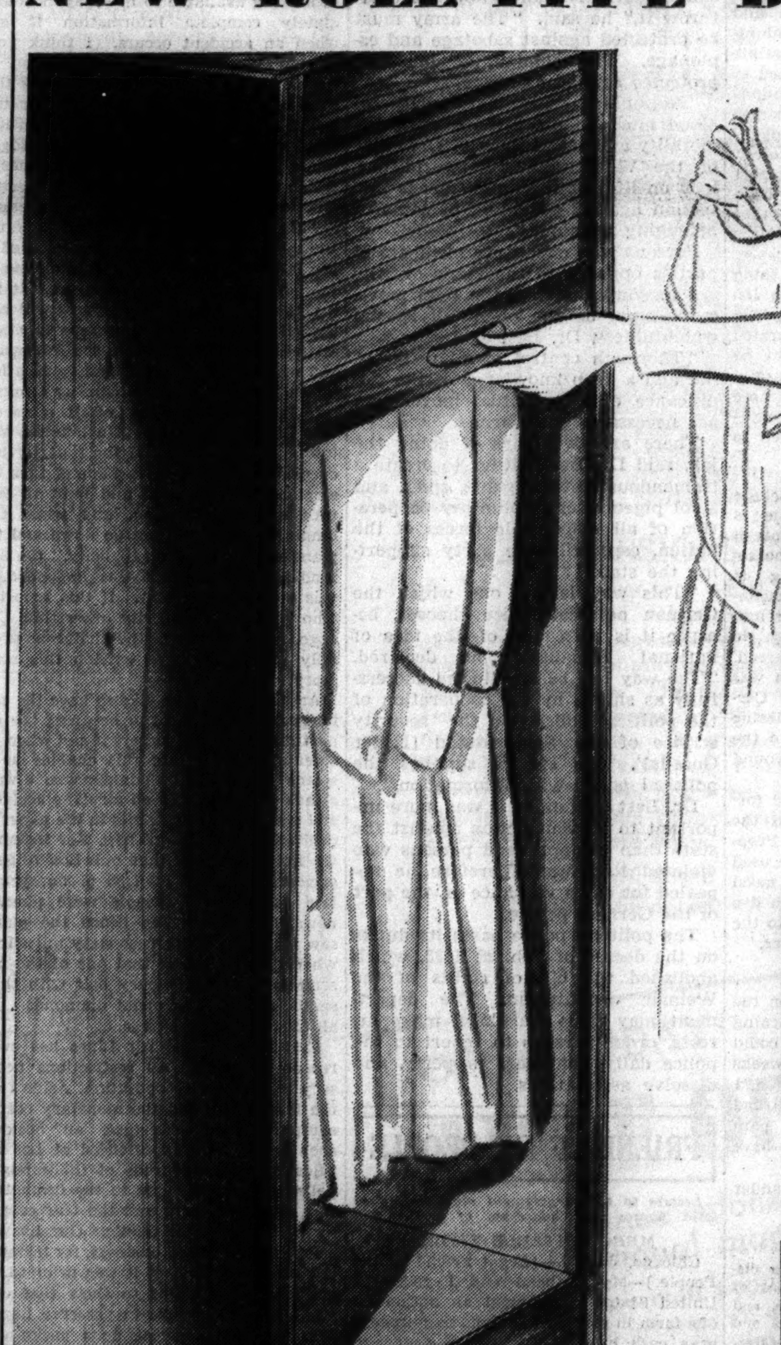
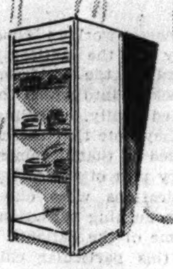
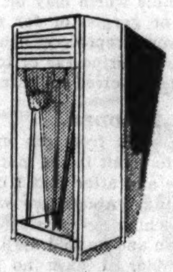
ALL-WOOD CABINETS WITH NEW ROLL-TYPE DOORS

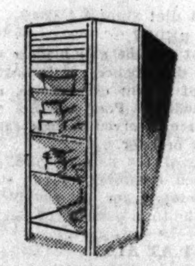




Convenient cabinet for your china.



Mops, brooms and such fit into them.



Grand for pots and pans.

WARDROBE AND SHELF CABINETS THAT MAY BE PUT TO ANY NUMBER OF PRACTICAL USES

$7.95

Shelf cabinet, shaded maple finish, $7.95

Good looking cabinets you can keep right out in plain sight if need be without their being a disturbing element in the room. And the grand sliding doors! The slightest touch sends them up or down. And very important, they're all wood cabinets that are lastingly built; sides, back and door of hardwood; and doweled and dove-tailed construction prevents the cabinet from warping. They'll fit into any regular-size closet, if that's where you want to put them.

places this electrical food preparer in your kitchen. The carrying charge is very small.

Model "G" is the KitchenAid which has earned outstanding respect in so many thousands of homes in America. It is truly the standard by which all food preparing machines for the home are measured. It represents all that the name KitchenAid stands for.

KitchenAid is, beyond a doubt, one of the electrical wonders of our present day and age. A miracle of efficiency that absolutely takes all the drudgery out of cooking and baking . . . an electrical food preparer for the home that takes on all the arm-tiring, back-breaking, time-taking tasks of cooking that are now done by hand. Check its accomplishments that are listed below. The work of the beaters in materials on KitchenAid is performed by two motions; one is the planetary motion which carries the beater around the bowl; the second motion is the rotation of the beater upon its own axis. The two motions together accomplish a thorough blending of the food that is impossible to create by hand. But come in and let us show you this machine—see Phil Libby, radio's "Voice of Cookery," operate it, and prove its own worth to you. Demonstration in your own home, if desired.

Other KitchenAid models ranging in price from $42.50 up

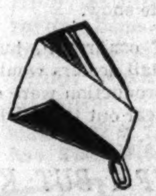
Many of the KitchenAid Attachments Available for Model "G" Are Listed and Priced Below

Pastry Knife
Cuts butter or other fat into flour for pies, biscuits, shortcakes, pastry shells, etc. Time for pie crust, two minutes. Assures perfect blending of fat and flour for the light, airy biscuits and rich, flaky pie crust every woman likes to serve. $2.

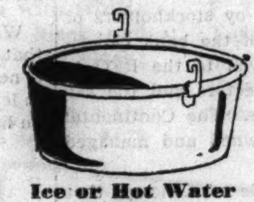
Dough Hook
Mixes and kneads doughs of all kinds for breads, rolls, coffee cakes, etc. Thoroughly blends ingredients, which means superior flavor and lightness. Assemble the ingredients, follow the clear instructions in the Recipe Book, and KitchenAid does the hard work, leaving you free for other lighter tasks. $1.50.

Oil Dropper
Attaches above Bowl when mixing mayonnaise or other dressing. Adjustable faucet regulates flow of oil so it may be added at exactly the proper rate. Also used for adding liquid to cake batters, syrup to boiled icings, etc. Capacity one quart. $2.50.

Pea Sheller
This handy attachment does a tedious task in the twinkling of an eye. Presses peas from pod as if by magic. The pods are simply placed against the rubber rollers, the peas roll back into the pan, and the empty pods are discharged from the rollers. Easy to operate and clean. $3.25.



Pouring Chute
Used in connection with Vegetable Slicer, Ice Chipper, and Shredder Plates to carry materials into Bowl below. Also clamps to Bowl for convenience in adding flour, sugar and other ingredients when making cake, rolls, muffins, waffle or cookie batters. $1.

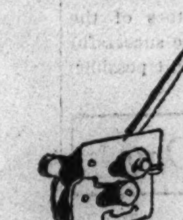


Ice or Hot Water Jacket
Filled with cold water or chipped ice, this jacket is used to cool the Bowl in beating candy, whipping cream, blending mayonnaise, etc. With boiling water for marshmallow icings, mashed potatoes, etc. Used as receptacle under Colander, Sieve, and Roller Set. $2.

Ice Cream Freezer
Automatically indicates when process is complete. Attaches easily, without tools. Capacity 3 quarts, sufficient frozen dessert for 12 persons. Freezing time about 15 minutes. $9.50.

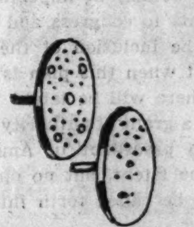
Food Chopper Set
Chops or cuts meats, raw or cooked, for sausage, hamburg steak stuffing for fowl, sandwich spreads, etc. — also nuts, raisins dates, lemon and orange peel etc., for salads, candies, cake fillers or toppings. It crumbs dry bread or crackers. No leaking or mangling. $6.50.

Vegetable Slicer
Slices potatoes, carrots, cabbage cucumbers, and other vegetables; also nuts, hard citron, apples, and all firm fruits. Knives are instantly adjustable without use of tools to make the slices as thin or as thick as desired. Works with lightning speed. $12.50.



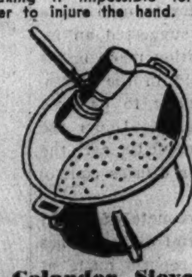
Can Opener
Quickly opens cans without danger of spilling. The opener holds the can in a vertical position while opening without support by the operator. Only the top is cut out, leaving the full lip to prevent spilling. While cutting, edge is rolled down, making it impossible for the user to injure the hand. $3.50.

Knife Sharpener
No more need of complaining of dull kitchen knives. Merely apply knife to this attachment, which quickly gives it a keen and sharp cutting edge. Cone on the front has the proper angle for the sharpening of scissors. Efficient, easy to apply, and much used. $2.



Shredder Plates
Coarse plate is for shredding turnips, nuts and firm, non-fibrous vegetables for salads and garnishings; for making "shoe-string" or "strawstack" potatoes. Fine plate is used as a grater for cheese, chocolate, cocoanut, carrot salad, potato pancakes, etc. Operate in the Vegetable Slicer Housing. $2.50.

Ice Chipping Plate
This plate is used for chipping ice for the Ice Cream Freezer, for chilling drinks, salads, fruits, etc. The ice is chipped to small pieces of uniform size which pack snugly in the Freezer and spread evenly in garnishing cantaloupe, fruit cocktail, etc. Operates in the Vegetable Slicer Housing. $2.50.



Colander, Sieve and Roller Set
Makes pumpkin pie filler, apple, cranberry and other sauces. Removes skins and seeds from fruit for ice cream, ices, jams and jellies, and the fibre from purees and soups. Roller presses pulp through the meshes. Removable bottoms and rollers are easily cleaned. $7.50.

Fruit Juice Extractor
Quickly and thoroughly extracts the juice of all citrus fruits—without fuss or muss. The seeds and all fibre are strained out, but the pulp—the heart of the fruit—is retained. No spraying, no waste! Easy to clean. Simple to operate. $7.50.

Silver Buffer
Think of the time this attachment will save. No more scrubbing and rubbing. Silver harmlessly polished without effort. Black mane hair brush the same as the one used by jewelers. Flexibility of brush makes possible the polishing of all types of pieces. $2.50.

THE CONSCRIPTION BILL.

Senator Sheppard of the senate military affairs committee and Representative Lister Hill, chairman of the house committee, have prepared a bill for the conscription of finance, industry, and man power by the President upon the declaration of war or in a national emergency due to the imminence of war. The latter phrase should not be overlooked, because it adds dangerous vagueness to the powers proposed to be conferred upon the executive.

Wars are of varying degrees in seriousness and consequence. The imminence of national emergency might be conjured up. A small war could be used to spring the trap of general conscription. Bills similar to the Sheppard-Hill measure were introduced in the 74th congress, and although they did not come to a vote they were known to have powerful support.

The country must face the probability that congress is determined to enact some such legislation, either as outlined by this bill or by another much similar to it. The American Legion has put its influence behind the proposal. Citizens who see a great mistake in the plan may be brushed aside.

The ingratiating idea used to win votes and support for the proposition is that it is scandalous for some persons to profit out of a national emergency and that the law should compel them to do their work in the national service with as much self-sacrifice as the men who go to the front. War brides and war profits are regarded with severe disapproval and the war rich are considered a class that should never be allowed to rise to affluence.

There are many ways in which profiteering can be taken out of war and war industries by taxation without proceeding to the extreme of government conscription of the entire industrial structure, its management, its workers, and along with them all the producers of the nation, fixing quotas of what each industry or person shall produce, the pay he may receive or the price he may get, where and how he shall work, and what percentage of his earnings he may keep.

Such are the proposals and they would turn the United States at the will of an executive into one great conscript labor camp with no one exempt from the orders of a government official of one kind or another. Neither Germany nor Russia has arrived at anything like that, nor has anything like it ever been tried in modern times. They have gone pretty far in Europe, but Russia, which at first went to the greatest extreme, is on its way back to more moderate courses.

Americans may ignore the purposes of this pending legislation, but they would be the most astonished people in the world if they should suddenly find themselves one and all taking orders from newly created authorities, arriving in every community, in every activity of life, and saying just what should be and had to be done.

There may be an idea that perfect justice as well as superb coöperation of effort would flow from the working of the law. The discovery that nothing of the sort would follow would be extraordinarily painful and it might be extraordinarily damaging. It may be impossible to present these arguments to congress and it may be difficult to avoid the inclusion of the most extreme demands, but when this plan is imbedded in American law there will be latent in its system of government a grant of authority for which there has been no precedent in American experience. It will be latent, but no one can tell how soon it might be called forth into full life and vigor.

KENT ALSO CARRIES ON.

Mr. Baldwin is probably not the only one in England who regrets that the duke of Kent has become the object of attention which the conventional ideals of British royal domesticity regard as unfortunate at any time and most inopportune just now. The protective silence which kept the British public from knowing that a constitutional crisis was descending upon the throne in December continues to prevail with the newspapers of self-conscious respectability, but Kent is getting a certain press at home and the stories are going abroad.

There was nothing particularly flagrant in the indiscretion of visiting a phrenologist for a head reading, but the domestic scene was not enhanced by the fact that it was not Marina who accompanied the duke on his litte adventure.

Purists who hoped that the royal family tradition was now well on its way to complete rehabilitation would think it unfortunate that any member of the family, particularly at this time, should have his head examined. Both head and heart are supposed to be unquestionably right, one or the other or both being the good old English oak.

Radical Englishmen since the great crisis have been freely conceding that the royal myth has blown up and cannot be reconstructed. That may be, although conservative Englishmen who believe in the worth and value of the crown in English stability and loyalty had reason to hope that the spotless conduct of George VI. and his family would rebuild the whole tradition and leave the structure without injury.

England has recovered from several kings and princes whose conduct was far from irreproachable and whose private reputations were not saintly. George VI. had a bit of work ahead of him, and Edward, so far as he was able after what he had already done, was apparently desirous to aid. The duke of Kent as a playboy will not be of much help. Mr. Baldwin may consider putting Kent's allowance on terms of good behavior if there is any way in which the exchequer could dole out or refuse pocket money.

AN AMERICAN SHIP.

While the plans have a long, thorny path to travel, reports from New York, Washington and other sources appear to indicate that the United States Lines may eventually operate a vessel on the high seas that will be mentioned in the same category as the Queen Mary, Normandie, Rex, Bremen, et al. It will not be as pretentious as these foreign monstrosities of the floating debt type, and most of the Hollywood accessories will be omitted. It will be fireproofed, air contioned, and streamlined, however, and with these three modern characteristics will outshine opponents. The line now operates the Manhattan and Washington, perhaps the most popular ships that have ever carried the American flag. An additional vessel is required to round out the service, but unfortunately there is an outstanding contract with the government to operate the Leviathan, former German liner acquired in the peace treaty and now badly outmoded. Disposition of this vessel as well as the authority of the maritime commission to proceed with new construction are the obstacles ahead of the plan.

If the administration is really in earnest about the revival of the American merchant marine, here is a wonderful place to begin. The first step should be official recognition of the fact that the Leviathan is an anachronism. To force the company to operate or even to continue maintenance of the vessel is to throw good money after bad and to divert funds that might be used to better purpose elsewhere. Second, there is the matter of plans for the new ship. One set under consideration by the commission would be a practical duplication of the Manhattan; the other, the model "K," or streamlined vessel. The former plans have nothing to recommend them other than the saving of three million dollars, while the latter model is favored by the navy and certainly would receive public support and commendation.

The railways could have continued the operation of conventional trains for another half century, or the automotive industry could have standardized on some utilitarian model, but they did not. They spent huge sums in the development of streamlined trains and air flow cars that caught the public fancy and produced travel consciousness. That would be the experience with the "K" plans. The ship would be distinctive and prove a drawing card for American boats sadly needed in their competition with those of European nations on the Atlantic.

THE TRIBUNE has severely criticized the merchant marine for its lack of showmanship. It can be equally complimentary when aggressiveness and salesmanship are displayed. The United States Lines should put all the force it can muster behind its plans for the "K" construction, and if blocked by Washington burocracy, let the public know that congressional plans for a new merchant marine are being nullified by Washington officialdom.

CONTINENTAL BANK BECOMES FREE.

The annual meeting of the Continental bank stockholders on Friday was a happy occasion both for themselves and for the people of Chicago. As a result of the retirement of $10,000,000 of the government's stock interest, announced at the meeting, and to be accomplished on Feb. 1, the common stock holders will again be in control of the bank. The Reconstruction Finance corporation's holding of preferred stock will then constitute only $35,000,000 of the bank's $75,000,000 capital. A year ago the RFC owned and voted two-thirds of the stock of the bank. Of equal importance was the adoption by stockholders of amendments to the charter of the bank canceling the power previously given to the RFC to pass on the eligibility of directors and the salaries of officers and employés. The Continental again becomes a privately owned and managed bank.

It is a relief to the people of Chicago that their largest bank is free from government domination. Although there was no indication of anything improper being done while the bank was subject to political domination, so long as the relationship existed there was always the possibility that politics might influence the granting of loans and the making of investments. Chairman Cummings and the directors of the bank are to be congratulated upon the successful management which has made the result possible.

Editorial of the Day

CHEAP, BY COMPARISON.

[Cincinnati Enquirer.]

The recent conference on venereal control work at Washington gave impetus to a movement which should not be allowed to lose momentum through any quibbling in congress or elsewhere over its need or cost.

The conference, which marked the first convocation of state and federal health authorities to map out a nation-wide war on social diseases, suggested an increase to $25,000,000 of the appropriation made under the social security act for health aid in the states, to permit a large share of the money to be used by the states in anti-venereal campaigns. Under the present provisions of the social security act the states are allotted some $8,000,000 for disease control work.

The proposed expenditure of approximately $17,000,000 in a nation-wide attack upon social diseases does not seem exorbitant, judging from reports made at the Washington conference. One of the experts in attendance estimated that 18,000,000 men and women in the United States are suffering from one or the other of the two chief venereal diseases. Dr. Arthur T. MacCormack, public health commissioner of Kentucky, who championed the increase in the appropriation, estimated that 1,000,000 new cases of the diseases developed annually.

The scope of the ravages of social disease, though long realized by physicians and health authorities, is as yet only partly known publicly. With fuller understanding of the seriousness of the problem will come an increasing demand for remedial action. The cost of neglect and inattention already has been so dear to the nation that the cost of the proposed war against social diseases is cheap by comparison.

CHLORINE—ENEMY OF BACTERIA.

EVER since the announcement [1819] by Labarraque, a French apothecary, that a solution of chlorine not only would serve as a deodorant but also would destroy and prevent putrefaction [pus formation], medical science has looked with varying degrees of enthusiasm upon this chemical. For years Labarraque's solution was used in the treatment of infected wounds in the hospitals of Paris and to some extent in Great Britain—for the most part with striking success. Furthermore, it was employed in cleansing contagious wards in hospitals, in sterilizing bed linen, and in disinfecting the hands of surgeons. This was long before Pasteur made his discoveries of the vicious rôle of bacteria, and prior to the application of antiseptics to surgery—the work of Joseph Lister.

During the world war Labarraque's formula was rediscovered in the so-called Carrel-Dakin fluid. To all intents and purposes it differed in no essential degree from the original preparation. However, it proved of great value in the management of many cases of infection. Wounds can be freely irrigated with the liquid; in fact, a continuous flow is sometimes instituted. Unfortunately, Dakin's compound, in order to be effective, must be freshly made. It decomposes rapidly and loses much of its power if allowed to stand for more than 48 hours.

For the last 20 years or more chemists have been searching for a chlorine antiseptic which would be stable and would act in the presence of secretions, body fluids, etc., destroying bacteria without damage to the tissues. There now appears a new compound called azochloramid which promises to be most valuable, possibly supplanting the earlier forms.

Every physician is familiar with the type of extensive, sloughing wounds, generously infected with bacteria, which require weeks or months of dressings, sap the patient's resistance, and perhaps leave an unsightly scar that may interfere somewhat with function. This new preparation can be dissolved in oil—triacetin—or in salt water. E. Sutton and others report their experiences with 71 infected wounds treated with this fluid. Many were open, shallow areas—the result of severe burns; others were deep, penetrating the skin; some were abscesses, and still others were pockets in the tissues with drainage channels leading to the surface.

For the most part the pocket and sinus cases were injected with azochloramid dissolved in triacetin. Accessible wounds were filled with gauze soaked in the antiseptic, and superficial wounds were covered with saturated dressings. Abscesses within the chest cavity responded best to the compound when dissolved in normal salt. The authors report that the duration of treatment varied from two to twenty-six days and that the average time required for healing was eight days.

All of these wounds in the beginning were discharging pus. This symptom disappeared rapidly—in fact, cavities which had been packed with gauze saturated with the antiseptic were found to be clean and dry on removal of the dressing. It is of considerable interest to note that two cases were chronic osteomyelitis, a distressingly difficult condition to heal.

Sutton and his co-workers conclude that the efficacy of the antiseptic is best demonstrated in the treatment of deep, infected pockets into which the solution is injected daily. Healing is usually rapid. They note that the chemical must be applied so that it comes into contact with every part of the cavity. No untoward complications were observed, although a slight burning sensation was mentioned by some of the patients. Certain it is that this particular chlorine preparation has added materially to the power of medical science to combat wound infections.

The value of chlorine must not be forgotten in certain conditions within the mouth, throat, and nasal passages. Preparations are available which may be used in a mouthwash or gargle, or for nasal irrigation. Not even streptococci can live if exposed to moist chlorine gas or to the element when it is dissolved in water.

What sort of a diet should I use?

REPLY.

The symptoms of chronic gall bladder disease are digestive disturbances, a feeling of fullness, a sense of weight or pressure, and distention and belching. Poor appetite and occasional nausea are observed in some cases. Pain occurs sooner or later.

Diet is only one of the aids to cure. It should be regulated according to the state of the gastric secretion, or by simply restricting fats and the total quantity of food.

NOT AT ALL.

K. T. writes: In talking with friends about the merits of cheese, one said that package, pasteurized cheese is without value; that the very elements that are found in most cheeses have been removed from these products; and that they form a gooey hunk in the intestine much to the annoyance of the digestive tract. So—for the sake of all cheese lovers—will you say whether pasteurized cheese should be avoided?

REPLY.

Not at all!

Cheese has considerable food value and there is no reason to avoid it because it is sold in package form. The chief reason why it is sometimes difficult to digest is that—all too often—it is consumed at the end of an already sufficient meal.

NOT VERY PAINFUL.

A. R. writes: I have been troubled for many years with frequent urination. I cannot sleep for more than two hours at a time for this reason. Doctors tell me I must have an examination with a cystoscope, but I have heard this is very painful. Is this true? What causes frequent urination?

REPLY.

Frequent urination is a symptom of inflammation of the bladder. The condition calls for a cystoscopy. In skilled hands procedure is not painful, as an anesthetic—generally local—is used.

BERLIN.—The Nazi state is not rich enough to pay all the agents and spies needed for its protection, Dr. Werner Best, one of the directors of the German secret police [G. S. P.], said recently in an official report. He called for "voluntary coöperation of responsible forces of the nation, notably members of the Nazi party," to provide news and information the political police require.

Dr. Best said the duties for which the political police require the help of amateurs are manifold.

"The state must be protected against terrorists and efforts to overthrow it," he said. "The army must be protected against sabotage and espionage. The community must be protected against agitation.

"National health and purity of blood must be protected against immorality and racial shame. The unity of the Weltanschauung [world outlook on life] of the nation needs protection against poisoning of souls or befogging of minds."

Persons who once were members of parties opposed to the Nazis or who are unsympathetic to the Nazi movement must be the object of special watchfulness, Dr. Best said.

"Thorough control of all walks of life and a deep knowledge of the significance of all spiritual movements are necessary," he warned.

There are two ways of doing the job, said Dr. Best, either to create a tremendous staf of agents, spies, and stool pigeons, or "voluntary coöperation of all responsible forces of the nation, especially the party supporting the state."

"This way is the one which the German political police chooses, because it is born out of the idea of national Socialism," he declared. "The way has been followed successfully as shown by the coöperation of the political police and the 'security service of the Schutzstaffel [Hitler Guards]'. This service supplies the political police with information."

Dr. Best contended it was more important to prevent action against the state than to apprehend persons who violated its laws. Therefore he appealed for extra vigilance on the part of the German people.

The political police bases its duties on the decree of Feb. 28, 1933, which abolished the bill of rights of the Weimar constitution. The department may issue warnings, make arrests, order persons to report to the police daily, confiscate property, and dissolve associations.

MERCHANTABLE TITLE.

Chicago, Jan. 8.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My husband and I gave the United States government an option on our farm in southern Indiana to purchase at a cash price. This was a year ago last March and the deed to the farm is in his name only. We expected the money immediately, but none came and last month my husband died, leaving me a will signed and witnessed in the hospital. Three nurses witnessed the will.

1. Do I have to have a lawyer to present this will to the Probate judge?
2. Is there a Probate judge in Hammond who could take care of it?
3. Do the witnesses have to come before the judge when the will is presented?
4. How many witnesses have to appear before the judge?
5. Is there a time limit in which to probate after death?
6. Does it have to be advertised before it can be settled?
7. My husband died in Chicago and I suppose I would have to get a death certificate here.

J. M. C.

1. Probate would be necessary in order to produce a technically merchantable title to the real estate. Presumably this would necessitate the employment of an attorney unless you can persuade the government officials to waive probate.
2. A probate judge in Hammond, Ind., could not handle a probate matter in southern Indiana, if that is what you mean to ask.
3. Not in all cases. On special facts the proof can be by deposition.
4. Two witnesses.
5. No, in the sense that probate can be entirely dispensed with in some cases.
6. Depends on facts that are not before us.
7. We consider it advisable for you to go over your facts in a personal interview with an attorney if only for the purpose of discussing the feasibility of dispensing with probate.

NEWS OF AIRPLANE ACCIDENTS.

Chicago, Dec. 31.—An editorial in today's TRIBUNE, "Suppression of Public Information," refers to a report that employés of an air line sought to prevent photographs being taken of the accident at Dallas. The editorial asks if responsible executives of the company in question encourage such conduct.

While I cannot speak for that organization, I notice that its president expressed regret that an employé took that position, and this letter is written to state that United Air Lines has a definite policy in making available to newspapers immediately complete information if and when an accident occurs. I think your Mr. Wayne Thomis will tell you of United's frank policy. I might say that this company today received a round robin, signed by Los Angeles newspaper men, wire syndicate men and photographers, commending us for the manner in which we handled the press in connection with our recent accident at Los Angeles.

This policy is prompted by two thoughts: First, the public is entitled to the information. Second, if an airline establishes confidence with the press it has a right to expect that the press will contact it before publishing reports about airlines, many of which are erroneous and which, if printed without verification, do an injustice to the airline and constitute false reporting. I recall a recent "thriller" written about a landing with the landing gear up. If the reporter had checked it he would have found that the airplane was designed and built to take care of that situation, and when this landing gear would not go down and the plane was landed "on its belly," the first landing in 8,000 that this happened, it was a routine incident. If this reporter, who was living in a city other than Chicago, had inquired of the airline he probably would not have written this scare story.

Another reason we like to have the confidence of the press and be given the opportunity to check rumors if and when accidents occur is that this enables us to scotch the publicity hounds who always attach themselves to an airplane accident and try to get their names in the paper by capitalizing on the mishap. For instance, we know definitly that our Los Angeles accident occurred at 7:38 p. m., yet as late as 11 p. m. people were phoning newspapers that they heard the plane; saw it crash—in one case sixty miles from where it was found; that one of the passengers carried a money belt with thousands of dollars of uncut diamonds; all of which were untrue.

Certainly, United Air Lines has every reason to put on all restrictions necessary to insure safe operation. Aside from the loss of life and the monetary cost in equipment and damages, an accident such as we have experienced at Los Angeles costs us hundreds of thousands of dollars in revenue due to the dramatization of the accident and the fear created in the minds of the public. Our Los Angeles-San Francisco business, for instance, is less than half what it was prior to the accident. I cite this to show that over and above our desire to preserve human life, we have a tremendous pocketbook interest in safe operation.

We had flown 20 million plane miles without injury to a passenger since the last accident. Pending the department of commerce inquiry, I can only say that the pilot had 8,000 hours experience; had been on the run for many months; the plane was functioning perfectly, and evidently his radio was; the weather report at the time of the accident showed there was 3,000 foot ceiling and 10 miles visibility at Burbank airport, and that other planes made the same flight at approximately the same time in safety. I feel that the investigation to date does not show that we were taking chances.

I have written in this detail to let you know definitly what our policy is in respect to newspapers and accidents.

W. A. PATTERSON,
President, United Air Lines.

THE COMMUTER'S CORNER.

Chicago, Jan. 7.—I would like to know why the Rock Island Lines go to the expense and trouble of compiling and issuing their so-called time tables in connection with suburban service. It would be much more simple for a person merely to go to the nearest station, take along a book and a bite of lunch, and patiently wait for the train to come creeping in.

For some time I have been using the Rock Island suburban train from Hamilton Park to 91st and Beverly. Their train, which is scheduled to arrive at Hamilton Park from the La Salle street station at 7:30 p. m., seldom arrives at Hamilton Park until 7:37 or 7:40, while it is due at 91st and Beverly at 7:40.

During the morning I have been riding the Rock Island train from Hamilton Park to La Salle street station. The train leaving Hamilton Park at 8:21 is due at La Salle street at 8:37. However, it more often arrives at 8:50 a. m. Even the trains leaving La Salle street cannot be depended on. A few weeks ago I boarded the 4:40 train from La Salle street and it did not leave the station until 5:10 p. m. GEORGE DAMON.

MACK SENNETT COMES TO EVANSTON.

Evanston, Ill., Jan. 8.—Have you ever ridden in an Evanston autobus, that jerky, jiggly contraption which has replaced a good street car service? Here is a sample of bus sociability, telescoped:

I sat down violently in the lap of a corpulent Chicago lady just as a mildly protesting young lady visitor from Kalamazoo jumped clear over nine seats and sat down on a minister's plug hat with such girlish enthusiasm that the hat went zing over his shoulders, while an ashy young fellow with a ratty valise left his own and sat in somebody's lunch basket. And I saw an old man, who was eating a piece of custard pie when we abruptly jerked to a stop, go over to the other end of the car and stick the pie into the ear of a beautiful widow. Then I pulled a [illegible] to the ceiling and fell off the bus at my street corner.

Do we get our street cars back? I want to know. V. E.

THE CIO EXPLAINED.

Chicago, Jan. 7.—Why is Mr. Lewis so intent on organizing these big industries? My guess is that the President wants him to do it. If the workers in these big industries can be organized into strong labor unions then the NRA labor code can be imposed upon them in the form of union rules.

Thus, at least, a part of the NRA, so dear to the heart of the President, will have been restored, regardless of the Supreme court. I think Mr. Lewis is merely acting as a front for the President. J. H. ANDRESEN.

WPA'S 'NEW' ART LOOKS BIT WORN AS EXHIBIT OPENS

'Horizons' Disappointing; Early Birds Catch On!

BY MARCIA WINN.

That surprising collection of works of art, widely heralded as "New Horizons in American Art," was placed on exhibition yesterday in the Garfield park art galleries.

The word "surprising" is used purposefully, in view of the reaction of early bird visitors to the exhibit, which will run for three weeks. They had thought to find something grotesque, baroque or too utterly vague for common understanding in those "new horizons," and were a little disappointed when they didn't—except in about six instances.

It's Just a Sample.

The exhibition, coming here from the Museum of Modern Art in New York city, contains 60 specimens of work done under the WPA federal art project in its first year. From the appalling number of paintings, sketches and murals executed under federal auspices [and 5,300 artists are still making more of them], the total of 60 representative items was culled.

The Chicago showing, therefore, represent the crème de la crème of the entire enterprise. In its "new horizons" is a gentle blending of modernism, abstract painting and just plain old fashioned art.

Fifteen Illinois artists are represented in the collection, the most startling work [from a strictly lay viewpoint] being a water color, "The Dispossessed," by Joseph Vavak, and water color studies for two of four panels, "The Elements," done for the Gordon school, Lake Forest, by Ralf Henricksen.

A Tenement Comes Down.

"The Dispossessed" shows a two story tenement in the process of being dismantled. The entire front and part of the roof already are gone, and workmen tear at the walls. In the foreground Negro women sidle away with pieces of timber, while in an upper room, barren of furniture, sits a woman holding her baby.

Others of the Illinois artists treated regional subject matter. Raymond Breinen is represented by "Landscape" and "Lonesome Farm," both prairie scenes [although the prairie is a turbulent peacock blue in one and a soot gray in another]. Mitchell Siporin shows "Prairie Poets," a lean old farmer and his lean family sitting in the middle of the prairie [brown and rolling here] while a langy musician, with flowing white hair, strums a mandolin, and a poet holds a book.

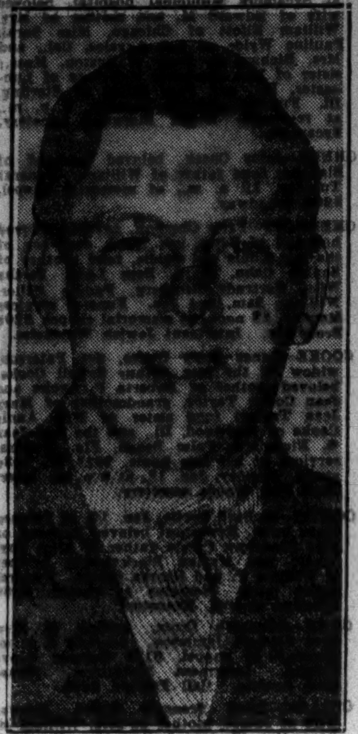
And a Pioneer Scene.

"Early Farmers" by Karl Kelpe, one of two panels for the Hawthorne school in Oak Park, shows a colorful pioneer scene.

"Village Square" by William Shwartz stands out boldly in the galleries, executed in round curves and rich, luxuriant greens and rose. Aaron Bohrod's "Landscape in Winter" shows pink skyscraper, pale yellow building and pale blue truck with much snow and ice.

Of all the paintings, only one is whole hog modernistic. This is an oil by Emmet Edwards of New York, which one visitor loudly termed "just a jig saw puzzle." And it, happily, was entitled "Abstraction."

JUNGLE HUNTER



Orlando Weber Jr., age 17, son of the president of Allied Chemical and Dye corporation, will sail Thursday to Venezuela with a $20,000 expedition which he organized to hunt the rare umbrella bird for the New York Zoological garden. "I'll never bother with business," he said. "I'm an ornithologist."

HOOVER APPEALS FOR RATIFYING OF CHILD LABOR LAW

Palo Alto, Cal., Jan. 10.—(AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover today joined President Roosevelt in urging ratification of the child labor constitutional amendment.

"The major reason for its ratification is the rights of children to health and a fair chance," the former President said in a statement, "but it is also important that we have orderly constitutional change instead of pressure on the independence of the Supreme court."

The statement was the first formal one issued here by Mr. Hoover since the presidential election last November, prior to which he frequently attacked the administration in speeches on behalf of Gov. Alf M. Landon.

Mr. Hoover said the child labor amendment, upon which the President urged legislative action this winter in messages Friday to officials of nineteen states, already has been ratified by states covering a majority of the country's population.

The amendment, needing ratification by twelve more states, would give congress power to regulate or prohibit the labor of persons under 18 years of age.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

Crop Reports

January 10, 1937.

COLD WEATHER during the latter part of December and the first part of January apparently has not harmed fall sown small grains such as wheat and rye in northern Illinois, according to observations of men on the Tribune's experimental farms near Yorkville and Wheaton and inquiries of crop reporters.

Clover, alfalfa, timothy, and similar crops seeded in 1936 have not been hurt by the unseasonably warm midwinter weather.

Many farmers hoped that recent weather conditions would kill off at least some of the chinch bugs in their winter quarters. It is the opinion of experts that, while the weather has been mild, it has not been sufficiently warm to start disease in the hibernating chinch bugs.

Wheat and Rye Above Par.

The condition of wheat and rye sown on the Tribune farm last fall is above average for this time of the year. In fact, the condition of these two small sown grains in other parts of the state is generally up to the average or above, according to midwinter reports.

The weather at times has been so warm lately that both fall sown wheat and rye fields are green on THE TRIBUNE farms. Veteran growers of small grain say they are not worried about the mild weather so far. They point out that it is the changes in day and night temperatures in late winter and early spring that cause the serious damage to fall sown small grains. Small grain crops are killed when the fields thaw out during the day so that the surface soil around the roots of wheat and rye plants becomes soft and then freezes hard at night. This results in "heaving"—the roots are injured by alternate freezing and thawing which lifts the plants out of their normal position in the soil.

In the communities near the Tribune farms in northern Illinois some clover survived the last drouth. Farmers in this region fared better than growers in the central and southern parts of the state where there has not been so much rain.

Illinois farmers are in bad shape for hay this year. They will be short on clover, alfalfa, and timothy as a result of last summer's unfavorable weather for the establishment of new seedings.

Tribune farms suffered heavy losses in new seedings of legume hay crops last summer. This shortage on these farms, as well as others in the state, will be offset to some extent through the growing of soy beans for hay next summer. Many farmers, no doubt, will increase their oat acreage and harvest some of the crop for hay.

So far farmers consider themselves fortunate that the heavy rains in this section were absorbed by the soil and not left to freeze on the surface and cover the winter crops with sheets of ice to injure plants.

GEN. ABEL DAVIS IS BURIED WITH MILITARY HONORS

Notables Are at Armory; Brigade Parades.

Abel Davis, one of Chicago's foremost citizen soldiers and chairman of the board of the Chicago Title and Trust company, was buried with full military honors yesterday in Rosehill cemetery after services in the 131st Infantry armory at 16th street and Michigan avenue.

Mr. Davis, a lifelong resident of the city, died at the age of 58 Thursday in his home at 600 Sheridan road, Glencoe. He held the rank of major-general, retired, in the Illinois National Guard, and was a veteran of the Spanish-American and world wars.

From 9 a. m. until services in the afternoon his body lay in state under military guard in the armory. On the coffin rested his military cap and saber. Nearby was a floral wreath in the form of the insignia of the 33d National Guard division.

Taking part in the solemn military ceremony was a provisional brigade, composed of Black Horse troop detachments, the 131st and 132d infantry and the 122d field artillery; 60 color units of the American Legion, members of the Military Order of the Purple Heart, Spanish-American war veterans, and the Chicago police drum and bugle corps.

Friends Crowd Armory.

Hundreds of business associates and friends crowded into the spacious armory for the services. Rabbi Charles E. Schulman of the North Shore Congregation Israel in Glencoe, assisted by Maj. Arthur E. Ewert, chaplain of the 33d division, officiated. Gov. Horner spoke in eulogy of his friend.

From the armory the funeral procession moved north in Michigan avenue to the sound of muffled drums. First came the Black Horse troop, followed by the remainder of the military escort, the American Legion color units, the police band, and Col. Francis M. Allen of the 131st infantry, commander of the military escort, and his staff. Then came the caisson bearing the body of Mr. Davis.

Beside the caisson marched the pallbearers. Then came a guardsman bearing the many medals awarded to Mr. Davis, including the Distinguished Service Cross, the French Legion of Honor, and the gold honor medal given for fifteen years service in the Illinois National Guard.

Boots and Sabers Reversed.

Led by Sergt. A. Wagner came Mr. Davis' horse, Topsy. In military ritual signifying Mr. Davis' death, his boots and spurs together with his sabers were mounted and turned to the rear. The widow, Mrs. Marjorie Davis, members of the family, and other close friends followed in automobiles.

Along Michigan avenue thousands of onlookers bared their heads at the passing of the funeral procession. At Jackson boulevard the cortège halted while the body of Mr. Davis was transferred to the herse which bore it to the cemetery, where three volleys and the sounding of taps marked the burial ceremony.

Officers Pallbearers.

The eight active pallbearers, fellow officers of Mr. Davis, were: Roy D. Keehn, commander of the 33d division of the Illinois National Guard; Lawrence Regan, Frank V. Schwengle, John V. Clinnin, and John J. Garrity, four retired general officers of the National Guard; Samuel T. Lawton, commander of the 58th field artillery brigade; Thomas Hammond, commander of the 66th field infantry brigade, and Carlos E. Black, state adjutant general.

Among the honorary pallbearers were Gov. Horner, United States Senator James Hamilton Lewis; Howard Savage, past national commander of the American Legion, and Ferre Watkins, past state commander of the Legion.

SAMUEL FLOOD, ENGINEER, DIES IN KENILWORTH

Samuel Douglas Flood, 69 years old, a retired consulting engineer and a native of Chicago, died yesterday in his home at 133 Kenilworth avenue, Kenilworth. His son, Samuel D. Flood Jr., is now on the high seas bound for Barcelona, Spain, to become United States vice-consul there.

Mr. Flood was a son of the late Dr. James R. Flood, pioneer Chicago physician. He was graduated from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and served as an ensign in the United States navy during the Spanish-American war.

Funeral services will be held at the home at 2 p. m. today. Burial will be private in Graceland. Surviving Mr. Flood are his widow, Edna, the son and a daughter, Mrs. R. H. Gardner, of Winnetka.

Mrs. Josephine Jones, 92, Is Dead in Kenilworth

Mrs. Josephine Jones, 92 years old, a resident of the north shore for more than 30 years, died yesterday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lulah Pedigo, 115 Robsart road, Kenilworth, wife of Lee M. Pedigo, president of the Chapell Ice Cream company. Mrs. Jones was born in Augusta, Ga. Surviving, besides Mrs. Pedigo, is a son, John H. Jones, of Memphis, Tenn. LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Tap o' the Morning, Captain

MORNING, CAPTAIN—
MORNING, CHUCK— NICE MORNING—
GEE—THERE'S CAPTAIN CUFF, HAVIN' A LOOK AROUND—HERE COMES OLD "BLINKEY," TAPPIN' ALONG— I ALWAYS GET A KICK OUTA TH' WAY SHE HANDLES THAT CANE—YOU'D ALMOST THINK SHE WAS PLAYIN' A TUNE WITH IT—
WHERE DID CAPTAIN CUFF GO? OH, THERE HE IS, LOOKIN' IN THAT VACANT STORE WINDOW——— WRITIN' IN A LITTLE BOOK— BUT WHAT? MAYBE SOMETHIN' JUST CAME TO HIM, AND HE'S WRITIN' IT DOWN—
SHUX! GUESS I GOT TOO MUCH 'MAGINATION— BUT TH' WAY HIS HEAD WAS COCKED ON ONE SIDE, IT SEEMED ALMOST AS IF HE WAS LISTENIN' TO A MESSAGE— BUT THAT'S SILLY, O' COURSE—
FOR RENT

IN A LAST DESPERATE EFFORT TO AVOID HAVING TO MARRY ONE OF THE DRAGON LADY'S SLAVE GIRLS, PAT RYAN IS UNMERCIFULLY BEATEN BY PYZON'S TROOPS... MEANWHILE, THE WOMEN HAVE ARRIVED FOR THE LOTTERY
KEEP RYAN WELL GUARDED IN THE NEXT ROOM!—BEAT HIM DOWN AGAIN IF HE RESISTS!
A PLEASURE, MASTER!
AND NOW, LADIES, YOU WILL BE SHOWN TO YOUR QUARTERS TO WAIT UNTIL THE GREAT LOTTERY BEGINS!
WE OBEY, HIGHNESS!

JULIUS STIEGLITZ DIES; NOTED U. OF CHICAGO CHEMIST

43 Years at University; Pneumonia Fatal.

Dr. Julius Stieglitz, 6026 Kenwood avenue, noted chemist and retired administrative head of the department of chemistry at the University of Chicago, died of pneumonia and complications at Chicago Memorial hospital yesterday morning. He was 69 years old.

Dr. Stieglitz was associated with the university for 43 years. He retired from active duty in September, 1933, but remained as a lecturer and research worker. He was noted for his investigations in organic chemistry and his application of physical chemistry in this field.

Awarded Gibbs Medal.

The Chicago section of the American Chemical society in 1923 presented Dr. Stieglitz the Willard Gibbs medal, given annually for research in pure or applied chemistry. Another to share this honor was Mme. Marie Curie, discoverer of radium.

Dr. Stieglitz was born at Hoboken, N. J., in 1867 and was educated there and in the University of Berlin. He did postgraduate work at the University of Pittsburgh and Clark university and came to Chicago in 1891.

During the world war he was credited with developing a process which released America from dependence on Germany for coal tar dyes. He also invented a gas bomb.

Brother of Photographer.

Dr. Stieglitz was a brother of Alfred Stieglitz, widely known New York photographer and editor.

Dr. Stieglitz's first wife, the former Anna Stieffel of Karlsruhe, Germany, died in December, 1932. In August, 1934, he was married to Miss Mary M. Rising, an associate professor in the university's chemistry department.

Besides the widow, Dr. Stieglitz is survived by a son, a daughter, and an adopted daughter, Katherine. The son and daughter, both physicians, are Dr. Edward J., an assistant professor at the Rush Medical school, and Dr. Hedwig Stieglitz-Kuhn of Hammond, Ind.

MISS TOPPING, 28 YEARS NURSE AT FERRY HALL, DIES

Miss Margaret Lois Topping, for twenty-eight years the trained nurse on duty at Ferry hall in Lake Forest, and known to hundreds of former students there, died suddenly yesterday in Ferry hall infirmary.

Friends said last night that the heavy work of caring for numerous influenza cases had contributed to her death. Heart disease was the immediate cause.

Miss Topping was born in Worthington, Ind., sixty-three years ago. She is survived by a sister, Mrs. W. S. Moore of Wilmette. Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow in the chapel at 1118 Greenleaf avenue, Wilmette. Burial will be in Memorial Park cemetery.

CLARENCE EDDY FUNERAL TO BE HELD TOMORROW

Organist Active Here Half a Century.

Funeral services for Clarence Eddy, famed organist who died early yesterday in his apartment at 33 East Elm street, will be held at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow in Thorne hall, on the McKinlock campus of Northwestern university. Cremation will follow.

The body will lie in state, in the chapel at 810 North Clark street, until shortly before the funeral.

Mr. Eddy, whose name has been associated with Chicago musical history for more than half a century, was 86 years old. Heart disease caused his death.

Gave First Concert at 12.

Mr. Eddy was born in Greenfield, Mass., and gave his first concert there when 12 years old. He studied in Berlin and became a friend of Franz Liszt and other famous composers. In 1873 he played at the Vienna exposition and subsequently appeared at practically every major exposition until the one in San Francisco in 1915.

Mr. Eddy came to live in Chicago in the early 1870's. He taught in the Hershey School of Music and in July, 1879, married its conductor, Miss Sarah Hershey. They went to Europe while Mr. Eddy completed his musical education. The bride inherited a fortune from her father shortly after the wedding.

After a series of concert tours, which took him all over the world and back to Chicago, Mr. Eddy went with his wife to Paris, where they lived for eight years. He returned to Chicago in June, 1903, and astonished friends with the declaration that he never again intended to live here.

"Chicago is not an art center," he said. "New York is. I will sail for Europe in about a week. If I return, I will not take up residence here."

Returns to Chicago.

But he changed his mind. Following concert tours to Germany, Austria, Switzerland, and Holland, he came back to Chicago and resumed his place among the city's famous musicians. He gave more than 400 recitals in Chicago, including a series of 100 programs in which he repeated no composition.

He was divorced in 1906, in Pierre, S. D. Within a year he married Mrs. Grace Patterson Dickman, a vocalist. Both wives are now dead.

Concert authorities said Mr. Eddy probably played to more audiences than any other organist in America.

Mrs. Florence Boyd, Wife of Loyola Professor, Dies

Mrs. Florence Boyd, 910 Golf road, Wheaton, wife of Dr. Theodore E. Boyd, chairman of the department of psychology and pharmacology at Loyola university medical school, died yesterday after a long illness in the Zace sanitarium, Winfield, Du Page county. She was 39 years old and was married to Dr. Boyd in 1921. Surviving Mrs. Boyd beside her husband are two children, Alice and Theodore Jr. Funeral services and burial will be in Sparta, Wis., Mrs. Boyd's birthplace.

ROBERT H. M'ADOO, 38, SON OF U. S. SENATOR, DIES IN NEW YORK

New York, Jan. 10.—(AP)—Robert H. McAdoo, 38 year old son of United States Senator William Gibbs McAdoo, died at his home here tonight of pneumonia. He had been ill since Wednesday. The senator was at the bedside.

The son was in the investment banking and insurance business. At the age of eighteen, when the United States entered the world war, he enlisted in the navy.

He later was transferred to naval aviation and was about to obtain his pilot's commission when the armistice was signed.

Afterward, he studied at Princeton university for three years and then entered Babson institute. From the latter school of business near Boston, he entered offices here.

McAdoo was a son of the thrice-married senator, and his first wife, the former Sarah H. Fleming of Chattanooga, Tenn., who died in 1912.

FIGHTING COLDS!

How to reduce the suffering time and discomfort in "COLD" season

The best way to cut down the suffering time and discomfort due to colds, is by intelligent care.

Try above all else to clear the head, dry the secretions, reduce the fever and keep the bowels open. This takes more than a "few minutes" and medicine of more than one kind.

You can get the necessary medicines of any druggist, by asking for Pape's Cold Compound which combines them in a pleasant tablet.

The misery and discomfort of an ordinary cold may be relieved with two of these little tablets; just chew them up, and drink some water.

Some cases may require additional treatment. If so, follow directions on the package. Isn't it worth the time to do this, if you get real relief?

Don't put any faith in so-called "instant cures." Pape's Cold Compound brings relief as quickly as anything you could safely take.

WILL YOU BE bald?

FIVE YEARS FROM NOW

ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

MR. ROBOT BETS $150 HE'LL BEAT YOU AT CHESS!

Coin Machine Makers to Take Him Up.

A robot, controled by a photo-electric cell, which takes on all comers at chess and checkers is one of the exhibits which will be on display at the ninth annual convention of the National Association of Coin Operated Machine Manufacturers opening at the Hotel Sherman today. The association is offering a $150 reward to any person who can beat the robot at these games during the convention which ends Thursday.

A person competing against the mechanical man holds the chessmen or checkers in his hands and places one of them in a move on the board. The robot also has chessmen or checkers in his mechanical hand.

Right Move, But How?

After his opponent has moved, the correct responding move is dictated to the robot by a complicated system of gears operating on the electric eye principle. The robot's move is then made and the full game is played out in this fashion.

This automaton display is not intended for commercial use, but there are 238 other exhibits at the convention for coaxing small coins from the pockets of the public.

One of the most ingenious devices is a new baseball game machine. After the coin has been inserted, a ball is thrown to the pitcher by the umpire. The mechanical pitcher then hurls it toward the plate and the person playing the machine has the option of letting the ball go by, or pressing a lever which brings a bat into action. If the pitch is allowed to go by, it registers as a ball or strike, depending on how it crosses the plate.

It's a Hit! Maybe.

If the bat swings, the ball will be propelled into one of many pockets, registering a hit, a foul, an out, a double play or any of the other plays in baseball. For his coin, the player operates the machine until three outs have been recorded.

Jerome [Dizzy] Dean, star pitcher of the St. Louis Cardinals, will arrive in Chicago this morning to dedicate the new baseball game.

More than 8,000 operators and delegates from state associations will attend the convention.

NYE ADVOCATES U. S. AMENDMENT FOR NEUTRALITY

New York, Jan. 10.—[Special.]—United States Senator Gerald P. Nye of North Dakota declared today this nation's only hope of true neutrality lay in arousing public opinion in favor of a constitutional amendment that would enable and compel government officials to withstand pressure of interested banking and munitions groups. He spoke at a meeting of the Community church in Town Hall.

"Such an amendment," Nye explained, "would destroy the double standard by which, when we go to war, a life is not worth a snap of the fingers, while property alone is sacred. We have learned by experience that only an amendment providing for conscription of property can prevent the clamor of war profiteers to be sheltered by the 'due process' clause."

Senator Nye said that a further provision would require a public referendum on any proposed declaration of war when this country is not being attacked by a foreign foe.

FLOWERS TOSSED AT JULIANA AND PRINCE IN POLAND

KRYNICA, Poland, Jan. 10.—(AP)—Hopes of the royal newlyweds—Crown Princess Juliana of the Netherlands and Prince Bernhard zu Lippe-Biesterfeld—for a quiet honeymoon incognito were shattered on their first day here.

The royal couple was recognized immediately at a hocky match late today. Spectators cheered and threw flowers.

The newlyweds arrived from Berlin late last night but early today Juliana appeared in a blue ski suit with a blue cap. Her husband was dressed in a gray outfit. They skied until noon, lunched and then went to the hocky match. Their honeymoon here is expected to continue for three weeks.

FIND 350 A YEAR GO INSANE FROM SYPHILIS HERE

General paralysis, induced by syphilis, is one of the principal single causes of insanity in Chicago, sending at least 350 victims to institutions every year. This figure was contained in a statistical study of the ravages of the disease made public yesterday by a group of University of Chicago scientists.

About 250 out of every 100,000 persons in the more depressed areas of the city are found to be victims of this plague, according to a study of public hospitals covering the years 1922 to 1931, inclusive. In sharp contrast is the rate of only 70 victims in every 100,000 residents of the city's residential districts.

These figures were compiled by H. W. Dunham Jr., research assistant of the university's department of sociology.

You give a child blocks to amuse him or teach him how to handle things, but to him they mean much more. They may seem to you just square or oblong pieces of wood which he rather pointlessly piles up and perhaps knocks down again, or walks away from and forgets.

But for a short while he has had the power to erect skyscrapers, own farms and houses and railways. They have given him a glimpse into all sorts of exciting adventures in the grownup world.

When I recall certain baby and early childhood days in my experience as a mother, the picture that comes to me of playtime so often has blocks in it—a little figure making bridges and garages and farmyard fences with big wooden blocks, piling them high into towering structures, placing them end on end in a long roadway, and using them in connection with other toys, such as animals, trains, and trucks.

Blocks, of course, should be of the right size and shape, and should be gradually increased in number. This was not always easy. Not so many years ago, one could not buy the sort of blocks a child needed. I remember standing over the carpenter at his bench, supervising the lumber he was to use and the sizes into which he was to cut it to make the kind of blocks I could not buy.

Parents are more fortunate today. Huge blocks [hollow so as not to be too heavy] may be had for the youngest builder, and smaller ones in units and multiples of units for the older children.

In connection with this article we have a fully written leaflet, "Exact Dimensions of Blocks for Young Builders," which will be sent on receipt of a large 3-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request.

Culbertson's "Gold Book of Bidding and Play"

[Copyright: 1937: By Ely Culbertson.]

The following situations [in addition to those already covered] are exceptions to the rule that "any bid in a suit not previously bid is forcing for one round."

1. A rebid by either partner at the level of two in a suit is not forcing.

South	West	North	East
1 spade	Pass	2 clubs	Pass
2 hearts [not forcing]

2. A take-out of an opening suit bid in a new suit is not forcing when made by a player who has passed originally.

South	West	North	East
Pass	Pass	1 heart	Pass
2 diamonds [not forcing]

South has shown by passing at first that he has less than the strength needed for an opening bid. In view of this fact, North may decide that game is impossible and may pass the response.

3. A take-out with a three bid, when it is a jump of more than one trick, is not forcing. It is a shut-out bid.

South	West	North	East
1 diamond	Pass	3 spades	Pass

4. A suit take-out of an opening no trump bid is not forcing.

South	West	North	East
1 no trump	Pass	2 hearts

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 heart	2 spades	3 diamonds	Pass
3 hearts	Pass	3 spades	Pass
4 diamonds	Pass	4 no trump	Pass
5 no trump	Pass	6 no trump	Pass
7 no trump	Pass	Pass	Pass

North-South were not using asking bids, hence South's overcall of the opponents' suits was a cue bid showing first round control. Incidentally, East's two spade bid over one heart obviously was a semi-psychic designed to impress the opponents with more strength than actually was held. South realized that the strength of his hand depended to a large degree on whether or not North could solidify the seven card diamond suit, and he realized that there was a much better chance to get this information by a simple overcall of the spade than by jumping. North, of course, had to rebid his hearts on the second round, but when his partner's belated cue bid in spades reached him, certain facts became apparent. South had not overcalled in the opponents' suit at his first opportunity, therefore could not have a "fit" with the hearts, but now he was trying to show a good hand and obviously seeking information. North's diamond raise at this point was an excellent bid. In no other way could South be assured that his long diamond suit would come home solidly. The Four-Five No Trump Convention located all the aces, and over South's six no trump North gave the matter considerable thought. His final grand slam bid was based on a single theory, namely, that his own bidding had failed to disclose the extra playing tricks he held in the heart suit. He knew that South could not count him for any better than the ace-king and small hearts. The addition of the queen, therefore, would be a full trick more than South had expected.

Reward for the good bidding was that the grand slam was a laydown.

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question: I opened the bidding with one heart on ♠K95 ♥KQJ108643 ♦K ♣7. My partner said I should have opened with four hearts or passed. Who was right?

Applique Quilt Captures Beauty of Hummingbirds

Hummingbirds.

BY NANCY CABOT.

With all the grace and beauty of brilliantly colored hummingbirds the applique block, "Hummingbirds," has faithfully reproduced the fleet wing action of the birds in flight. A combination of printed and plain materials may be used to produce the effect of the constant flutter of the wings when these lovely birds are partaking of the nectar of roses. The plain materials produce the effect of the birds in repose. There is a word of warning which must be heeded. The pattern is an intricate design and requires experience and great care to make it the effective coverlet desired.

Broccoli and its cousin, cauliflower, may be prepared in much the same way. The same precautions apply of soaking in cold water to remove insects, if there should be any present, and of cooking for a short time. Discarding the heavy leaves and tougher parts of the broccoli stalk makes this vegetable more palatable. A cold water bath of an hour won't hurt cauliflower, but a 20 minute bath is sufficient for broccoli.

The preferred way to cook cauliflower is not to separate the flowerets, but to cook the head whole and to carry it to the table whole, with an appropriate sauce or garnish.

Broccoli Hollandaise.

[Serves 3 or 4]

1 pound broccoli
½ cup butter
2 egg yolks
1 teaspoon lemon juice
¼ teaspoon salt
Sprinkling of cayenne pepper

Clean the broccoli, cut off all heavy leaves and tough portions of the stem, soak for 20 minutes in cold water, and cook in lightly salted boiling water only until tender, about 15 or 20 minutes. The pan should be uncovered. Drain the broccoli, but keep it in a warm place or in a pan of hot water while preparing the sauce.

Divide the butter into three parts. Melt one part in the top of a double boiler, adding the lemon juice and beaten egg yolks. Stir constantly and add the second piece of butter after 5 minutes. Stir until well blended, remove from fire, and add remaining butter and seasonings. Pour over the hot broccoli and serve at once.

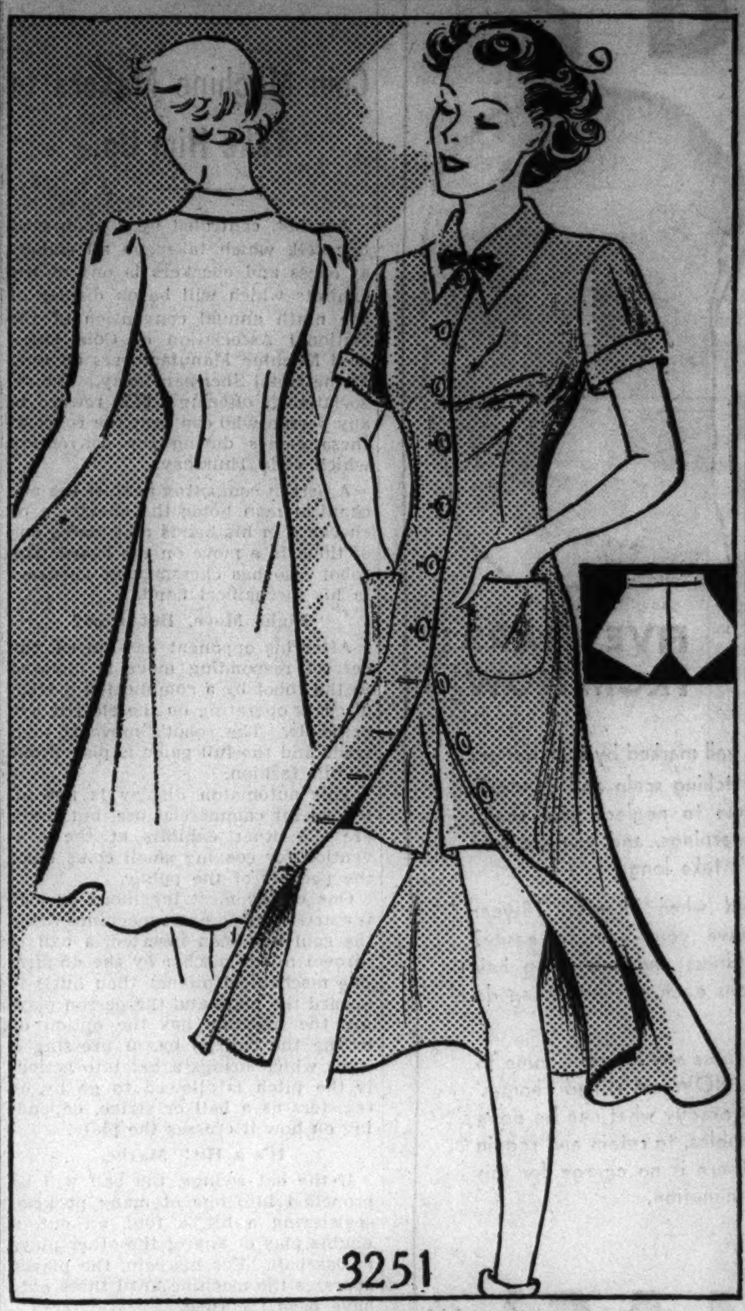
Cauliflower au Gratin.

[Serves 4 or 5]

1 medium cauliflower
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons flour
¼ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 cup milk
½ cup grated cheese
3 tablespoons fine crums, buttered

Remove all but a single row of leaves around the cauliflower head, soak it in cold water 1 hour, and cook uncovered in lightly salted boiling water until barely tender, about 25 minutes. Melt the butter or margarine, add the flour, salt and pepper, and the milk gradually, making a smooth sauce. Place the cauliflower in a buttered baking dish, pour the sauce over it, sprinkle with the grated cheese and buttered crums, and place in a moderate oven [350 degrees] for a few minutes, until the crums are brown. Serve at once.

Play Togs for Sunny Climes



WOMAN'S AND MISS' RESORT ENSEMBLE.

Going south? If so, you're going to need an ample supply of play togs, including crisp cotton or linen shorts with matching "topper." One of the latest and best ideas for attire down where the sun shines brightly is an ensemble consisting of a princess dress and matching shorts. This type of outfit is successor to the "play suit" popularized last summer, and we think it is a definite improvement in both chic and practicality. The dress is pretty in itself, and may be worn informally to town for shopping tours and when one is on the boardwalks. In spite of its decorum, this kind of ensemble is perfect for play hours, too, because it goes in a big way for tennis, beach wear, cycling, and hiking.

The dress is a princess model that buttons all the way down the front. It has a shirtwaist collar, a nipped-in waistline, beautifully fitted hipline, and trimly tailored sleeves. Two patch pockets lend smartness and are useful, too.

The shorts are cut for comfort, although they are not bulky. Every inch is tailored with precision.

All the bright cottons and linens which fashion is sponsoring for resort and cruise wear are ideal for this ensemble. The gayer the colors and patterns the better! The outfit is so designed that even mature figures may wear patterned fabrics without detriment to the silhouette.

In case you're unfortunate, like us, and have to stay in town this winter, you might give yourself and your wardrobe a tonic by making the princess dress part of this pattern in bright woolen. You will be surprised what it will do for the spirits!

Style No. 3251 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 4⅝ yards of 39 inch material for the entire outfit.

Use 'Arabian Nights' Setting in Cantor Film

Former Story Shelved for Burlesque Theme.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 10.—[Special.]—Producer Walter Wanger recorded the first bid for the name of "Arabian Nights" for a movie but the idea of filming a story based on some of the tales has occurred in other quarters.

EDDIE CANTOR.
[As he might look in rôle of Ali Baba.]

Gene Fowler, one time newspaper editor of New York and Denver, conceived the idea of filming Eddie Cantor as Ali Baba or Aladdin. The mental picture of the pop-eyed comedian trying to talk some hard boiled sultan out of executing him so delighted Fowler and Cantor's producer, Darryl Zanuck, that the later is now shelving Cantor's previously announced film and concentrating on the comedy aspects of "The Thousand and One Nights."

Producer Wanger has had Novelist Harold Lamb at work on research for "Arabian Nights" for many months. Wanger's story will be more of an adventure fantasy and a color spectacle than the Eddie Cantor version. Charles Boyer, Henry Fonda, Madeleine Carroll and Sylvia Sidney will appear in the Wanger film.

Aline MacMahon insisted upon withdrawing from Paramount's "The Years Are So Long" and will be replaced by Fay Bainter, who was signed up by long distance and directed to fly from New York. Miss MacMahon didn't say why she quit the picture.

A great deal of resentment was aroused in the film colony because of the publication in a picture magazine of a series of old photographs of one of the leading film stars so reproduced as to direct belittling attention to the actress.

The immediate result has been a tightening by headquarters of the Hays office of censorship of all outgoing photographs from film studios. The Hays office insists on seeing every still photograph which is made inside the walls of a studio and will permit the public to see only such as the Hays censors officially stamp "approved."

Some of the photos which appeared in the magazine that angered Hollywood's sense of fair dealing were photos of a current star taken about 12 years ago and they would put the actress in a false light if accepted by magazine readers as an indication of her current shape, slimness and public taste.

Mary Rogers Ill; Loses Part.

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 10.—(AP)—Because of influenza, Mary Rogers, daughter of the late Will Rogers, has been replaced in what was to have been her first movie by Elizabeth Allen. She has been ordered to the desert to recuperate.

Plays Sibelius' Fifth Symphony Here First Time

Illinois Orchestra Makes Itself Vitalizing Agency.

BY CECIL M. SMITH.

The Illinois Symphony orchestra, playing at the Great Northern theater, became a new and vitalizing agency in Chicago music yesterday afternoon by presenting the first local performance of Sibelius' Fifth symphony.

Most of the music of Sibelius which we have heard has come from the Finnish composer's earlier and more conservative years. The Fifth symphony shows him confident and mature, casting aside the theatricalism of the Second symphony, yet still writing with superb gusto.

Some critics have suggested that Sibelius ten years from now will occupy the position of Tschaikowsky in the affections of popular audiences. Yesterday's revelation lent little strength to this prediction. For while the Tschaikowsky symphonies are masterpieces of an obvious, if often beautiful, musical form, the Fifth symphony of Sibelius makes new and extraordinary demands upon the listener. With no warning, the first movement plunges into complicated development of themes which have never been stated simply. It is hard work to listen to this symphony, and its rewards are bestowed only upon those who concentrate.

It would be unfortunate to the symphony's future Chicago career, however, to suggest that the symphony is forbidding. The themes themselves are both simple and eloquent. Beneath the intellectual exterior of its form the symphony is full of human warmth.

Isler Solomon conducted the orchestra with sure knowledge of the difficult score. The orchestra was in fine fettle, and quite surpassed its previous accomplishments.

Wanda Paul, a young Chicago pianist, was the soloist of the afternoon. Her capable bravura playing and unusual musical sensitivity made the Paderewski "Polish Fantasy" a better quarter hour than its tiresome content would ordinarily warant.

JOE EMERSON AND CHOIR

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Joe Emerson and his choir, famous among radio listeners for their Hymns of All Churches series, came to Orchestra hall yesterday afternoon to present before a fair sized audience a program of religious music. There were hymns of the Protestant, Catholic and Jewish faiths, and a separate group of Negro spirituals.

Assisting the singer and his twenty-one voice group was Joseph Vito, harpist of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, who played solos and accompaniments both. Noble Cain provided organ backgrounds and William Sumner, piano. Fred Jacky directed.

The work of the choir is effective in its very simplicity. The voices of the men and women who compose it blend beautifully, and, what is just as important, give the impression that each one is being used naturally, without undue straining for a dynamic norm. Their owners have learned, through long experiences in radio, to avoid sudden changes in volume and to keep the line of their singing even.

In his solos Mr. Emerson gives an impression of fervor and intense absorption, but he often sacrifices purely vocal values to these qualities. He will break a phrase or allow a catch in his voice if he feels that the emotional content of the song justifies it.

Joseph Vito, in the three solos that began the afternoon, proved once more his remarkable command of the harp's resources. He is able to make the instrument perfectly intelligible by means of the simple but effective transcriptions he uses. They are probably his own.

Mathilda Ernestine, young Chicago impresario, often offers local artists an opportunity to appear in her Beaux Arts salon series at the Medinah club on Sunday afternoons. Yesterday a friendly audience gathered there to hear Marjorie Wescott, soprano, and Louis Jacobi, tenor, present an informal program that ranged all the way from "I Carry You in My Pocket" to excerpts from grand opera.

WEDDING

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Virginia Rosalind Cragun, daughter of the late John Beach Cragun, former professor of music at the University of Chicago, to Ralph C. Ehrman of Kokomo, Ind., on Saturday evening in Thorndyke Hilton Memorial chapel of the Chicago Theological seminary. A reception and wedding supper were held afterward at the Hotel Windermere East. Mr. and Mrs. Ehrman have gone to Bermuda on their honeymoon, and will make their home in Kokomo.

Graphologist Finds Writer Probably a Procrastinator

BY MURIEL STAFFORD.
[Copyright: 1937: By Muriel Stafford.]

A reader sends a quotation that reads as follows: "Patience is bitter, but it grows a sweet fruit."

Hoping that this reader will not be offended, I must tell her that according to the laws of graphology she is suffering not from patience but from procrastination.

One who is really patient seldom

Patience is bitter - but grows a sweet fruit

finds patience bitter. Those who procrastinate, in spite of an aggressive nature, are the ones who think patience is bitter. A forward slant with sharply pointed m's and n's indicates aggressiveness of an intense kind. The "t-bars" that do not cross the stem indicate procrastination.

Circumstances often cause a situation where the writer is naturally progressive and energetic with much initiative, but is forced to hold back. Then, indeed, does she find patience bitter, but that is because she is not patient by nature.

This is a highly intelligent handwriting and looks very much as if the writer were in some profession. It is small, well spaced, and of medium pressure. The word endings show kindliness.

Now notice the t-bars. They are the procrastinating type that I have mentioned. The writer is putting things off and it is not because she wants to do so, according to the rest of her writing.

Strange as it may seem, I have found that lazy handwritings are not apt to show a tendency to put things off. It must be they never think of anything to do, so they are not mentally procrastinating!

It seems to be in the alert, aggressive handwritings that a tendency to procrastinate is most apt to reveal itself.

There is a story behind this sample of handwriting that I am using today. I do not know the story nor the writer, but I am sure she is being held back in some way from achieving the heights for which she yerns and for which she is well equipped mentally.

NEWS OF THE CHICAGO STAGE

"Mulatto," the drama which began an engagement at the Studebaker theater on Christmas night with James Kirkwood as its star, will end its stay in Chicago next Saturday night. Martin Jones, its producer, plans to move the company to Detroit. He holds a short-term lease on the Studebaker, and his next production there may be a play of his own authorship called "Walk Up."

"It Can't Happen Here," the dramatization of Sinclair Lewis' novel, staged under WPA management at the Blackstone theater, will end its run there on Jan. 23, after a stay of thirteen weeks. The Blackstone will remain closed for a brief period and then will reopen with another WPA dramatic production called "Within These Walls."

Harry Minturn, stage director of WPA dramatic activities at the Blackstone, has taken a short leave of absence to manage the rehersals in San Francisco of the play in which Elaine Barrie, wife of John Barrymore, has a rôle. This piece is called "The Return of Hannibal," and it is scheduled for a première in the Geary theater, San Francisco, on Feb. 1. Others in the cast will be Jerome Lawlor, Helen MacKellar, William Farnum and Fritz Leiber. "The Return of Hannibal" was written by Mrs. J. P. Hutchinson of Philadelphia, poetess and novelist, who is using the pen name, Amory Hare.

Offers of a London engagement next spring are being considered by Jane Cowl, star of "First Lady," now at the Harris theater. Such an arrangement will fit neatly into her plans to attend the coronation of King George VI. of Great Britain.

Tallulah Bankhead will begin a tour in "Reflected Glory" in Boston tonight. Her bookings will bring her into Chicago within two months.

The Chicago première of Katherine Hepburn in "Jane Eyre," a Theater Guild production, will take place in the Erlanger theater tonight. The curtain will rise at 8:30. C. C.

H.P. Chandler Club Speaker.

The joint committee for the merit system of the Woman's City club will hear an address by Henry P. Chandler, president of the Chicago Civil Service association, at 12:30 o'clock tomorrow at the club, 6 North Michigan avenue.

U. S. Jews Pay Tribute Today to Mrs. Solomon

Jewish leaders in more than 200 cities in the United States and Canada will join today in honoring Mrs. Hannah G. Solomon, 951 Hyde Park boulevard, founder of the National Council of Jewish Women, on her 79th birthday. The occasion also will mark the 44th anniversary of the council, which now has more than 40,000 members.

MRS. HANNAH G. SOLOMON.

The Chicago section of the organization, with 1,500 members, will pay tribute to Mrs. Solomon at a luncheon at the Standard club. Mrs. Harry J. Myerson, section president, will describe the founder's contributions to civic and philanthropic life.

The climax of the celebration will be an international radio broadcast in which seventeen women from seven countries will take part. It will be heard over a coast-to-coast network from 3:30 to 4:30 p. m. The Chicago outlet will be WENR. Mrs. Arthur Brin of Minneapolis, the council's national president, and Mrs. Solomon will speak from Chicago.

Mrs. Solomon founded the national council at the close of the 1893 World's Fair.

BY JUDITH CASS.

MR. AND MRS. Harold Eldridge have issued invitations to the wedding reception of their daughter, Barbara, and Edward Alden Rogers, at 5 o'clock Jan. 30 at the Fortnightly, and Miss Eldridge and her fiancé are preparing for a final round of gayeties before their wedding. Five young women will precede Miss Eldridge to the altar at St. Chrysostom's church at 4:30 o'clock, Jan. 30, and Mr. Rogers will have seven attendants, including his father, Edward S. Rogers, who will be best man.

Miss Peggy Eaton of Cleveland will be the maid of honor—last year at this time she and Miss Eldridge were on the high seas bound for Europe where they spent eight months—and Miss Ann Halle, also of Cleveland, Mrs. John C. Walcott of New York, Mrs. Edgar Stanton Jr. [Rosamund Baker], and Miss Peggy Wiley will be bridesmaids. Mrs. Walcott, the former Cornelia Sage, has visited the Eldridges many times.

Mr. Rogers' ushers will include his brother, James H. Rogers, and the bride's brother, Huntington Eldridge; Mr. Stanton Jr., Francis Rew Stanton and John Wallace, who grew up in Winnetka with the bridegroom; and John C. Hogg of Providence, R. I.

One of the first of the parties to be given for Miss Eldridge and Mr. Rogers is the dinner Miss Betty Brawley will give on Jan. 19 before the squash matches at the Woman's Athletic club. The following afternoon the bride's aunt, Mrs. Joseph E. Otis, will give a kitchen shower. Bright blue and white are the colors chosen by Miss Eldridge for the apartment where she and her bridegroom will make their home on the north side.

Mrs. LeRoy Kramer and her daughter, Mrs. Richard M. Lamport, will give a luncheon at the Woman's Athletic club Jan. 22 for Miss Eldridge, and Miss Marion Gordon will give a dinner at home that night. Miss Wiley will take the bridesmaids to luncheon and a matinée on the 27th, and from the theater the bride and her attendants will join the masculine members of the wedding party as well as several of their friends at a cocktail party Mr. and Mrs. James R. Getz will give.

Sometime shortly before the wedding Mr. Rogers will give a bachelor dinner, but the bride is dispensing with a spinster dinner. Mr. and Mrs. Eldridge will give the bridal dinner on the Thursday preceding the wedding day.

Bryn Mawr Alumnae to See Katharine Hepburn Play.

It is no surprise that Katharine Hepburn's opening in "Jane Eyre" this evening at the Erlanger theater is completely sold out, for not only is the talented young actress making her first appearance in Chicago and in a Theater Guild production that has not yet been presented in New York, but there is a rush of her former college friends at Bryn Mawr to see her.

The Bryn Mawr alumnae here, headed by Mrs. Rollin D. Wood, are waiting until after Miss Hepburn's arrival today to arrange a reception

TALE of some shirts. Some time ago Mrs. Fred Britten, wife of the former congressman, had some handsome silk shirts made for Mr. Britten in Paris, and when they began to wear out at the cuffs while they were otherwise as good as new she cut some material from the lower part of the shirt for new cuffs. When the new cuffs also began to show signs of wear Mrs. Britten asked her friend, the wife of the Chinese ambassador, who was returning to China, to order a dozen silk shirts made for Mr. Britten and she gave one of the Paris shirts as a model for style and size. In due time the shirts arrived and they were exquisite in fabric and workmanship. There was one peculiarity about them, however. A deep "V" was cut out of the front lower part of the shirt, just as there had been in the model from which the new cuffs had been made. Mrs. Britten forbore mentioning this little peculiarity when she thanked the ambassador's wife for having looked after the order until some twelve months later. Then she laughingly mentioned the "V" cut out of the shirt tail and explained how the model had happened to be cut thus. The wife of the Chinese ambassador laughed, too.

"I had some shirts made for my husband after the same pattern," she said, "and they, too, have the "V" cut out of the shirt tail."

THEY were small and ragged and they pressed their noses against the window of a Michigan avenue shop dealing in French antiques.

"If you could have anything in the window what would you choose?" asked one.

"The plates with the turkey painted on them because then if you didn't have anything to eat you could pretend you had turkey," the other answered.

IN case you find a homing pigeon call up W. R. Fancher, secretary of the Greater Chicago Concourse of the American Racing Pigeon union, and tell him the numerals and letters on the leg band. A homing pigeon that paid a visit to an office in the Board of Trade building was identified in this manner and the owner came and took him home. Buffeted by a strong wind the pigeon probably had been driven off his homeward path and sought shelter on the window sill. Here he found welcome and bits of bread, sugar, and peanuts from interested office workers until Frances Quigley called Mr. Fancher. The owner arrived the following morning to claim him. Thousands of birds are identified every year through that office. Sometimes after a race in which as many as ten thousand pigeons are enlisted two-thirds of them will be blown off the course and traced later through their leg band numerals and Mr. Fancher's list. But be sure to give all the letters and numerals, Mr. Fancher warns, and not leave off the association numerals or the year number.

URBAN souls delight in rural humor, and Esther Palmer, formerly of Chicago and now of Ithaca, went into the matter of the "Spit and Whittle" club, which she had been wanting to know about ever since she saw the old-fashioned frame structure in Dryden, N. Y., that houses it. The rules are:

A member must be a retired business man or one who has worked past 65 years of age.

A member must have enough "moss" to buy tobacco.

Widowers and bachelors are not eligible until they have arrived at the age of 80, and then only if they have an original set of teeth, and sometimes their applications must be signed by both parents.

ENGAGEMENTS

Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. McDonald of Oak Park announce the engagement of their daughter, Fern Reid McDonald, to Clair R. Strain of Milwaukee, Wis., son of Mr. and Mrs. Cory R. Strain of Lamar, Colo. Miss McDonald is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin and a member of Sigma Kappa sorority. Mr. Strain also is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin, where he was a member of Phi Gamma Delta fraternity.

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony F. Wieland, 708 Wisconsin avenue, Oak Park, announce the engagement of their daughter, Eleanor Marie, to Charles Arnold Fullam, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Fullam, 6939 Crandon avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Hosmer Holland Allyn of 4044 Woodland avenue, Western Springs, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Martha Jane, to Alfred F. Stott, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tally F. Stott of Milwaukee, Wis.

Hospital Officials to Be Schweppe's Dinner Guests

Charles H. Schweppe, president of the Chicago Hospital council, will be host at the Congress hotel tomorrow night at dinner to all trustees, superintendents, and chiefs of staf of all accredited hospitals and many persons in allied fields of Chicago. The occasion will mark the end of the first year of the council's organization, during which Plan for Hospital Care, low cost group hospitalization, was inaugurated.

The New Hats Cause Stir in Fashion World

ColorCombines, Streamers Make a Hit.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

It takes wizardry, super-imagination, color sense to the nth degree, and enthusiasm to make hats that lift any and all out of a midseason slump. But it's been done—and how!—by a vivacious designer making new headlines for American shoppers. Some of the most exciting models we've ever lost our breath over will be found in the current showing of new things for immediate wear to be found in a Chicago store.

Every one of the new hats achieves flattery. Each hat is daringly individual, and not a single creation is anything but rhythm, inimitable color combination, and the last word in wickedly French accented smartness. For instance, a luscious affair of pale baby blue felt, with a bunch of Parma violets at the side, a shadow of a visor over the eyeline and around the flattish crown the newest excitement of the moment—streamers. Streamers of plum colored velvet to wear twisted artfully around the neck.

These follow-me-lad streamers start with velvet bands of color as used in this tiny hat, and go to all lengths and widths in the provocatively seductive hats that are cleverly molded turban of fabric, or straw with a good two yards of chiffon to wind around the neckline or muffle in the collar line of a fur coat. Daché designs these draped and swathed affairs in as many as four or five different colors for one customer, and contrast of hat and chiffon can be ordered to suit any whim. The same streamer idea is made with heavy two-toned satin ribbon, with crisp taffetas in plaids and stripes.

Another pet idea is the revival of demure little Victorian bonnets, perhaps the smallest dabs of hats made since granny was a girl.

Glistening black straw bonnets trimmed with a frenzy of satin bows; a dull black straw with huge pompons of fringed raspberry and gentian blue blossoms high at the back; the black felt with a single American beauty rose and a wisp of veil. And for sheer unbelievable Frenchness, try the powder pink felt hat, matched with long gloves of the same. Slanted across the front is a spray of wax flowers tied with a brown velvet bow.

Ask to see the cork hats, a stunning golden beige cork combined with kelly green chiffon, or the double layer hat combining cork with black felt . . . or the small hat trimmed with mushroom flowers . . . the fetching trifles banked with the newest flowers of the year—the realistic wax buds and blossoms.

INSTALMENT I.

NEWS OF A DEATH.

Diana Lake pressed her small watch against her ear to make sure it was going. Even so it was impossible to catch the faint tick above the surrounding clamor.

What a hullabaloo these creatures made! Every table but hers swarmed with young Indians—students, she gathered, from the nearby School of Economics. Why, she wondered, must Indians study economics, and why must they jabber and play tricks on one another like a tribe of monkeys? She sighed to think that overnight, as it were, her serene Daffodil tea room had turned itself into a social club for failed B.A.'s an offensive lot, too, with their too-frequent glances in her direction.

Here was another, all impudent jet eyes and skin like burnt toast, who, taking advantage of her gesture, had thrust his own wristwatch under her nose. He had two gold teeth, and, worse horror, a girl's bangle studded with turquoises.

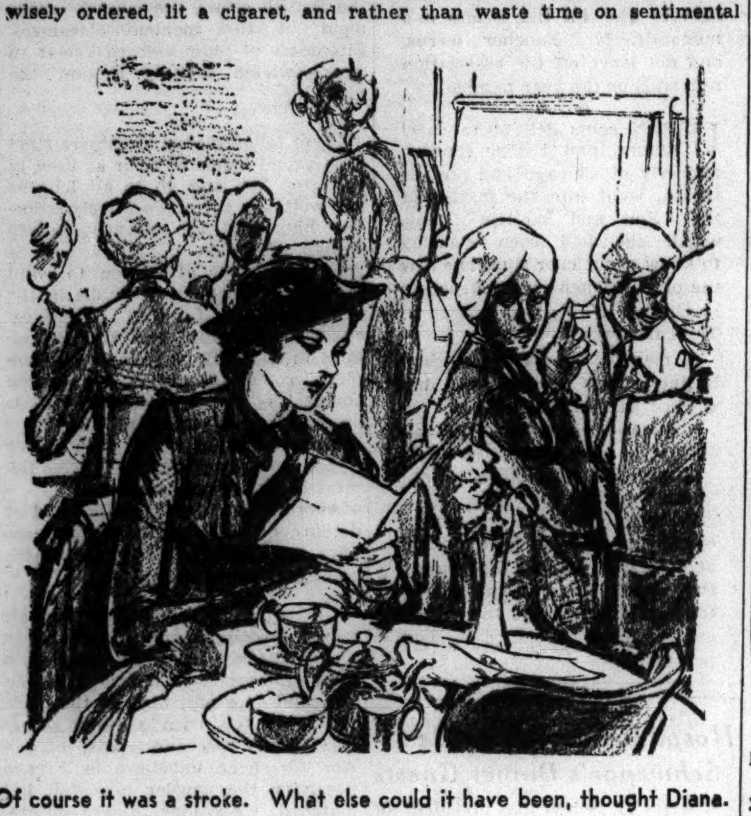
"He is vairy late, what?" his grin was gleamingly facetious. "It is now 5:15. You see?"

She must make short work of him.

"Thank you," she said coldly. "But I have the right time"—and with an aloofness which froze—or should have done—she fixed an expressionless gaze on the door through which Adrian, at any moment, might come.

But would he? Most likely he still had his eye firmly glued to a microscope, calmly oblivious to the passage of time. It was too bad of him, considering he had wired her to meet him, and she, instead of going home after her long train journey, had come straight here. He had news for her—and she had already guessed what the news would be. Indeed, she was secretly hurt that Adrian, oddly dense in some ways, should be rushing to her with the very tidings she least wanted to hear. He had been offered a post. That meant he would be sailing at once back to America. In other words, it was all over save for registering a wholly spurious delight, and composing a nice, sisterly letter for him to read on the boat.

If her reflections were tinged with regret, no one, watching her, would have suspected it. Tranquil and steady, she drank the tea she had very wisely ordered, lit a cigaret, and rather than waste time on sentimental fancies, unfolded a letter she had meant to reread, and gave it—to the outward eye at least—undivided attention.



Of course it was a stroke. What else could it have been, thought Diana.

Diana's type was Irish. Her gray eyes under slender black brows and her dark hair, smooth and with a natural wave in it, she had inherited from her handsome actor father, Herbert Lake; her milky pearl skin, humorous mouth, and general look of capability came from her little actress mother, Margaret Fairlamb, now playing in London. In dress she inclined to the unembellished—and this fact contributed largely to her air of restful poise. Dark blue suited her best, and as a rule she stuck to it. Her dress now was blue, glove fitting, without pleat or frill. She had pressed it last night, in Leeds, with her small electric iron, while she was packing up. Blue also was her straight brimmed little hat, perched at an angle; and the heavy gray gauntlets—she had worn dark ones in the train—lying with her bag beside her cup were stitched in navy. Two and twenty she was. She had looked that since eighteen, and she would go on looking it till well past thirty.

The letter she was reading was from her mother, who last week had been in Liverpool. Delayed by tardy forwarding, it had only just reached her, and having glanced at it hastily, she wanted to reassure herself about certain passages. Aunt Rose Somervell—Rose Walsh to the theater public, and not a real aunt but only a godmother—had recently died of a stroke. Diana's mother seemed badly upset over it, though why she wrote as she did . . . was this the bit?

> 'Only 65, and such a splendidly fit person always! I really can't take it in'—Diana skimmed—'I suppose strictly speaking she and I never had a great deal in common, but after all these years the good times we had together. . . . I keep thinking how kind she was to me when I had my first speaking part in her company and dried up on the opening night. One doesn't forget these things.'

"Precious mummy! She doesn't," mused Diana, thinking of all her warm hearted little mother must have endured from the ex-star's variable moods. "No, that wasn't it."

"Funeral at Marraford—Uncle Nick did everything. Memorial service at St. Martin's."

"O, here we are:"

> 'Most odd she should have suffered from high blood pressure and not suspect it. I, personally, should never have guessed. People with that complaint are so energetic, and, as you know, poor dear Rose never exerted herself if she could help it. What I did notice was her increasing forgetfulness. Only lately, though, and I put it down to the constant little nips of brandy she was so fond of taking, or else to her fearfully strong cigarets . . .
> 'It's strange to think that almost certainly I was the last person she spoke to. Just as I was getting off for my tour she rang up. When we'd talked for ten minutes, I heard a crash, and then no more. I tried to get through to her again, but her receiver was still off—and I was obliged to fly for my train not knowing what had happened. Seeing her death notice in the Manchester Guardian I wrote at once to Nick, and his reply furnished the explanation. It seems old Petty smelled something burning. It was Rose's cigaret, fallen on the rug—and Rose herself lay unconscious, her head having struck the fender. She revived a little, but could not clearly articulate, and though a doctor was fetched she died in only a few hours' time. I've been a wee bit troubled, because of something she said which made me wonder if it really was a stroke. I have not written about it to Nick, not wanting to add to his distress, but I shall be seeing him next week, and shall learn all about it, just to set my own mind at rest.'

Of course it was a stroke. What else could it have been? Besides, the doctor would have known. Diana was about to tuck the letter into her bag when on the back sheet she noticed one of her mother's inevitable postscripts:

> 'Apart from the hints she dropped, I've no notion how her little fortune was left. We may take it for granted, though, that it will not go to any one who has real need of it. Please don't think this a harsh criticism! I mention the matter only because I should have liked so much to see Adrian get something. It would be common justice, in a way; but, of course, such a possibility is out of the question. You know how hard I've tried ever since Adrian came over to get her to see him. After all, his sole offense, when she and Joe parted, was to stick by his own father; but it was no use, she refused to be interested. Strange that any one so charming should possess this rather hard streak!"

Strange? Not in the least. Rose Somervell had been a thoroughly selfish old woman, as all but Margaret would admit. It was her greed over alimony at the time of the American slump which had helped ruin her divorced husband. O, Rose knew that—and she also knew how Adrian's struggle to complete first his Harvard medical and later his studies in brain surgery had been rendered ten times harder through her rapacity. Here Adrian had been since last April, living in a cheap boarding house, hardly able to buy shoes, his one idea to crowd a year's work, under the celebrated Gordon, into six months—yet not once had Rose asked him to a meal or troubled to inquire how he was doing. That was Rose all over.

She looked again at the door. A tall, absent looking young man in a somewhat battered Burberry had entered the shop, and through horn-rimmed spectacles was scanning the crowded tables. Diana sprang up, and before he had seen her touched his arm.

Adrian Somervell jumped. His nearsighted brown eyes lit with a glad, nervous brightness, but he did not speak, only gripped her hand, let it fall, and swallowed hard.

INSTALMENT XLIX.

LUCKY IRELAND.

"Pay Ireland what he wants," one of the ranchers said. "Let him make his own terms."

"Better take it, son," another man said. "We like what we've seen of you." He laughed and looked at the other men. "If you turn us down we'll ship you right back to Montana to face that charge."

Shamrock looked at Hyatt and Nancy. They both nodded, urging him to do it.

"You don't know anything about me," he protested.

"All we want," Scott said. "Will you take it?"

"All right—after I go up and clear my name. I'll be back and try it." This was his escape, if he had misunderstood Nancy's plea to stay.

"Good," Scott said, rising. He slipped something in Shamrock's hand—the star of the sherif's office. "Take that with you—Sherif."

Shamrock's first duty was to lock Freed, Harmer, and George in jail. Maginnis and Hyatt went with him. The crowd had gone about their business. As they shut the steel door and stepped out in the ashes Hyatt said:

"Now let's eat. Nancy's got a meal ordered at the hotel."

"You go up," Shamrock said. "I'll go see about Blue, then I'll be with you."

Hyatt and Maginnis left, while he walked down to the stables. His hand was on the star in his pocket, and some bottomless pessimism told him that it wasn't his and would never be his. What had Nancy meant by her urging? Could he face her again, and ask her to explain? He could ask her plainly if she meant what she had told him in the jail, and even if she said yes he could look at her eyes. Her eyes never lied, and he could tell. But did he have the courage to face her?

He stepped in the door of the stable. The lantern was lighted, and he walked back to Blue's stall.

As he turned into it he saw something move at Blue's head, and instinctively he blurred up a gun.

"Who's that?"

"Nancy."

She came out beside him and slowly he holstered his gun as she handed him a slip of paper. I was looking in the box of Lobell's. I found this."

"What is it?"

"The map to Lee's gold—the location of it."

Shamrock accepted it and put it in his pocket, and there fell an awkward silence.

"Aren't you glad?" Nancy asked presently.

"Sure," Shamrock said. This was the time to ask, and yet his tongue was locked.

"Have I told you that you haven't got a killer's face?" Nancy asked suddenly. "I said so once, but I was wrong. You aren't one."

"No."

"It's a proud face—unashamed—rather nice."

Shamrock said nothing, waiting in an agony of doubt.

"How long will it take you to get to Montana?" Nancy asked.

"A month—six weeks." Here was the chance to ask her, but before he could she said:

"Are you sure it will be all right?"

"Sure. Why?"

"Nothing. I—I just wondered if we'd be back by fall. It's pretty here in the mountains then."

Shamrock breathed deeply, slowly, slowly, then said: "Say that again."

"Do I have to?"

"You meant—we'll go together?"

"Can't we?"

He crushed her to him, moaning a little. "Darlin', darlin'. I was afraid you didn't mean it there in the jail—that you were takin' pity on me."

"I was afraid you would. That's why I came down here to show you."

"And you do love me—want to live with me, want ——"

Nancy laughed huskily. "Haven't you any other name but Ireland, my husband?"

"My wife, I have. I got it tonight. It's Lucky—Lucky Ireland."

and tea for her, and Mrs. Morris L. Johnston, who was at Bryn Mawr with Miss Hepburn's mother, will entertain for the young star provided Mrs. Johnston recovers in time from an attack of flu. The Chicago Woman's club will have Miss Hepburn as a guest at a drama breakfast Thursday.

Among those in tonight's audience will be Mrs. Edwin L. Lobdell and the Harold C. Pynchons, Mrs. Stewart Johnson, the Walter P. Paepckes, the John Sheppard Stones, Frank McNair, Mr. and Mrs. Graham Aldis, the William B. Cudahys, the John Paul Wellings, Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Sims, Victor Elting and Mr. and Mrs. F. Stanley Rickcords.

Spanish Ex-Diplomat Speaks Here Saturday.

Another viewpoint on the Spanish crisis, and one that is certain to be of exceptional interest because the speaker is a former Spanish ambassador in Washington and Paris and a former representative of his country at the league of nations, will be presented by Salvador de Madariaga at a luncheon of the Chicago council on foreign relations, Saturday at the Palmer house. Señor de Madariaga will speak on "The Economic Bases of the Spanish Conflict." In addition to his diplomatic posts he has written several books on political and literary subjects.

Prof. Albert Howe Lybyer of the University of Illinois, just back after four months in rural Turkey, will speak on "Today in Modern Turkey" Saturday at a luncheon of the New Orient Society of America at the Arts club. Prof. Lybyer was an assistant in the Balkan division of the American commission to negotiate peace after the world war, and is considered a leading authority on Turkish history. He will illustrate his talk with pictures.

In the absence of Henry Field, chairman of the executive committee, Prof. Ovid Sellers of the Presbyterian Theological seminary will preside.

Kolisch Quartet to Give Concert Friday Evening.

One of the events of the winter, so far as those musically minded are concerned, will be the Kolisch quartet's concert Friday evening in Orchestra hall foyer under the auspices of the Chicago Chamber Music association.

This ensemble, generally conceded to be second to none when it played here last winter, is sponsored by Mrs. Elizabeth Sprague Coolidge, whose brother, Col. Albert A. Sprague, is a member of the advisory committee of the association.

Miss Dorothy Winter is chairman of the executive committee which is arranging the series of programs, of which the Kolisch quartet's concert is the second. Mrs. John Alden Carpenter, Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed, Mrs. Herbert E. Hyde, Mrs. Harry . Lackritz, Mrs. Thomas L. Marshall, Mrs. Charles H. Swift, and Mrs. Alfred M. Wolfe are others on the committee.

Of unusual appeal to those interested in science will be a program sponsored by the board of trustees of the University of Chicago Wednesday evening at Orchestra hall. President Robert Maynard Hutchins will discuss recent developments in education, and Prof. Walter Bartky and Prof. Carey Croneis will demonstrate the use of sound motion pictures in astronomy and geology.

The Service club will elect new officers at the annual luncheon at 12:30 o'clock today at the Arts club.

Dr. and Mrs. Magnuson Come to City for Winter.

Dr. and Mrs. Paul B. Magnuson have come into town from their farm near Dundee, and are occupying David Adler's charming house at 1240 North State street until early in April. Mr. Adler is staying at the Ambassador East hotel.

The David J. Molloys have gone to Florida where they have opened their house in Palm Beach. They will remain in the south until May 1.

An exhibition of water colors and designs by Miss Remor Baumann, talented young daughter of Reimund Baumann, Danish consul general, and Mrs. Baumann, will open formally this afternoon at the Paul Theobald gallery, 104 South Michigan avenue.

The William Wallers have rented their Palm Beach home, Casa Mañana, until the middle of March to the Edward J. Whites. Mr. and Mrs. Waller have no plans for a trip just now, but they expect to go to Florida for Easter.

Two yachts that are familiar sights in Florida waters have made their appearance at Palm Beach, the Joseph M. Cudahy's Innisfail and the Kenneth G. Smiths' Kencora. The Cudahys arrived last Wednesday, and the Smiths, whose yacht was missing for only a few days while they cruised to the Florida Keys and Havana, now have returned to their villa, Il Pino Torcido.

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

The untimely death of Isobel Carothers Berolzheimer [Lu of Clara, Lu and Em] breaks up the pioneer women's radio team. These three, more than any one else, helped to establish the vogue for women's daytime dialog shows, in which Chicago leads the country to this day.

Several days ago a group of local radio men were discussing the future of Chicago radio. With Hollywood growing in favor for big variety, dramatic and musical shows, these men were agreed that Chicago's biggest hope lay in the script show which it pioneered and of which it now has scores. If this prognostication is correct, Chicago radio owes much to Clara, Lu and Em, who persisted in getting on the air, although told there was no place for a woman's script act just a little more than six years ago. How wrong that pronouncement was everybody knows now.

Henry Selinger, who first recognized their potentialities, declared the other day that their back fence gossip was closer to that of Will Rogers than anything else we've had on the air. They did have much of his simple charm and their talk had his lucidity, wit, and shrewd discernment.

Unlike him, however, Clara, Lu and Em always remained entirely unprofessional and sought to keep their private lives in the background. In a day when too many radio performers are pictured trailing clouds of glamor, they insisted they were only wives and mothers endeavoring to live quietly in Evanston. They were the despair of radio press agents because they permitted only the simple truth in anything said about them.

Through the years their names ought to remain bright in broadcasting annals. For they opened the door to that vast dawn to dusk domain in radio called "women's daytime shows."

The paunchy Alexander Woollcott, back on the air at the Towne Crier, is in the pink of condition. His best story on his opening show concerned a visit he made to the library recently. There he came across a yellowed copy of the London Times for June 20, 1896, in which an editorialist smugly announced that nothing had happened on the previous day that might affect the course of the empire.

But how was he to know, Woollcott asked, that in America Wallis Warfield was born on that day. [Woollcott will be back Tuesday evening via WBBM.]

Sophie Tucker, just back from London, is to make a guest appearance on the CBS Speedshow at 8 o'clock next Saturday evening. Miss Tucker is over at the Oriental theater this week. . . . Fibber McGee, who lost his title to a woman the other day, will try for a comeback on his broadcast at 7 tonight over WMAQ. . . . Carlton Kelsey is to take over the musical direction of Poetic Melodies on WBBM-CBS beginning tonight. . . . Ethel Barrymore Colt will join her mother, Ethel Barrymore, in a radio version of "Let Us Be Gay" at 7:30 Wednesday night over WLS.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

A pal of ours, a New York dress designer who specializes in creating clothes that spell glamor in every fold and stitch, told us the other day that her idea of what this country needs is full length mirrors, lining the streets, the shops, and the walls of the rooms in which we work and live. If this came to pass, she says, even for a short time, we'd have a beauty revolution—and all of the women and not a few of the men would improve their silhouettes.

If women could see themselves as others see them, and realized what poor carriage does to the best of costumes they'd really hop to the problem of correcting their posture and to reducing or gaining, as the case may be.

The designer told amusing stories of the way her clients try on clothes. They always model the frocks they're considering before full length mirrors, and they always, always pull themselves up to their full height, with abdomen flattened and chest up. The dress looks elegant and so do they.

But those same women, away from the merciless mirror which makes them posture conscious, slump and sag as per usual and inevitably the dress then looks like a little number they ran up themselves on a free morning. It all breaks the designer's heart because the child of her creative mind and her clever fingers is being wronged.

The time to get an idea of what your figure REALLY looks like is when you're off guard; when you're not posing. That's why the designer's idea of full length mirrors all over the lot has so much to recommend it. Lacking these, you might get the habit of glancing in shop windows or having your best friend tell you when you're standing or sitting improperly. If you really get to see yourself as others see you, with your shoulders hunched, your abdomen relaxed, and your head fallen forward maybe you'll do something about your posture. If you're smart you'll hie yourself to the nearest salon and sign up for a course.

Proper Care Prevents Lines Around the Mouth and Chin

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1937: By the Chicago Tribune, N. Y. News Syndicate]

Do you ever wonder why the lower part of the face seems to gather more wrinkles than does the upper? O, yes, there are crow's feet and other lines around the eyes, and forehead wrinkles, too, and plenty of them! But on an average day's peering into faces you'll see more mouth wrinkles, lines from the corners of the nose down, slipping jawlines and under chin puckers! Or maybe these become more obvious, are a bit more deeply etched. Anyway, whether there are more lower face wrinkles and lines than uppers doesn't matter much. [I mean the argument doesn't matter much.] What does matter is that there are absolutely too many on the lower part of the facial scenery.

Reasons aren't hard to gather. The droop of the mouth is explanation enough for an enormous number seen. The constant head dropping or sagging, as you please, does that under chin damage, as you've been told at least ten million times.

But those other lower lines, the mouth corner ones and those running from nose corners down, do spoil a face terribly. Whether you can take your Pollyanna advice in small or large doses is beside the point. You just must get a pleasanter feeling toward life and express it in a pretty quirk to the mouth.

Another thing that will mar that lower part of the face terribly is neglected teeth. No bridges where there ought to be some. No new teeth to take the place of those that have been extracted. Those great gaps left unfilled will change the shape of the lower half of the face badly.

But I wanted to tell you about a couple of exercises to help "blow out" the parenthesis lines from nose to mouth corners, also help remold the original, pleasant mouth contour itself.

Just huff and puff [principally puff] and keep doing it every time you think of it during the day. Your mouth rounds and your cheeks fill out as though you were blowing a horn. This pulls the muscles around the mouth and helps to make them firmer.

I know that several professional stage women have taken up gum chewing in a great big, continuous way. If you don't want to have to handle the gum, you can do the same chewing movements, only make a little more elaborate than you would had you the gum in the mouth.

Then get in the knack of pinching lightly those lines around the center, until you see the blood rushing in red streaks. Do this with a bit of cream on the lines, or even without is better than no light pinching.

How to care for blonde hair is one of the important chapters in Antoinette Donnelly's booklet, "Bring Out the Beauty in Your Hair." If you are blonde or brunette, you need this booklet. On sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower. Price, 5 cents. Postpaid, 7 cents.

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS.
Chicago Bears, 7; Los Angeles, 0.
Green Bay, 42; Salinas Packers, 7.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 10.—The Los Angeles Bulldogs proved tough and stubborn enough to fight off the Chicago Bears twice inside the nine yard line in one minute and a half of play in the second period today, but they weren't tough enough to take the ball away a third time and the Bears beat them by one bitterly disputed touchdown, 7 to 0, before 10,000 fans.

The Los Angeles eleven lost the decision for the first time to a league team, having already beaten Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, and tied the Chicago Cardinals.

The Bears scored on a two yard line punch by Johnny Sisk after a nine yard pass, Brumbaugh to Luke Johnsos, planted the ball on the two yard line. Stydahar place kicked the extra point.

Have to Earn It.

The Bears had to earn their touchdown twice, Nagurski having bucked across from the five yard line several plays before, only to have the ball called back and his team penalized for back field in motion. All three of big Bronko's back field mates were massing in a criscross movement when they met the Los Angeles guard and full back and threw them aside for the hole through which Bronko scored.

Nolting drove to the two yard line in two more plays, but Bill Smith of the Chicago Cardinals, who is doing his post season barnstorming with the Los Angeles club, stopped him there and the Bulldogs had the ball on downs when Brumbaugh was smacked hard and dropped his pass from center on the next play.

March 28 Yards.

Los Angeles punted out from the end zone and Nolting ran the punt back 11 yards from the Bulldogs' 39 yard line to their 28. Pete Mehringer stopped Nagurski as the Bronko bucked to the 23 yard line. Then Sisk fell in behind Nagurski as far as the 19 yard mark. Bronko whammed into the line for two bucks of three yards, and Sisk carried it to the 11 yard line, but the Bears were penalized on an offside to their 16 yard mark. Brumbaugh then passed to Johnsos, and Sisk scored on the next play, the 28 yard touchdown march being completed in seven line plays and one pass.

The Bears, who have Pug Rentner of the Boston pro team filling in for Keith Molesworth because of the latter's injured hand, will play a picked up team in San Diego next Sunday.

PACKERS WIN, 42 TO 7

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 10.—(AP)—The Green Bay Packers gave a convincing demonstration today of why they rule the National professional football ranks with a crushing 42 to 7 victory over the Salinas Iceberg Packers, Pacific coast champions.

Behind tremendous ground power and bullet-like passes, the National champions scored six touchdowns, two in each of the first three periods. The coast team was badly outclassed.

The Salinas squad nevertheless came up with the most thrilling play of the game. It was an 85-yard run of a kickoff to a touchdown, with Quarter Back George Tharp taking the ball, returning it 45 yards and then lateralling to Leren Grannis, center, who raced on to score.

From then on the game developed into a rout of the coast team. Lineup:

GREEN BAY [42].		SALINAS [7].
Hutson	L. E.	Bugge
Smith	L. T.	Lutz
Letlow	L. G.	Gerardin
Svendsen	C	Grannis
Evans	R. G.	Bardin
Schwammel	R. T.	Anderson
Scherer	Q. B.	Tharp
Sauer	L. H.	Bacciarini
Herber	R. H.	Bushby
Hinkle	F. B.	Thorell

Touchdowns—Miller [substitute for Sauer], Hinkle, Gantenbein [substitute for Scherer], Becker [substitute for Hutson], Svendsen, Scherer, Grannis. Points after touchdown—Hinkle [2], Schwammel [2], Engebretsen [substitute for Evans] [2]; place kicker, Storm [substitute for Thorell].

Referee—Jimmy Underhill [St. Mary's]. Umpire—Butch Simas [St. Mary's]. Field judge—Buck Evans [Harvard]. Head linesman—Bob Kleckner [San Francisco].

Vines Better, but Cancels Detroit Match

Ellsworth Vines, world's professional champion who is ill of influenza in St. Luke's hospital, yesterday canceled the fourth match of his current tour with Fred Perry, world's amateur champion, which was scheduled for Detroit tomorrow night. Whether he will be able to play the next scheduled match at Pittsburgh on Friday is still problematical.

Vines, although he showed considerable improvement after a night in the hospital, probably will not be able to leave before Thursday, attending physicians said. The champion spent a restful night and responded rapidly to treatment, his temperature returning to normal, but he is still suffering from a toxic condition.

Allowed No Visitors.

A "no visitors" sign was tacked to the door of his room at the hospital and telephone communications were cut off to assure him complete rest for the next few days.

Vines entered the hospital late Saturday night immediately after losing his third successive match of his tour to Perry in straight sets at the Chicago Stadium before a crowd of 12,602. Although both he and his manager, S. Howard Voshell, had given assurances that he was in condition to play, it was obvious from the start that he could not put up a match against Perry. He played listlessly and was so weak that he frequently paused to lean against the backstop. When he entered the hospital his temperature was reported to be 100.2.

He had played in Madison Square Garden Wednesday night with a fever of 101 in order not to spoil Perry's professional debut and in Cleveland on Friday night was so ill that the match was curtailed to three sets.

TILDEN UNABLE TO PLAY

Fairmont, W. Va., Jan. 10.—(AP)—Bill Tilden said today it would be "humanly impossible" for him to play against Fred Perry in a tennis match at Detroit Tuesday in place of Ellsworth Vines.

Tilden said Francis T. Hunter and Detroit promoters of the match telephoned to ask him to fill the place left vacant by illness of Vines.

In a Fairmont match Tilden defeated Vincent Richards, 6-3, 6-3. He and his professional troupe are scheduled to play in Charleston, Tuesday night.

Budge, Hendrix Win Miami Tennis Doubles

Coral Gables, Fla., Jan. 10.—(AP)—Donald Budge of Oakland, Cal., and Arthur Hendrix of Lakeland, Fla., won the doubles finals of the fifth annual Miami Biltmore tennis tournament today with a 6-4, 4-6, 6-4 victory over Bryan M. Grant of Atlanta and Wayne Sabin of Los Angeles.

Talking It Over

[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune.]

THE heavy frost that descended on Chicago Stadium Saturday night cost the community $21,242. . . . That was the amount of money contributed by 12,602 fans to see a tennis match which was supposed to bring together the 1936 amateur and professional champions of the world. . . . Instead they saw Fred Perry, one of the sport's all-time greats, toying with a young man who should have been under a doctor's care in a hospital, where he wound up a few minutes after the match. . . . It was apparent early in the first set, which ended, 6-0, that the fans had been swindled. . . . There, in effect, was only one man on the court. . . . As late as 6:30 p. m. Ellsworth Vines insisted he was in condition to play. . . . So did S. Howard Voshell, the gentleman conducting the tour of the two famous professionals. . . . They were deceiving the public. . . . The match should have been postponed. . . . The thousands who paid as high as $5.50 a seat were entitled to the best the contestants had to offer. . . . They didn't get it. . . . If such an irregularity occurred in professional boxing both boys and their managers would have been ruled out of Illinois rings for at least a year. . . . Legal action probably is not necessary in tennis. . . . The fans will remember Saturday night, Jan. 9, the next time the boys come to town.

Jim Kelly, for several years football and basketball coach at De Paul university, will be in new surroundings next fall. . . . He is among the candidates receiving consideration for the Iowa athletic job vacated by Ossie Solem. . . . If he doesn't get the appointment he probably will accept an offer to become track coach and assistant football coach at Minnesota. . . . Kelly has brought De Paul to a place among the nation's leaders in basketball and his football teams have ranked among the best in the middle west outside of the Western conference. . . .

The highest paid football coach in Texas is Blair Cherry of Amarillo High school, which has won the state championship the last three years. . . . If he is chosen University of Texas coach to succeed Jack Chevigny, Cherry will have to take a salary cut. . . . Pat O'Brien, movie star who will serve as toastmaster at Notre Dame's football dinner tonight, was playing for Marquette when the Milwaukee eleven last encountered the Irish. . . . That was in 1921. . . . Adolph Kiefer, Chicago swimming star, now a freshman at the University of Texas, will try to erase some of Johnny Weissmuller's records in an open meet at Austin Friday night. . . . Ted Quin, Riverside Golf club member who recently spent a couple of weeks at Hot Springs, Ark., returns to say that Willis Hudlin of the Indians is the best of the golfing baseball players. . . . He saw Hudlin shoot three consecutive rounds of 71, 72, and 73 on the difficult No. 3 course there. . . . Al Schacht's repertoire for a tour of the minors next season includes 150 pantomime acts. . . . Frank Doljack, former Detroit outfielder, is managing Lloyd Marshall, professional boxer. . . .

The Indiana Daily Student is conducting a contest to find a new nickname for the university's athletic teams. . . . The paper's committee will pick the ten best and send them to a group of midwest sports writers who will choose five in the order of their preference. . . . It is planned to announce the winning name at the Indiana-Ohio State basketball game on Jan. 13. . . . Miss Ida Rasof, sister of Barney Ross, welterweight champion, has announced her engagement to Irving Kaplan, manager of an automobile accessory company. . . . The rubber cored golf ball was first used in the national amateur championship of 1901 at Atlantic City, thereby sounding the death knell of the old guttie ball. . . . Jock Sutherland, coach of Pittsburgh's Rose Bowl champions, is an instructor in the school's dental college, specializing in gold inlay work. . . .

Babe Hollingberry, Washington State coach, suggests a Punch Bowl championship for next New Year's day. . . . The competition would be supplied by guards and full backs who have backed up the line too much. . . . Leo Rodak's one year management contract with Hymie Caplan, New York fight representative, expired Oct. 28, but Caplan claims he has a one year option which he will take up over protests of Rodak. . . . The New York Giants have reduced their annual dividend from $25 to $16. . . . The Nerdiska museum in Stockholm boasts the oldest ski in the world. . . . It is said to have been made 4,000 years ago. . . . Harvard students were among America's first soccer enthusiasts. . . . They chose up sides as far back as 1800. . . . Larry Aurie of the Detroit Red Wings is the cross word puzzle champion of the National league. . . . He recently set a new record by working two of them in ten minutes without making a mistake. . . .

Ten Years Ago Today—Judge Landis exonerated the 21 ballplayers that Swede Risberg and Chick Gandil charged were implicated in a game fixing plot. . . . The Boston Bruins defeated the Chicago Blackhawks, 6 to 3. . . . Shuffle Callahan and Wolcott Langford ended training for their ten round bout at Dexter Park pavilion.

HORTON SMITH SHOOTS 64 TO TAKE GOLF LEAD

Sets Los Angeles Pace with 206.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 10.—(AP)—Horton Smith of Chicago took full command of the $8,000 Los Angeles open golf meet today. Cheered by a gallery of several thousand, he posted a 64 on the par 71 Griffith Park course for a 54 hole total of 206.

His brilliant round set a new course record and gave him a two stroke lead over Harry Cooper of Chicago and Ralph Guldahl of St. Louis.

Old Record 65.

The old course record was 65, held by Don Erickson, local amateur, and George Lance, also of Los Angeles. However, the course has been revamped into a more difficult layout since they recorded their scores.

Smith's round today, played under the best conditions of the tournament, showed seven birdies and 11 pars. He went out in 32, four under, and came back in 32, three under. Cooper turned in a 69 to hold a short-lived lead. Then Smith and Guldahl, playing together in a threesome, came in, the latter with a 66.

Bell, Huot Drop Back.

Young Art Bell, Pasadena pro, and Jules Huot of Quebec, Canada, who started the round, tied with Cooper at 139, dropped slightly back. Bell took a 70 and Huot a 72.

The final 18 holes will be played tomorrow. Cooper won in 1926 with a 72 hole score of 279, played over the more difficult Los Angeles Country club course. Smith finished fourth in 1929, his first big year in golf, and third in 1930. He has never won the tournament. The scores:

Remember Him?

Honus Wagner, Greatest Shortstop of All Time, Eight Years League Leading Hitter

[This is the twenty-first of a series of articles on famous headliners of other years whose careers and contributions to sports have perhaps become obscured by time and the exploits of more widely publicized successors. All of them rank among the greatest in their respective fields.]

BY ARCH WARD.

JOHN HENRY HONUS WAGNER went up and up until he had established himself as the greatest shortstop of all time. But brilliant performer that he was on the ball field, Honus, with the unmistakable Teuton accent that remained after his bowed legs had weakened and batting eyes had dimmed, insists even to this day, "I am no actor."

HONUS WAGNER.

Honus, now a coach with the Pirates, gave 21 years of active service to the National league, eighteen with Pittsburgh and the first three with Louisville. He hit in a class of his own. Ungainly but with arms so long that he could drag his huge hands on the ground while running, he was a sensational fielder. Although not especially fast on his feet he was an uncanny base runner. He did all this with no apparent effort and no display of enthusiasm.

The spotlight showered on Honus for years but he never liked it. Although friendly, he was crowd shy. The cheering may have pleased his ear but it never got his tongue to wagging. In his prime he spurned offers to go into vaudeville. He said that was for actors. He never would accept money in exchange for permission to use his name in advertising or in connection with a baseball story written by a ghost.

Discovers He Hasn't Been Forgotten.

Time has changed him just a little. When, after a long absence, he returned to the Pirates as a coach, he discovered that he hadn't been forgotten. Wherever the Pirates went Wagner was the man summoned to this or that gathering. Usually he had to be escorted by a baseball writer who finally built the modest Dutchman into a good talker. Now Honus has no trouble at all reeling off anecdotes which for years were sealed up in his memory.

But Honus hasn't forgotten that he enjoys his own company. Wherever the Pirates happen to be playing you may see a gray haired, stockily built, bowlegged gentleman sauntering down a side street late in the eve-

Indiana and Purdue Defend Big 10 Basket Lead Tonight

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Purdue and Indiana this morning are in exactly the same position in which they finished the 1936 Big Ten basketball campaign—tied for first place. One year ago Indiana and Purdue shared the title, each finishing with 11 victories and one defeat. Each now has won two victories in the current race.

This emphasizes, if emphasis were needed, inasmuch as all tickets for the two game series have been sold, the battle between the Hoosiers and Boilermakers at Bloomington Saturday night. However, before this game can be billed for the leadership of the conference, Purdue must whip Iowa tonight at Iowa City, and Indiana, for its task, has Illinois at Champaign.

Northwestern meets Michigan at Ann Arbor tonight, while Minnesota opens Big Ten play with Chicago at Minneapolis, and Ohio State, also starting conference activity, entertains the twice defeated Wisconsin quintet at Columbia.

Iowa May Surprise Purdue.

Iowa may have a surprise in store for Purdue, just as the Hawkeyes slipped up unannounced on the complacent Wildcats Saturday night and whipped them, 33 to 26. Iowa first gave notice of its defensive strength when it hold Indiana to a 28 to 24 score a week ago. This was the lowest point total for Indiana this year. And Northwestern scored only three points more against Iowa than in the game it lost to Notre Dame New Year's eve.

The Hawks are fast. They have a sharp, accurate passing game around the backboard adequately supported by the long distance shooting of Capt. Ken Suesens and Joe Van Ysseldyk. These two guards, with the aid of three field goals by Center Jack Drees, accounted for twelve of Iowa's seventeen points at the intermission of the game at Patten gymnasium.

Drees probably will control the tip off against Jim Seward of Purdue tonight. He outjumped both Jean Smith and Jake Nagode of Northwestern. So far the Boilermakers have outrun their two opponents, Wisconsin and Michigan. Continued application of speed coupled with exceptional shooting is the Purdue formula.

Purdue Well Balanced.

Purdue has a well balanced attack, particularly since Gene Anderson has replaced Johnny Sines at forward. Jewell Young continues to be the spark of the Boilermaker attack. These men, with assistance from the dependable Glen Downey, wore down the larger Wolverines, who had established a second half lead.

John Gee, the Michigan center, and John Townsend, forward, will bulwark Michigan's attack against Northwestern tonight. The Wildcats were outspeeded by Iowa. Tonight the teams will be on a par in this department. Michigan should have an advantage, however, with the apparent collapse of the Wildcats' back court game.

Chicago, beaten by Indiana, 46 to 26, probably will lose again tonight to Minnesota. Wisconsin also is slated to drop its third consecutive conference game at Columbus. The Ohio State five, paced by the veteran Thomas and the sophomore Hull, and with Tippy Dye feeding the ball to them, should lick the Badgers. The Buckeyes defeated New York university Saturday night, 39 to 32, in Madison Square Garden.

Indiana Should Beat Illini.

Indiana is favored to win from Illinois. The Hoosiers are best in a free scoring game, and the Illini weakness on defense admits many shots by Indiana's men, Huffman, Gunning, and Fechtman, not forgetting the two sophomores, Johnson and Andres. Illinois barely outpointed Wisconsin, 31 to 28, and the Badgers were severely trounced by Purdue one week ago, 43 to 30.

St. Louis university, which met St. Viator last night, meets De Paul tonight. The Blue Demons are expected to win because of their strong showing against conference quintets.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Blackhawks, flashing a passing attack much better than has been their custom, last night defeated the Toronto Maple Leafs, 2 to 1. It was the Chicagoans' fifth victory of the season, an accomplishment which brought much cheer to the 12,500 loyalists in attendance.

There was a goal in each period, which tended to make the continuous hard skating worthwhile. The first period goal was registered by Louis Trudell, recent splinter gatherer who hopped off the bench a week ago to study to be a center. He was assisted by Paul Thompson and Earl Seibert. The second and winning goal was accomplished on a splendid speed maneuver by Thompson, assisted by Trudell. The third period counter—Toronto's—was the handy work of Reg Hamilton, assisted by Bob Davidson.

Big Improvement in Passing.

The greatest improvement in the Hawks, as they launched the second half of their season was in the matter of passing to get in shooting position. They still were missing plenty of shots for scores, but they made enough to win and that's all one can ask of a team that had to train for a game with dumbbells and Indian clubs, as did the Hawks, ice being a scarce indoor commodity, what with those tennis fellows in town Saturday night.

After last night's game the Hawks announced the unconditional release of Tommy Cook, a regular Chicagoan for eight years.

The Hawks took the lead in 11:00 of the first period while the Leafs were two men short, Fowler having been sent to the penalty box for tripping, to be followed a minute later by Metz, convicted of the same offense.

Trudell Gets Credit.

When the Leafs were so handicapped, Manager Loughlin sent out his emergency crew, composed of Trudell, Seibert, Thompson, March, and Gottselig. The boys got one of those ring-around-rosie passing attacks started around the Leaf net. The whirl terminated when Trudell, assisted by Seibert and Thompson, slapped home the goal. To many it appeared and it was announced that Seibert had rammed across the marker with a close up swish, but the scorers, players, and referees got together after the period and agreed Trudell had made the marker, with Seibert and Thompson receiving assist credits.

Kelly and Palangio took three fine smacks at Broda's upholstery to get the customers hollering for the exciting second period. In the eighth minute the Leafs moved en masse into the Hawk defense zone and, though they at one time had Karakas down on the ice several feet from his station, were unable to tie.

Karakas Deprived of Shutout.

The terrific barrage seemed like a ceaseless attack until, seconds after the half way point, Trudell pulled the puck out of a mêlée and dashed to middle ice where he passed to Thompson. Thompson picked up the rubber perfectly, and with a clear path to the goal kept going a mile a minute. He chose to beat Broda by sheer speed rather than by any zigzagging of the puck. When Paul cut loose the disk scooted under Broda too fast for him to move, though he obviously saw the shot quite clearly. The time was 10:40.

Karakas lost his chance for a shutout in 7:12 of the third period when Hamilton beat him with a long straight shot after taking a pass from Davidson.

Alvin Crowder Through; Seeks Detroit Release

Winston-Salem, N. C., Jan. 10.—(AP)—Alvin [General] Crowder, veteran American league pitcher who went on the voluntary retired list last year, said today that he was seeking his full release from Detroit with a view to permanent retirement from the majors.

EXAMINATIONS OPEN JAN. 19 FOR GOLDEN GLOVERS

First 800 Entrants Get Letters This Week.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The first physical examination for Golden Gloves boxers will be held at Trafton's gymnasium on Tuesday night, Jan. 19. This date was set yesterday at a conference of officials in charge of the tenth annual tournament sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc. Eight hundred letters to contestants will be mailed early this week assigning them to this examination night.

This quota now has been filled. Subsequent entrants will be assigned to later examination dates, of which there will be five. One of these, the date will be announced this week, will be held at the Catholic Youth organization gymnasium, 31 East Congress street. There all C. Y. O. amateurs who wish to compete in the Chicago sectional tournaments will be examined. The C. Y. O. already has sent circulars to its boxers. They will be informed within a few days of the date of their examination.

Parents Sign Consent Card.

Each contestant will receive a parental consent card. This card must be signed by father, mother, or guardian if the boxer is under 21 years of age and submitted to the clerks at the time of the physical examinations. No amateur will be accepted without this card. Each boxer also must register with the Central association of the A. A. U. This registration can be made at the time of the examinations.

The registration for competition in the Novice division will be paid by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc. Registration is for the duration of the tournaments. Open division registration is for one year and costs one dollar. This permits competition in any amateur boxing tournament in Chicago for that length of time.

Those boys who are examined first will be permitted to choose the section in which they wish to compete. Later entrants will be assigned arbitrarily to balance the lists. Golden Gloves has grown so rapidly that completion of the tournaments presents a difficult problem. Last year on one evening six rings were needed at three sectional tournaments. Nearly 2,000 boys passed their physical examinations.

Sets Days to Report.

Harry Berz, in charge of registration and weights for the tournament, yesterday set the dates when the boys who pass their physical examinations will report for their bouts. The list of tournament dates, locations, and the days to report follow:

WEST—Madison A. C., 4717 Madison street, Feb. 8, 9, and 10. All boxers in Novice and Open divisions report Feb. 8.

NORTHWEST—Marigold Gardens, Grace and Broadway, Feb. 9, 10, and 11. All boxers in Novice and Open divisions report Feb. 9.

SOUTH—White City, 63d street and South Park avenue, Feb. 10, 11, 12, 16, 17, and 18. Novice boxers in the first five weights [112, 118, 126, 135, and 147 pounds] report Feb. 10. Novice boxers in the 160, 175, and heavyweight classes report Feb. 11. All Open division boxers report Feb. 12.

NORTH — Loyola university gymnasium, Loyola avenue and Sheridan road, Feb. 16, 17, and 18. All Novice boxers report Feb. 16. All Open division boxers report Feb. 17.

Tickets for these dates will be given to boxers at the time of their physical examinations at Trafton's gymnasium. A copy of the referee's instructions and tournament rules will be given to each contestant at the same time.

Safa Knocks Out 22 Foes.

In the list of entries received yesterday was that of George Safa of Centerville, O., who recently has moved to Chicago. Safa is a lightweight. He has had 67 amateur bouts, won 59 of them and knocked out 22 opponents. He has lost eight bouts. He has had two years' experience.

"I have been following the Golden Gloves tournaments every year for four years," Safa wrote in submitting his entry blank. "It has been my greatest ambition to compete in one of the tournaments. Now that the opportunity has arrived I feel most certain that I will come out wearing the Golden Glove for the lightweight championship."

Four Chicago boys, in each of the eight weight classes in the Open division, will qualify for the Tournament of Champions at the Chicago Stadium Feb. 22, 23, and 24.

Maraton Wins Chilean Derby Valued at $5,172

VINA DEL MAR, Chile, Jan. 10.—(AP)—Maraton, ridden by A. Gutierrez, won the Chilean Derby and a purse of 100,000 pesos [$5,172.50] today. Darien was second, Espartaco third, and Bamboa fourth in a field of eleven starters. The second, third, and fourth place horses won 20,000, 10,000, and 5,000 pesos, respectively. A lottery with a principal prize of one million pesos was held in conjunction with the race.

Feller Signed; Report Salary to Be $10,000

Cleveland, O., Jan. 10.—(AP)—C. C. Slapnicka, assistant to Alva Bradley, president of the Cleveland Indians, announced today that Bob Feller, schoolboy pitcher from Iowa, had signed a Cleveland contract.

Neither Slapnicka nor Feller would reveal the terms of the contract, but it was believed to call for approximately $10,000 for his first full year in the major leagues. This would be the highest first year salary ever paid a rookie pitcher.

At the same time Slapnicka announced that in the future he would handle all of Feller's business affairs.

Accompanied by Father.

The young pitcher, holder of the American league single game strikeout record, was accompanied here by his father, William Feller, who was present at all contract negotiations and signed the contract as legal guardian for his son.

Feller and his father had asked for a $20,000 contract.

Slapnicka's assumption of managership over Feller's business affairs probably means the young pitcher will not join the staf or a Hot Springs, Ark., baseball school as Feller had planned. Slapnicka had opposed this activity on Feller's part and it was one of the things which held up contract negotiations.

Four Others Signed.

The only other members of the Cleveland team signed for 1937 are First Baseman Hal Trosky, Pitcher Earl Whitehill, Outfielder Joe Vosmik and Pitcher Mel Harder. The other contracts will be mailed out about Feb. 1, Slapnicka said.

OHIO WOMAN'S PERSIAN CAT WINS TRIBUNE TROPHY

A 3 year old Persian cat owned by Mrs. C. G. Naylor, Alliance, O., last night was awarded the Tribune trophy as the best cat entered in the twenty-eighth annual show of the Beresford Cat club of America in the La Salle hotel. The winning cat, Corso's Little Lover of Rose Crest, recently was named best of its breed in a specialty show for cats of its color in a Detroit show.

Approximately 2,000 attended the show during its two day run. About 80 per cent of the entries were Persians, with common domestic cats, Manx, and Siamese making up the rest of the entry list of 175.

Second honors went to Lady-in-Blue of Instar, a blue Persian kitten owned by Mrs. G. M. Broo, Indianapolis.

G-MAN HOOVER TO CHASE IRISH FIVE TO COVER

Notre Dame, Ind., Jan. 10.—[Special.]—Coach George Keogan's Notre Dame basketball sharpshooters will be driven to cover tomorrow by none other than J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the nation's G-men.

Hoover will address the student body here tomorrow afternoon and the only auditorium large enough to accommodate the crowd of students and townspeople who have been invited to hear him is the Notre Dame gymnasium.

Hence basketball practice will be canceled. The team leaves Tuesday night for Pittsburgh, where it will engage the Pitt Panthers on Wednesday. The Irish have won four straight games and seven out of nine for the season. They nosed out Butler, 25 to 24, last night.

RAMBLERS BEAT HORNETS.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Jan. 10.—(AP)—The Philadelphia Ramblers trounced the Pittsburgh Hornets, 4 to 1, in an International-American Hocky league game today for the Hornets' seventh successive loss.

Carroll Beats St. Cyr, 26-16, in K. C. League

Carroll council, champion of the Knights of Columbus Basketball league for the past two years, successfully began the defense of its title yesterday afternoon by defeating St. Cyr, 26 to 16, before a capacity crowd at the 124th Field Artillery armory.

St. Cyr led until only six minutes remained to play, when George Sykora put Carroll ahead with two free throws and followed with a basket that provided enough margin to keep the winners in front. The loss of Joe Cannizzo on fouls weakened St. Cyr at the windup, his seven points leading the scoring for the losers.

Led by Frank Dolato, former Bowen prep star, with sixteen points, Santa Maria defeated Cardinal, 38 to 29, in the opening game to set the stage for its battle with Loyola-Hyde Park next Sunday. In the other contest, Calumet, after trailing 10 to 9 at the half, staged a fast finish to beat Barry, 30 to 19. Joe Mysza, who entered the game in the second period, accounted for eleven points.

Race Horse Is Destroyed After Being Hit by Bus

New Orleans, La., Jan. 10.—(AP)—Wise Mona, a 6 year old thoroughbred, who was found among the "also rans" more often than not, has run her last race. She was destroyed today after being struck and crippled by a bus. The veteran racer broke out of her stall at the old Jefferson race track, where she was quartered because of crowded conditions at the Fair Grounds, and wandered onto the highway.

THREE FOOTBALL MEN ON MAROON WRESTLING TEAM

Three University of Chicago football players are members of the Maroon varsity wrestling team which will meet Wisconsin in the Midway field house tonight at 7:30. The football members of the Maroon mat cast are Fred Lehnhardt, regular half back last fall; Sam Whiteside, lineman and co-captain of the 1936 Chicago eleven, and Ed Valorz, a reserve back.

Whiteside, who weighs over 200 pounds, will be Chicago's entry in the heavyweight class, where he will meet Wisconsin's Chester Piatkiewicz, powerful sophomore who can make 165 pounds, but because he can handle the heaviest men on the Badger squad, is being used in the unlimited weight class. Lehnhardt and Valorz each normally weigh about 175 pounds, but one of the pair—probably Valorz—will reduce enough to compete at 165.

SACHS IS NAMED BASKET COACHES' RESEARCH HEAD

Leonard D. Sachs, director of athletics and basketball coach at Loyola university, has been appointed chairman of the research committee of the National Association of Basketball Coaches of the United States. The associate members of the committee are Everett Dean of the University of Indiana and Wesley Fesler of Harvard university.

Sachs will have a special opportunity to contact the other members of his committee when Indiana and Loyola meet in a game at Loyola on Jan. 30 and when the Ramblers make an eastern trip which takes them near Harvard the latter part of February.

Olympia Beats Maccabees in Soccer Game

BY OFFSIDE.

The splendid defensive play of Pelej and Posejpal at full back and two goals scored by Keberle, their crack center forward, enabled the Olympia soccer team to defeat the Maccadees of the professional division, 2 to 1, yesterday at the Olympia stadium in the first round of the national challenge cup 1937 series.

Campbell kicked off for the Maccabees. Both teams battled on even terms for about thirty minutes, the Maccadees having the best chances to score. Campbell and Molvie missed by shooting high over the bar. The Olympias then put the Maccabees on the defensive, Fisher saving for his side by diving at Keberle's feet to clutch the ball almost on the goal line.

Olympia Scores First.

The Olympia team opened the scoring. With only five minutes left to play in the first period Koubek drove hard at Fisher. The ball bounced out to Keberle who drove hard into the net. Two minutes later Cuthburt received a pass from the right to cut across the penalty line and deceive Kratochvil by driving hard into the corner of the net to tie the score as the half ended.

Starting the second half the Olympia team went in front after fifteen minutes. Keberle slipped past Purden to kick into the net close to the upright.

Stop Maccabees Drive.

The Maccabees kept the amateurs on the defensive, Pelej and Posejpal playing a stellar game to hold their lead to enter the next round.

Lineup:

OLYMPIAS.		MACCABEES.

The Spartans who were scheduled to play their national cup match yesterday against the Milwaukee Viennas induced their opponents to transfer the game to Sparta stadium next Sunday. Play will start at 2:15.

WILSONS LOSE, 2-0

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 10.—The Deutscher Pabsts Blue Ribbons of Milwaukee defeated the Chicago Wilsons, 2 to 0, here today in a third round soccer match for the National Challenege cup.

Frank Trimmel, center, and Alfonz Zormeier, outside right, accounted for the goals, both of which were registered in the second half. Last Sunday the two teams battled to a 2 to 2 tie in Chicago.

CHICAGOANS SET SKATE RECORDS AT MINNEAPOLIS

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 10.—(AP)—Five national outdoor skating records were bettered in the fifth annual ten thousand lakes meet today. Two marks were set yesterday.

Eddie Schroder, Chicago, bettered his old national record for two miles in 5 minutes 33 8-10 seconds by 3.7 seconds. Maddy Horn, Oconomowoc, Wis., on the women's championship from Dorothy Franey of St. Paul, by a 10 point margin. Mary Dolan of Minneapolis, ranked third with 30 points to Miss Horn's 105 to 95 for Miss Franey.

Marvin Thompson, Chicago, bettered the 200 yard mark in a qualifying heat in 21.3 seconds. Another record in a trial heat was that made by Delbert Lamb, Milwaukee. He made the 440 yards in 35.2 seconds.

KNOCKOUT SEEN IN LELLO, PETERS BATTLE TONIGHT

Two Tough Boys Meet in Marigold Gardens.

Pete Lello, 1936 Chicagoland Golden Gloves lightweight champion, who has hung up thirteen consecutive triumphs as a professional, will make his fourteenth appearance tonight when he meets Nick Peters at Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace street.

The assignment is a tough one, however, as Lello well knows, for his rival from San Antonio, Tex., has won his eighteen pro starts, the last thirteen in Chicago. Inasmuch as both lads are aggressive, two fisted fighters the match may not go the scheduled distance of eight rounds.

In the semi-final Phil Rosenberg, west side welterweight, and Joe Mathewson, Omaha, Neb., who battled four rounds to a draw Dec. 28, will meet in a return match at five rounds. Johnny Brown, who defeated Troy Bellini of Cleveland, O., for the Golden Gloves bantamweight crown at the Stadium, March 8, 1935, and Willie Dudlak will be opponents in one of four supplementary bouts.

Bill Brooks, Detroit light heavyweight wrestler, will encounter Tony Falletti in the windup bout at White City, 63d street and South Park avenue, tonight. It is an encore, the men wrestling 30 minutes to a draw Dec. 14. The meeting of this evening is set for 60 minutes.

More than 100 boys will finish preparations today for the opening of the fifth annual amateur boxing tournament at the Illinois Athletic club tomorrow. The show will be continued Wednesday and concluded Jan. 20. The entry list, which shows a big increase over that of last year, includes three defending champions. They are Nate Bolden, middleweight; Robert Brooks, welterweight, and Andrew Fillmore, featherweight. All three are members of the Savoy Athletic club. Bolden's strongest competition is expected to come from Sherman Edwards, Joliet sectional Golden Gloves champion.

The mat headliner between Jack Conley, who has defeated Ivan Rasputin twice recently, and George Dusette at Rainbo Fronton Wednesday has been set for 90 minutes. . . . FIGHT BOYCOTT BRINGS REPRIEVE TO JIM BRADDOCK

It May Save His Crown from Schmeling.

Kearns Makes Bid

DETROIT, Mich., Jan. 10.—(AP)—Jack Kearns tonight announced a $400,000 offer to heavyweight champion Jimmy Braddock to fight Joe Louis here.

Referring to the Max Schmeling "boycott" in New York as offering Detroit the opportunity for the title fight, Kearns said he had sufficient financial backing here to "bid with any promoter in the country." He would stage the heavyweight fight in June at Navin field, home of the Detroit Tigers. The $400,000 offer to Braddock, Kearns said, was accompanied by a $200,000 proposition to Louis.

New York, Jan. 10.—(AP)—This is the inside story and study of a man of courage who was too good, too smart.

Max Schmeling was the only known fighter who dared to really fight Joe Louis, the devastating brown bomber. As a reward for unquestionable ring heroism, he now finds himself unwanted as a fighting man in the "land of the free."

Unwanted, not so much because he's a German citizen under mandatory Nazi rule, but because he isn't a sure and big enough drawing card to insure Jimmy Braddock, a tottering, idle champion without one good fight left under his somewhat bloated belt line, a fortune in gate receipts for losing his heavyweight crown.

Long before the Jews began organizing a boycott of a Schmeling fight, Braddock and his manager began ducking the shrewd German. Older, slower, and fat, Braddock realized his last fight had to bring in plenty of money. For strange reasons, excluding anti-Nazi sentiment, Schmeling never has been a big drawing card, so the Braddock crowd had only one match in sight—a battle with Louis before a million dollar crowd, instead of a fight against Schmeling before a $300,000 fight mob.

It's a Reprieve for Braddock.

The current boycott, naturally, comes like money from home for the Braddock crowd, since the New York commission had ordered the champion to fight Schmeling before Louis.

Schmeling should be a dead cinch to beat Braddock. Ring experts along Broadway say he'd be almost as much of a cinch to lick Louis again. Schmeling, they reason, has Louis' number and would have an added advantage in the next fight by scaring the brown bomber, just as Louis frightened Max Baer, King Levinsky, et al out of their fighting wits.

Schmeling, though generally disliked by hangers on of the fight business, is recognized as one of the smartest fighters the ring ever knew, even brighter than the great Shakespearian scholar, Gene Tunney. Max, in ring language, is "full of the cutes," or a cutey, a fact that causes him some trouble and doesn't help him much.

Taught Himself to Beat Louis.

He manages himself completely, though credit must be given to his American representative, Joe Jacobs, who really did a lot for Max and didn't get much for it. Before the Louis fight, he refused to talk about Louis at all. Instead, he talked about Braddock. For hours a day, he studied pictures of Louis' fighting stance and drew his own conclusions. By himself, he learned how Louis could be beaten. He has studied Braddock the same way.

Ghost writers, fellows who write stories under a celebrity's name, always had to submit copy of Max, who made corrections and additions. Max reads more and better books than Tunney. In everything he tries, he succeeds.

He's a crack shot, a great card player, and an uncanny student of human nature. Absolutely nerveless, he hopped the Hindenburg Zeppelin after the Louis fight to return to Germany. When trouble broke out on the Braddock fight, he came to New York himself and won the New York commission into forcing Braddock to sign to meet him before Louis.

He's His Own Lawyer.

All fighters have lawyers these days to sign papers and look after things—all but Max Schmeling.

It hardly seems reasonable that Schmeling, should he meet and beat Braddock, would retire into Germany without defending the title. He loves money too much. Joe Jacobs can vouch for that.

While he was training for Louis at his camp some 125 miles from New York, Jacobs borrowed Max's car and chauffeur for a ride to New York. At 181st street, Joe sent the chauffeur back with the car and took a taxi the rest of the way to midtown. Schmeling was furious.

"Why didn't you use a subway down town?" he demanded of Joe, the kind of a guy who thinks money is wallpaper. "You could ride faster for a nickel and you use a taxicab."

Three Teams Tie in Miami Pro-Amateur Golf Event

Miami, Fla., Jan. 10.—(AP)—Ray Mangrum of Dayton, O., winner of the recent Miami open golf tournament, paired today with Bill Tobin of Plandome, N. Y., to tie with two other teams for first place in a pro-amateur event at the Flagler Country club. Mangrum and Tobin had a best ball 67, 5 under par, which was duplicated by Clyde Usina Jr., the Flagler professional, and Pete Harris of Miami. Bud Williamson of Indianapolis, Ind., and C. A. Phinney, Miami amateur, carded a 69 but a two stroke handicap enabled them to share first place.

LAST NIGHT'S RESULTS.

Chicago, 2; Toronto, 1.
Montreal Maroons, 5; New York Rangers, 2.
Detroit, 4; Boston, 2.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 10.—(AP)—The champion Red Wings of Detroit, jumping into the lead six seconds before the close of the second period, whipped the Boston Bruins for the fourth time this season before 13,498 spectators here tonight to hold their position atop the American division of the National Hocky league. The score was 4 to 2.

Syd Howe Breaks Tie.

Syd Howe, combining with Ebbie Goodfellow on some neat passing, broke a, 1 to 1, tie at 19:54 of the second period, and the Red Wings stretched the lead to three goals before Bill Cowley finally lifted the puck past Norm Smith at 8:41 of the third period for Boston's second goal. Cowley's was a short shot over Smith's prostrate form after the goalie dove to save Getliffe's shot.

Top Crowd of Season.

The biggest crowd of the season at Olympia, home ice of the Red Wings, cheered as the Detroit players broke up the Bruin attack in the final minutes.

MAROONS, 5; RANGERS, 2

New York, Jan. 10.—(AP)—The Montreal Maroons finally caught up with the jinx that had followed them in every meeting with the New York Rangers since the 1935 playoffs and walloped the New York Blueshirts, 5 to 2, before 12,000 fans tonight. The defeat, reversing last night's decision, dropped the Rangers to second place in the American division of the National Hockey league.

The Maroons started off at a terrific clip. Jerry Shannon scored two goals in the first 12 minutes on clever combination thrusts.

The Rangers tied the score in the second period when Cecil Dillon and Bill Cook collected a goal apiece with Frank Boucher as the third man in their combinations, but Montreal went to town in the final frame.

The break came when Jimmy Ward fired a long shot in the second minute of the third period and the veteran Ching Johnson, trying to clear, rapped the rubber into his own cage.

Iowa Champion Wins Midwest Chess Title

Mrs. Jean Moore Gran of Muscatine, Ia., last night won the midwest women's chess tournament at the Oak Park Chess club. Already the Iowa champion, the victory made her eligible to enter the women's national chess tourney at New York in February. Mrs. Gran's score was six wins and no losses. The other six entries had at least one loss each.

Remember? Hans Wagner, Shortstop Peer

ning. He may drop into a tavern, knock off a few glasses of beer, chat with anybody as long as he is not recognized, order a sandwich [wrapped], shove the sandwich into a coat pocket and head somewhat aimlessly back toward his hotel. That would be Honus, the one-time Flying Dutchman.

Hunting is and always was a passion with Wagner. This was the cause of his lone offense against his self-established rule that except for baseball he must be strictly an amateur. A sports writer who knew Honus wouldn't talk for money appeared carrying a new, shiny shotgun. It was for Honus. The old Dutchman promptly broke down and the writer went away with all the information he wanted.

Leads League in Eight Seasons.

Wagner, like Larry Lajoie, was a line drive hitter. In eight of the 21 seasons that he was a big leaguer he topped the National league in hitting. In 1900, the year in which he and thirteen other members of the Louisville club, moved to Pittsburgh, he batted .380. He won his other batting titles in '03, '04, '06, '07, '08, '09, and '11. He remained in the .300 class through 1913 but didn't return to the charmed circle in his four remaining seasons with the Pirates. A sample of how he could hit is furnished by what he did to the pitching of Christy Mathewson. Honus faced Matty 327 times for a batting average of .324.

For 17 years Wagner batted .300 or better, a big league mark exceeded only by Ty Cobb, who totaled 23 seasons. For 19 consecutive years Wagner played in 100 or more games, a mark equalled only by Tris Speaker. Honus played in 2,785 big league games, still a record. He was at bat 10,427 times, scored 1,740 runs, and his 3,430 base hits remain as a National league record.

Wagner had only one fling at managing but it was brief. On July 1, 1917, he succeeded Jim Callahan as boss of the Pirates. Although a hero in the eyes of the home fans, Honus didn't care about the job. After holding it three days he resigned and Hugo Bezdek was installed. That same fall, Sept. 17, Wagner played his last game.

Gets Baseball Start with Mansfield, O.

Wagner was a mine boy in the Pennsylvania coal fields when he took to playing semi-pro ball. His reward was an offer in 1895 from the Mansfield, O., club. He played the infield, the outfield, and pitched. Although he had unmistakable power as a hitter he couldn't field and was set adrift. In 1896, at the request of his brother, Al, the Steubenville, O., club signed Honus and promptly sold him to the Paterson, N. J., club of the Atlantic league. Ed Barrow, manager at Paterson, urged the Louisville club of the National league to buy the youth and in 1897 Wagner showed up in his new job.

Honus played the infield and outfield for close to three seasons at Louisville and remained an outfielder in 1900 when transferred to Pittsburgh. In 1901 Honus settled down at short, a post he held until near the end of the 1917 season when he was 43 years old.

After quitting baseball Wagner drifted around, life treating him none too kindly. He ran for sherif of Alleghany county, Pennsylvania, and was defeated. He served for a term as sergeant-at-arms in the Pennsylvania state legislature. He quit that because he thought it was a job for a lazy man. He went into the sporting goods business in Pittsburgh but the fans who once paid to see him on the ball field, didn't respond. The store closed and a good portion of the honest old gentleman's savings were gone. Then three years ago, the Pittsburgh club, as a belated reward, took him back as coach.

In the Wake of the News

ST. JOHN AT OHIO STATE.

ATHLETIC DIRECTOR L. W. ST. JOHN of Ohio State university, known as "Saint" to his intimates, will celebrate his 25th anniversary in that position on Jan. 29. He will be tendered a testimonial dinner at the Deshler-Wallick by university and outside friends. It'll be a stag affair but rates dinner coat importance in the opinion of its sponsors.

A quarter century is a long time to serve in such a trying capacity when sports aphorism is that the life of an athletic director is three unsuccessful football coaches. In St. John's 25 years, however, Ohio State has had only four coaches, Jack Richards of Wisconsin, Jack Wilce of Wisconsin [16 years], Sam Willaman of Ohio State, and the present Francis Schmidt whose undergraduate days were at Nebraska.

"Saint," in length of service, is the oldest athletic director of the Big Ten. A. A. Stagg of Chicago was retired after 41 years' service at the University of Chicago and holds a similar position now at College of the Pacific. George Huff of University of Illinois, also ante-dating, recently passed. Fielding H. Yost of Michigan began football services at Michigan in 1901 but did not give up his large public utility interests to become athletic director until years later. Bob Zuppke became football coach at Illinois in 1913. Z. G. Clevenger, Indiana university, is third in length of service as athletic director, if memory serves aright.

When St. John assumed the reins, Ohio State had just been admitted to the then Big Nine, Michigan having withdrawn for the period from 1908 to 1918. Buckeyes then were in about the middle of the pack on the gridiron. By 1916, and again the following year, Ohio State was champion. In Columbus, however, "Saint" received greater credit for building up a comprehensive intramural system. Astute in business, his handling of university athletic finances has been remarkably successful.

Personally, Mr. St. John is retiring and unassuming but his opinion carries wide weight in all athletic councils of Big Ten directors. The Wake's regard is considerably heightened by the fact he swings a mean set of golf clubs—in fact, he's too far out of our class for competition.

De Paul Five and St. Louis Meet Tonight

St. Louis university's touring basketball team will face Dea Paul at the De Paul gym tonight. Last year De Paul whipped the Billikens in two games and rate an overwhelming favorite to take tonight's contest.

The Blue Demons have practically the same team which won the Olympic district title last year with Willie Phillips and Fred Knez at forwards, Nick Yost at center, and Ed Campion and Bill Wendt at guards.

St. Louis has a number of newcomers and Coach Eddie Davidson probably will start Frank Keaney and Bob Bohn at forwards, Jack Macheca at center, and Sid Mudd and Dudenhoeffer at guards. Dudenhoeffer is a sophomore, Macheca, Bohn, and Mudd are juniors, and Keaney is the lone senior among the starters.

St. Louis has had an indifferent season thus far, while De Paul has, at times, worked smoothly. In four games with Big Ten squads the Demons have an even break, winning from Illinois and Wisconsin while losing to Purdue and Minnesota. Lineup:

DE PAUL.		ST. LOUIS.
Knez	F.	Keaney
Phillips	F.	Bohn
Yost	C.	Macheca

LOYOLA RESUMES DRILL

The Loyola university basketball squad will take a light workout today in preparation for its final game of the first semester against St. Louis university tomorrow night at the Loyola gymnasium. Practice will be suspended for nine days after the Billikin contest while the squad takes mid-year examinations. Indiana university, defending Big Ten co-champions and one of the few undefeated midwestern teams, invades the Loyola gym on Jan. 30.

In Loyola's high scoring five St. Louis will probably encounter the tallest team on its schedule. The starting Loyola team averages 6 feet 3 inches. Last season both teams won on their home floor, St. Louis, 19 to 18, and Loyola, 46 to 31. Loyola holds the edge in the series begun in 1925, having won 9 and lost 6.

St. Viator Five Whips St. Louis in Overtime, 40-36

St. Viator defeated St. Louis university basketball team last night at De La Salle High school gymnasium in an overtime game, 40 to 36. At the end of the regulation periods the score was tied at 33. St. Louis led at the half, 19 to 14.

Betourne was high scorer for St. Viator with five field goals and two free throws. His total, however, was eclipsed by Keaney of St. Louis, who scored 13 points.

St. Viator's short passing attack began to function in the second half and two minutes before the end they were leading, 33 to 29. Two field goals in succession, however, deadlocked the score just before the gun sounded. St. Viator scored first in the overtime and continued to set the pace for the extra period.

In a preliminary game, the St. Leo High school quintet defeated the St. Philip High school team, 41 to 30.

CUBS STILL HOPE, BUT MUNGO BID IS STILL UNHEEDED

Dodgers and Reds Cool to Grimm's Proposal.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

It doesn't look as if the deal by which Charley Grimm, the Cub boss, thought he might capture a few new athletes, among them Van Lingle Mungo, the Brooklyn speed baller, will go through.

Grimm, who originated the three-cornered proposition a month ago and submitted it to Burleigh Grimes, manager of the Dodgers, and Manager Charley Dressen of the Reds, has been patiently awaiting a reply. But the postman didn't even ring once.

The flop of the deal by which the Cubs would have acquired Third Baseman Joe Stripp of the Dodgers and Pitcher Paul Derringer of the Reds, in addition to Mungo, was conceded last night by Grimm, who is on his farm near St. Louis, Mo.

Not Even a Nibble.

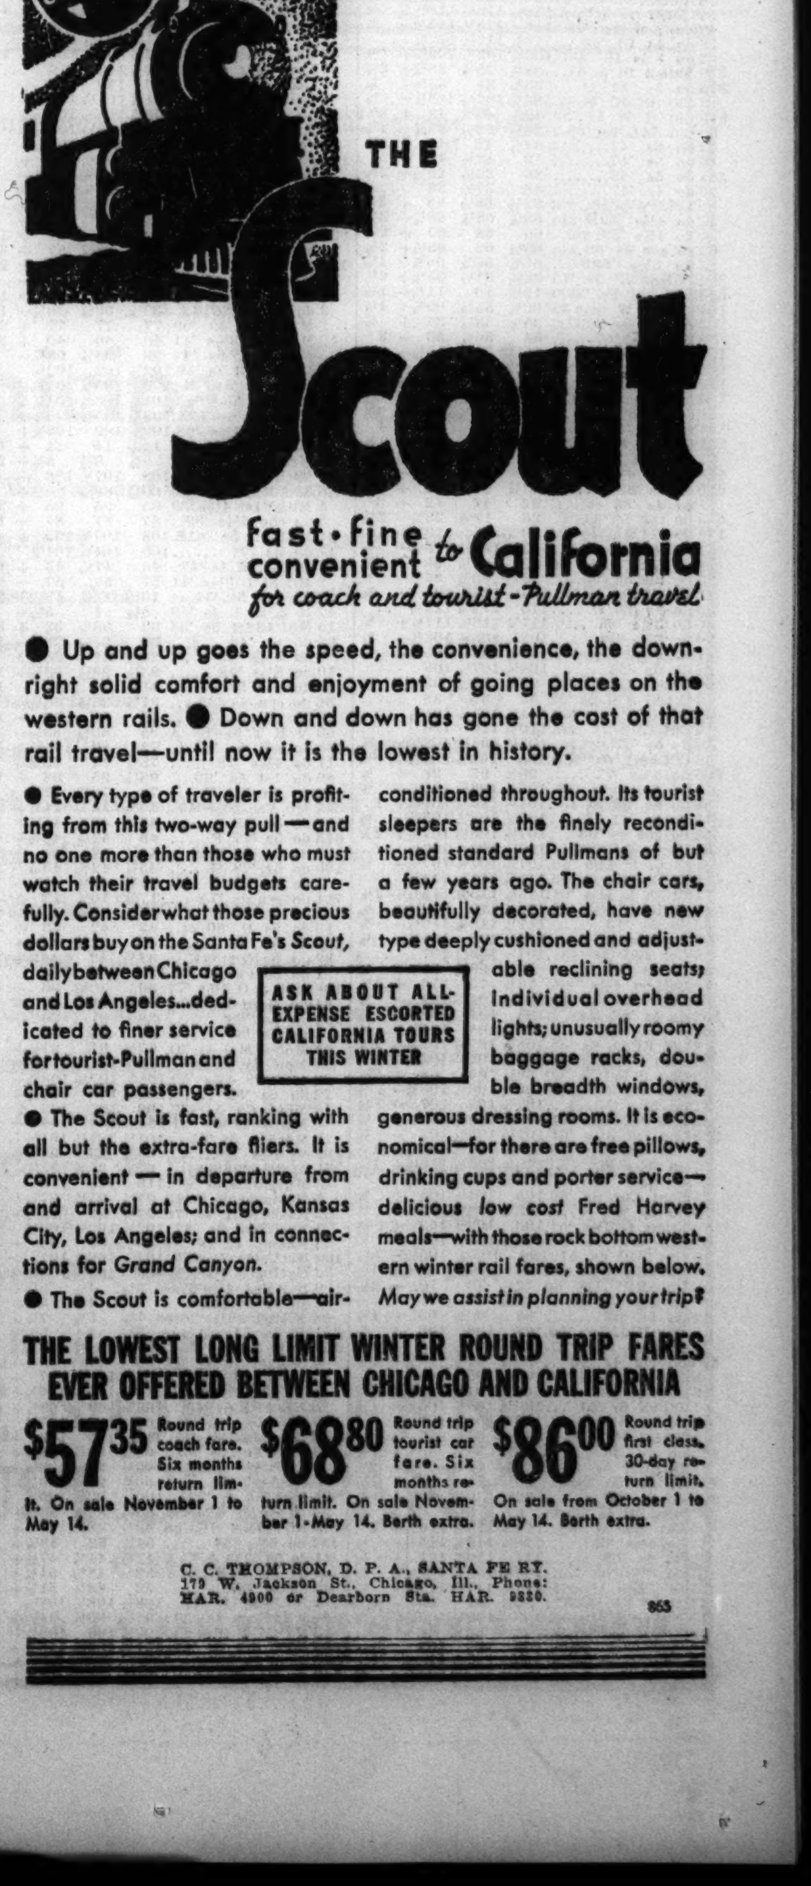
"I thought I had fixed up a swap by which all parties would benefit," said Grimm, "but I didn't even get a nibble. I was hunting a couple of weeks back with Grimes and I kept waiting for him to say something about my proposition. All that he said in an offhand way was that Mungo was going to continue to be a Dodger, and that was a fairly broad hint. Dressen must have felt the same way about letting Derringer go."

The genial Cub boss hasn't given up hope, however. He feels that he has to have additional pitching strength if the Cubs are going to win a pennant this year and he considers Mungo the man who might make this possible. Hence, after a conference here with P. K. Wrigley, the Cub owner, Grimm may be able to fix up a piece of bait so tempting that the Brooklyn manager will weaken. If this doesn't work, Grimm will turn to some other club, possibly the Phillies, who have a fellow named Bucky Walter.

Outfield Changes Unlikely.

Grimm has just about forgotten that only a couple of months ago he had his heart set on an outfielder who could hit. The man wanted was Hank Leiber of the Giants, but Bill Terry, manager of the National league champions, scented the Cubs' outfield distress and named fairy tale terms. Grimm didn't want Leiber that badly. Now, unless a new trading chance arises, Grimm will go along with Frank Demaree and Augie Galan in two of the fly chasing jobs and hope for a miracle in the third. The miracle, if any, will have to be turned in by Tuck Stainback, Phil Cavarretta, ex-first baseman, or Joe Marty, the youth purchased from the San Francisco club.

Grimm will be here not later than Wednesday when the club's annual election of officers will be held. Although it was thought that while here he might unload one or two of the few rookies remaining on the roster, he may take his entire present squad to the Catalina Island spring camp.



Santa Fe
THE Scout
fast • fine convenient to California for coach and tourist-Pullman travel

● Up and up goes the speed, the convenience, the downright solid comfort and enjoyment of going places on the western rails. ● Down and down has gone the cost of that rail travel—until now it is the lowest in history.

● Every type of traveler is profiting from this two-way pull—and no one more than those who must watch their travel budgets carefully. Consider what those precious dollars buy on the Santa Fe's Scout, daily between Chicago and Los Angeles...dedicated to finer service for tourist-Pullman and chair car passengers.

● The Scout is fast, ranking with all but the extra-fare fliers. It is convenient — in departure from and arrival at Chicago, Kansas City, Los Angeles; and in connections for Grand Canyon.

● The Scout is comfortable—air-conditioned throughout. Its tourist sleepers are the finely reconditioned standard Pullmans of but a few years ago. The chair cars, beautifully decorated, have new type deeply cushioned and adjustable reclining seats; individual overhead lights; unusually roomy baggage racks, double breadth windows, generous dressing rooms. It is economical—for there are free pillows, drinking cups and porter service—delicious low cost Fred Harvey meals—with those rock bottom western winter rail fares, shown below. May we assist in planning your trip?

TRADE IN BONDS VIGOROUS; PRICES AVERAGE HIGHER

Rail and Industrial Liens Make Sharp Rallies.

New York, Jan. 10.—(AP)—A vigorous market, unusually sensitive to business and governmental developments, characterized heavy trading in bonds last week.

On the whole, prices stood higher, sharp rallies in rail, industrial and low yield issues on Thursday and Friday more than counterbalancing setbacks suffered earlier in the period. Many traders took the position that a rise was overdue because of year-end selling. They felt it had been delayed by the General Motors strike deadlock and fears of a blow to general business which a lengthy shutdown of the huge concern would entail.

Strike News Chief Influence.

Reports on Tuesday that the controversy was "ironing itself out" stimulated buying of speculative rails and convertibles. The movement subsided Wednesday, when the rumors appeared to be premature, but successive buying waves during the ensuing two days pushed corporate loans higher, with many going to new 1936-1937 records.

An upturn in carloading figures for the latest week and announcement by General Motors of record monthly shipments in December and peak world sales in 1936 were bullish factors of the week.

Wall street appeared to be unpe turbed by President Roosevelt's a dress to the new congress and di played mild enthusiasm over his bud et message. The latter expressi brought a stiffening of governm bond prices late in the week, aid them to recover partially from ear reversals.

Utilities, Industrials Rise.

Utility and industrial bonds made good showings. Loans of u ties in foreign countries adva sharply with Abitibi 5s, Internati Telephone 5s and International dro-Electric 6s well up in front.

Foreign government bonds rea late in the week, giving up much the ground gained in the recent vance which was arrested on Wedn day. The tone was better at the ish Saturday.

New loans expected to be floa this week are estimated at $135,0 000 of which two issues account f $100,000,000. New York City will ma an offering of $50,000,000 and a lik amount of Great Northern 3¾s scheduled.

Lee Rubber & Tire Report Sharp Rise in Earning

The Lee Rubber and Tire corporation yesterday reported net incom of $563,825 for the fiscal year ended Oct. 31, 1936. This is equal to $2.19 a share on the common and compares with $184,586, or 72 cents a share, in the preceding year.

STOCKS ENTER NEW YEAR WITH SHARP ADVANCE

Gain Despite Strikes, Other Problems.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 10.—In spite of its heavy handicaps, headed by the serious labor strike situation in the motor car industry, the convening of congress and the European war menace, the stock market was able to turn in a creditable performance for the opening week of the new year.

Price averages rose 4½ points and the turnover picked up appreciably, transactions on one day crossing the 3,000,000 share mark, and those of yesterday's two hour week end session more than doubling those of the preceding Saturday.

Show Good Gains.

Over the six days advances by some of the groups were impressive, fifteen key manufacturing stocks, for example, rising an average of 2.45 points, seven copper shares enhancing in value to the extent of 2.55 points, four rail equipments stepping up 2.57 points, twenty grade A rails 1.95 points, and ten grade B's 0.92 point.

Even the motors, admittedly in line for adverse effects from the spreading strike movement, were able to make headway, the ten issues listed on the big board—General Motors included—rising an average of 2.52 points. For a change, the utilities were a backward group, some issues of the division selling off rather sharply, particularly in dealings toward the week end. Brokers expressed the opinion that the short interest had been largely squeezed out as a result of two or three buoyant sessions.

Steel Gets Big Orders.

Aside from its major troubles on account of the strike, congress, and war, the market had the benefit of a batch of business news predominantly optimistic in appearance. Even the war was not without something suggestive of a silver lining, the administration's armament budget raising visions of heavy orders for the steel companies, and creating an appreciable improvement in demand for their shares. The December report of the United States Steel corporation showing shipments of finished products of 184,722 tons above those for November, and 405,850 tons larger than in December, 1935, coincided with advices from the principal production centers of the industry depicting production as only mildly reduced by the holdup of orders from strike affected automobile factories.

Copper stocks were buoyed by signs of still another increase in the domestic price of the metal and building shares reaped some encouragement from predictions of greater activity in building construction.

Wilson Earns Less Despite Gain in Sales

Wilson & Co., one of the four largest packing companies, had net earnings of $4,068,457 for the fiscal year ended Oct. 31, 1936, a decline of about $41,000 from the $4,109,539 earned in the preceding year despite the largest sales volume since 1930, according to the annual report issued last night by Edward Foss Wilson, president.

Increased costs of goods sold and higher operating expenses principally accounted for the lower earnings in the face of sales of $253,226,103, an increase of 13⅝ per cent over the $223,017,543 for the preceding year. In 1930 sales totaled 270 million dollars. Cost of goods sold and operating expenses rose from $216,051,067 in the year ended Oct. 26, 1935, to $246,576,473 in the year ended Oct. 31, 1936.

Earnings on Stock Shown.

Net earnings for the fiscal year of 1936 were equivalent to $12.52 a share on the 324,783 shares of $6 preferred stock outstanding and $1.06 a share on the 2,001,163 shares of common stock. This compared with $12.65 a share on the preferred and $1.08 on the common in the preceding year.

Earned surplus at the close of the fiscal year in 1936 amounted to $10,037,596 after an addition of $3,407,145 for processing taxes accrued but unpaid at Oct. 26, 1935, and a deduction of $2,000,000 as a reserve for contingencies. Pending determination of the company's liability for a portion of the unpaid processing taxes demanded by the federal government under the revenue act of 1936, the company is allowing the reserve for contingencies, amounting to $3,302,989, to provide for such liability rather than any special reserve.

Earned Surplus $7,504,276.

On Oct. 26, 1935, earned surplus amounted to $7,504,276. Total assets at the close of the latest fiscal year were $86,776,871, of which $42,324,960 were current, including cash of $2,117,265, against current liabilities of $13,270,810. On Oct. 26, 1935, the company had total assets of $79,199,023 and current assets were $36,547,330, with cash of $2,570,694, against current liabilites of $9,338,958.

With reference to the recent decision of the Supreme court of Delaware that accumulations on the preferred stock could not be wiped out through the recapitalization plan, the report said that a motion for reargument has been made and heard, and will be passed upon by the court some time after Jan. 20.

All of the 7 per cent preferred stock, except 50 shares, the report said, has either been exchanged or dividends have been accepted on the basis of the stock having been changed into $6 preferred stock. In the same way, all of the 313,236 class "A" shares except 3,008 have been exchanged or dividends have been accepted on the basis of the "A" stock having been changed into common stock.

STEEL OUTPUT CLIMBS TO 79½ PCT. CAPACITY

Strike Effects Less Than Expected.

Steelworks operations of the country last week advanced ½ point to 79½ per cent of capacity, despite adverse conditions, the magazine Steel said yesterday in its weekly report. The journal pointed out that steel mills are feeling less effect than had been expected from labor troubles in the automotive industry.

The reason for the continued high rate of operations is due mainly to unusually heavy backlogs and pressure for steel sheets and strip to other consumer mills, Steel stated. Many of the mills are able to shift deliveries while awaiting resumption by automobile manufacturers. Only prolonged and widespread interruption of the demand for automobile steel will cause reduction in steel production, the magazine said.

Operations by Districts.

The Pittsburgh district last week increased operations from 77 per cent to 80; Wheeling, 92 to 94; Cleveland, 77 to 80; Birmingham, 74 to 76; eastern Pennsylvania, 52 to 53; New England, 75 to 85 per cent. Buffalo, Chicago, and Youngstown held unchanged and Detroit dropped from 100 to 95 per cent.

Steel pointed out that the railroads are continuing to furnish the steel mills with a comfortable tonnage. Last week 9,016 cars, 28,000 tons of rails, and 21 locomotives were placed on the books. Reflection of the world demand for steel has been met as far inland as Youngstown, O., where an inquiry for 5,000 tons of billets for an English consumer has been received, usually supplied by Belgian mills, and for 1,000 tons of bars for delivery in Turkey, usually taken from Germany. Domestic needs forbid their consideration, according to Steel.

Effect on Scrap Prices.

"Scrap is reacting to the labor situation by an easier feeling in most districts," the publication asserted, "but this is not strong enough to affect prices adversely, since supplies are not large. In the east, where effects of automotive difficulties are felt less than in the middle west, an advance was made in steel grades. Accumulation of cast scrap to supply about 45,000 tons for tunnel segments for New York City is likely to have a strengthening effect on foundry scrap."

Due to the advance in eastern Pennsylvania steel scrap, Steel's composite has advanced 29 cents to $17.87, continuing the steady upward movement begun in mid-November.

WAGE EARNERS' COST OF LIVING RISES SLIGHTLY

New York, Jan. 10.—[Special.]—Living costs of wage earners advanced 0.3 per cent from November to December, according to the monthly survey of the national industrial conference board, issued today. Increases occurred in the cost of each of the major divisions of the budget.

Compared with a year ago, the cost of living at the close of 1936 was up 2.6 per cent, the survey said, while compared with April, 1933, it was up 20.1 per cent. It was, however, still 14.2 per cent below the level of December, 1929.

Food prices rose 0.5 per cent in December, according to the survey, and showed a rise of 1.1 per cent in the last year, and an increase of 38.6 per cent above the low point of 1933. They were still 21.6 per cent under December, 1929. Rents rose 0.5 per cent in December, were 11.4 per cent above a year ago, 30.5 per cent above their low point in the beginning of 1934 an dwere 10.8 per cent under the level of December, 1929. Clothing prices rose 0.1 per cent in December, were 0.7 per cent lower than in December, 1935, and 25.4 per cent lower than in December, 1929, but wre 22.1 per cent over the low point of the spring of 1933.

BATTLE IS SEEN FOR I. C. C. POST OF HUGH M. TATE

Washington, D. C., Jan. 10.—(AP)—A behind the scenes battle for the interstate commerce commissioner's job held by former Judge Hugh M. Tate of Knoxville, Tenn., came to light today. Tate's seven year term expired Dec. 31, but in accordance with the new I. C. C. act, he will hold office until his successor is selected. He is a candidate for reappointment.

President Roosevelt has given no indication of whether he expects to reappoint Tate or the other commissioner whose term has expired, Joseph B. Eastman of Boston.

Uncertainty over Tate's position arose from opposition to his candidacy by Senator Kenneth McKellar of Tennessee. Eastman is an independent, Tate a Republican. Neither appointment may be given to a Democrat, as six other members of the commission, the legal maximum for any one party, are Democrats.

Pettengill to Talk on Long and Short Haul Clause

Samuel B. Pettengill, member of congress from Indiana, will address the Trafic club of Chicago at noon, Jan. 18, at the Palmer house on the "Repeal of the Long and Short Haul Clause."

INCLEMENT WEATHER, MOTOR STRIKES CURB TRADE IN CHICAGO

Inclement weather reacted unfavorably on Chicago trade last week, the Chicago Association of Commerce reported yesterday. Retail volume was retarded by rains, while several foundries were forced to suspend operations as the result of automobile plant strikes, although other industries continued as scheduled, the association said.

Best news of the week came from the big trade conventions being held here. Buying by visiting furniture, floor covering, lamp and shoe dealers exceeded recent years, according to reports.

Wholesalers were still having trouble in catching up on early orders for spring merchandise. The possibility of advanced prices is helping the inflow of new business, the association said.

Railroad freight volume continued active in both freight and passenger departments. Local transit and taxi companies last week had an unusually heavy business, with convention visitors adding to the load.

RECEIVERSHIPS OF 21 NATIONAL BANKS FINISHED

Washington, Jan. 10.—(AP)—J. F. T. O'Connor, controler of the currency, announced today completion of the liquidation of 21 national bank receiverships during December, 1936, making a total of 551 receiverships finally closed or restored to solvency since the banking holiday of March, 1933.

Total disbursements, including offsets allowed, to depositors and other creditors of the 551 institutions, exclusive of the 42 restored to solvency, aggregated $161,106,692, or an average return of 76.47 per cent of total liabilities. Unsecured depositors received dividends amounting to an average of 62.37 per cent of their claims, O'Connor said.

W. A. HARRIMAN SEES PROSPECTS GOOD FOR ROADS

Business is going to be better in 1937 than it was in 1936—and that was not a bad year, W. A. Harriman, chairman of the board of the Union Pacific railroad, said yesterday at the Blackstone hotel. Harriman is on his way to the road's new winter resort at Sun Valley, Wyo.

"We are going to see more building this year than last," he said, "and that is good news for the railroads. They really begin to make money when the heavy industries get up steam."

But Harriman was not one to complain about the sad plight of the railroads. He feels that the business they have lost to trucks is negligible.

"Car loadings naturally rise more slowly than the general manufacturing indices," he said. "They also go down a bit more slowly. That is because of the heavy industries. Because of advance orders these are late to feel a depression, but they are also slower to recover."

Robert P. Boylan to End Grain Pit Career Today

Robert P. Boylan today will end a career of more than twenty years on the Chicago Board of Trade when he retires from the position of president in favor of Kenneth S. Templeton, president elect, at the annual meeting of the exchange. Boylan has established headquarters at E. F. Hutton & Co., 61 Broadway, New York, and will leave Chicago immediately to represent Clement, Curtis & Co. as floor partner on the New York Stock exchange. Boylan, who is 45 years old, has been connected with board of trade firms since he was 14. He was president of the board for the last 2 years.

Lehman Corp. Shows Rise in Asset Values

New York, Jan. 10.—(AP)—Lehman corporation, an investment company, today reported that net assets as of Dec. 31, 1936, totaled $94,236,856, equal to $137.20 per share of capital stock. This compared with $119.25 per share six months previously, and $111.34 a year before. On Dec. 31, 1929, the net asset value per share was reported at $91.54, and at the end of 1932 it was down to $58.27.

The total as of Dec. 31, last, was explained as being after normal federal and state taxes, and deduction for management compensation, but without allowance for the federal excess profits tax.

Report More Detailed.

The report incorporated all of the recommendations of Robert Lehman, president, made at hearings held by the Securities and Exchange commission into investment trusts last fall. At the time he enumerated a 12 point program, which, he said, was designed completely to inform stockholders and the public as to details of an investment trust's transactions.

In the last six months the corporation purchased 456,000 shares of stock and $2,009,000 principal amount of bonds, excluding governments. Sales totaled 406,500 shares of stock and $2,241,000 of bonds, also exclusive of governments.

Changes in Portfolio.

Important increases in the portfolio included 10,000 shares of Allied Stores common, 15,400 Gulf Oil common, 26,384 Commonwealth and Southern common, and 18,500 U. S. Steel common.

Acquisitions of stocks not in the portfolio last June included 10,000 Lehigh Coal and Navigation common, 20,000 Pierce Petroleum common, 17,130 El Paso Natural Gas common, and 16,000 Bethlehem Steel common.

Eliminations included 10,000 shares American Sugar common, 12,100 shares of Alaska Juneau Gold Mining common, 20,000 shares of Socony-Vacuum common, and 17,500 shares of International Telephone.

CROP PROSPECT BIG FACTOR IN WHEAT MARKET

July Delivery Sells Below May Option.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

The outlook for the new wheat crop is definitly entering the picture as a price making factor in the market. Heretofore the market emphasis has been largely on the scarcity of current supplies of wheat not only in the United States but throughout the world.

That the scarcity is genuine becomes more evident as the season progresses and the wheat now moving into the world market from Argentina and Australia is needed to supply the demand of the importing countries.

The existing price spread between the May wheat future contract in the Chicago market and the contract calling for delivery next July reflects the appraisal of the 1937 crop prospect at the present time.

May Wheat Relatively High.

Wheat for delivery in May is selling more than 17 cents a bushel above wheat for delivery in July. Deliveries on the May future contract must be made out of present available supplies, while new crop wheat will be available before expiration of the July contract.

With the harvesting of the winter wheat crop still months in the future the probable production is still a matter of hazy estimate. It is a fact, however, that the country has the largest acreage on record planted to winter wheat. Farmers seeded 15 per cent more acreage over the country than in the fall of 1935. The condition of the crop, however, is rated by the de-

Small Crop Predicted.

Such guesses of the probable 1937 wheat crop as have been made thus far are comparatively low—probably a consequence of the fact that the United States has not harvested a "normal" winter wheat crop in several years. After the first year of lean production it was not believed that three more short crops would follow, but that has taken place. Now it is difficult for some people to realize that the United States may again return to a production basis that would leave a surplus for export.

If a surplus is produced in 1937 the prospect for finding a market for it would be better than at any time in several years. Domestic prices are no longer out of line in relation to foreign prices, as they were during the period when an artificial market was created by government subsidy.

During the next few weeks the world market will absorb a large amount of southern hemisphere wheat. Normally this would be the signal for a general weakening of the world markets, but such has not been the case so far this season.

Majestic Radio and Television.

Investors' Guide: Please send me information concerning Majestic Radio & Television corporation.—B. W. W.

Answer: This is a new company, formed in September, 1936, to acquire a business started in May by Davega Stores corporation with the purchase from the bankrupt Grigsby-Grunow company of all rights to the trademark "Majestic" and "Mighty Monarch of the Air."

The company is authorized to engage in manufacture and sale of radio receiving sets, electric refrigeration apparatus, and amateur television receiving apparatus when commercially practicable. Eleven radio models are being produced at the Case Electric company plant, Marion, Ind., under a contract with that concern, and five other models are being developed. Radios produced are licensed under RCA and Hazeltine patents.

Authorized capitalization of the company consists of 1,000,000 shares of $1 par common stock, of which 150,000 shares were offered to the public in October, 1936, 225,000 shares are under option to various underwriters, and 175,000 shares are owned by Davega Stores.

Nash Dividends.

Investors' Guide: Please tell me the dividend record of Nash Motor company, how many they have missed, and when dividends are paid. Also, what is the par value of their shares and have they any preferred or bonds?—C. A. F.

Answer: The annual dividend rate reached a high of $6 in 1929, was cut to $4 in the third quarter of 1930, to $2 in the fourth quarter of 1931 and to $1 annual basis on August 1, 1932. It has been maintained at the latter rate except for omission of quarterly payments May 1, 1933, and May 1, 1934. The quarterly payments of 25 cents are made on the first day of February, May, August and November to stockholders of record about the 20th day of the preceding months.

The common stock is of no par value. There is no preferred stock or funded debt. The common stock is listed on the New York Stock exchange.

Ohio Public Service.

Investors' Guide: Kindly inform me of the address of the general office of the Ohio Public Service.—G. K.

Answer: The general office of the Ohio Public Service company is located at 1400 Hanna Building, Cleveland, Ohio.

BROOKINGS GROUP FIGHTS SHORTER HOURS OF LABOR

Sees Big Chance for Nation's Industries.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 10.—(AP)—The Brookings institution, a private organization of economic research, warned the nation today against what it termed the "mistaken theory" that slashes in working hours are desirable.

Instead of raising standards of living, such reductions would imperil the opportunity for a great industrial expansion, the institution argued.

This stand was taken less than a week after President Roosevelt had reaffirmed faith in the broad objectives of the outlawed NRA that included shorter working hours and higher wages.

Fears Rise in Costs.

The institution contended that reduction of hours would cause a sharp rise in costs. This, it said, would result "either in rapid rises in industrial prices, with profoundly disturbing effects on the operation of the economic system as a whole, or the immediate halting of business activity, with a consequent increase in unemployment."

The report saying chances for a great industrial expansion never have been better than now, listed these things as essential toward that expansion:

1. "The reëstablishment of a balanced federal budget.

2. "The continuance of the present policy of maintaining a fixed price of gold and the establishment through international coöperation of a system of stable foreign exchanges.

3. "The extension of the program of reciprocal trade agreements as the most practical means of reducing artificial barriers to commerce and reopening the channels of international trade.

4. "The preservation of the generally favorable ratio of prices and wage rates, in the interest of progressively expanding the real purchasing power of workers and creating a demand for added production and employment—placing emphasis upon price reductions as a means of carrying the benefits of technological progress to all groups within the nation."

For Prevailing Hours.

Fifth, sixth and seventh among the essential factors of industrial expansion, the report placed:

"The maintenance, in general, of prevailing hours of labor, as the only means of meeting the production requirements involved in restoring during the next few years the standards of living of the laboring masses and promoting the economic advancement of the nation as a whole.

"The elimination of industrial practices and policies—private and public—which tend to restrict output or to prevent the increase of productive efficiency.

"Shifting the emphasis in agricultural policy from restricted output and rising prices to the abundant furnishing of the supplies of raw materials and foodstuffs required by gradually expanding markets."

The institution reported many favorable factors in the present situation. It said lendable funds were abundant at low interest rates; and the purchasing power of the laboring population has been "steadily expanded."

Predict Sharp Increase in Residential Building

New York, Jan. 10.—(AP)—Residential construction in 1937 should greatly exceed the estimated total of $800,000,000 in 37 states east of the Rocky mountains for 1936, Fenner & Beane, New York Stock exchange firm, reported today after a survey. The 1936 total was 70 per cent above 1935 and more than three times the $250,000,000 spent annually in 1933 and 1934, the report said.

Miscellaneous.

YOUNG MEN. A NEW START.

This ad is addressed to a few young men with initiative and imagination who want an opportunity to build a future for themselves not just a job. The Systems Division of Remington Rand, Inc., will receive applications from men between 24 and 28 for training in its sales division. Sales experience is not necessary but your education or business experience should be such that you can understand and grasp training aimed to enable you to apply office equipment properly to customers' requirements. During approximately 12 months of training a small salary is paid, then commission with a small drawing account. If you are willing to study and work to learn thoroughly a business in which you can earn a good income, write fully concerning yourself, your education, business experience, age, married or single, etc. For men who qualify and whose work is satisfactory the positions will be permanent. Men outside of Chicago can be assigned to major cities in Illinois. Application MUST be by letter ONLY. Address V. E. Logan, Branch Manager, Systems Division, Remington Rand, Inc., 214 W. Monroe-street, Chicago.

MEN WHO ARE INTERESTED IN PERMANENT SUCCESS.

Living on West Side or in nearby suburbs. The men we are interested in will range in age between 26 and 46, and have good references. We will train the men selected in this leading, wonderful successful electric unit business, and put them on the same high percentage basis as the oldest men. We want men who will make from $35 to $50 weekly the first 4 months, and much more after that. A personal interview, between 10:30 and 11 this morning, Jan. 11, is very necessary. Call Suite 250 at 3 W. Madison, Oak Park, S. W. corner Madison and Austin.

CHICAGO, BURLINGTON & QUINCY RAILROAD COMPANY REQUEST FOR BIDS.

Pursuant to regulations of the Interstate Commerce Commission, the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad Company hereby requests bids for purchase of $7,080,000 par value equipment trust certificates, to be known as Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad Equipment Trust, Series B 2% Serial Certificates, to be issued by The First National Bank of the City of New York, Trustee under a proposed Equipment Trust Agreement and Lease, dated as of December 1, 1936, such certificates to mature in equal annual instalments from December 1, 1937, to December 1, 1951, inclusive, and dividend warrants thereon to be payable semi-annually on the first days of June and December in each year. Such certificates and the dividends thereon will be unconditionally guaranteed by the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad Company.

The equipment to be covered by said Equipment Trust Agreement and Lease will be 10 steam locomotives, 3250 freight cars and 300 refrigerator cars, all of which will be new standard gauge equipment, consisting of unused material except in the case of certain classes of cars, steel ends, axles and door locks from retired cars. The inclusion of such used material is permitted under the interchange rules of the Association of American Railroads defining a new car and the value thereof is properly chargeable to investment account under the rules of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Each bid must state the name and address of the bidder and, if a corporation, the names and addresses of its officers, directors and general manager and purchasing or selling officer or agent in this transaction, and if a firm, partnership or association, the names and addresses of each member and of the manager and purchasing or selling officer or agent in this transaction. Each bid must be enclosed in a plain envelope securely sealed, bearing no indication of the name of the bidder or the amount of the bid, and shall be marked: "Bid under proposed Contract No. 30," and addressed to C. I. Sturgis, Vice-President, of the undersigned at Room 1601, No. 2 Wall Street, The City of New York. Bids must be filed before noon [Eastern Standard Time] on the 25th day of January, 1937, at the above office of the undersigned. Bids will be opened at 12:30 P. M. [Eastern Standard Time] on the 25th day of January, 1937, by N. Terhune or N. Stockhammer, designated for that purpose and notice of acceptance of the successful bidder will be sent on January 26, 1937.

Persons desiring to bid may obtain form of bid and may examine detailed description of equipment and other papers, including the proposed Equipment Trust Agreement and the Lease and proposed Purchase Contract No. 30, copies of which are on file at the principal office of the Railroad Company, No. 547 West Jackson Boulevard, Chicago, Illinois, and at the office of the Railroad Company, Room 1601, No. 2 Wall Street, The City of New York.

Bids for only a part of the issue will not be accepted and the Railroad Company reserves the right to reject any and all bids. A certified check, payable to the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad Company in New York funds, for 2% of the par amount of the Equipment Trust Certificates must be furnished with each bid, such checks to be returned except to the successful bidder, in whose case it will be applied on the purchase price. The successful bidder will be required within ten [10] days after receipt of notice of the acceptance of his or its bid to enter into and execute the proposed Purchase Contract No. 30, and all bids are subject to the approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Dated January 4, 1937.

NEW Promise-to-Pay PLAN
No Security—No Endorsers.
No Wage Assignments.
Just Your Plain Note

Now you can get a loan on just your Promise-to-Pay. If you can make regular payments sign only a plain note and nothing else. It is just like borrowing from a friend on a simple I. O. U. No endorsers, no wage assignments, co-makers, furniture, real estate, stocks, bonds, diamonds, or other security required. We take you at your word and give you the money you need on just your Promise-to-Pay. Unbelievably simple. Your honesty, integrity and ability to pay are absolutely the sole requirements for a loan on the New Promise-to-Pay Plan.

Reduced Rates

Monthly charges are 3% on balances up to $100 and only 2% on balances above $100. Also all other types of loans at the same reduced cost. For full particulars stop in, write, or telephone the office nearest you.

NO WAGE ASSIGNMENTS.
REDUCED RATES
ON ALL LOANS ABOVE $100.
HOW YOU CAN BORROW.
1. If you can make monthly payments you can qualify for a loan.
2. You do not need co-makers or endorsers.
3. No inquiries made of employer or friends.
HOW YOU CAN REPAY.
1. Payments on all loans are small. For example payments on a $200 loan are $10 per month plus interest charges on a 20 month schedule.
2. Monthly rate is 2% on the balance above $100. 3% on $100 or less. This is substantially less than the lawful maximum on loans over $100.
